SCHOOL BUDGET HEARING ENDS IN AN UPROAR

Savage Answers Talk of Communism.

The public hearing on the 1933 school budget ended in an uproar late yesterday afternoon when a woman assailed the board of education and hinted that communism might result from its actions. Her remarks brought Trustee Joseph P. Savage to his feet with a vigorous countercharge that communism is fostered by "highbrows and intellectuals in the schools."

The woman gave her name to Charles Gilbert, school board secretary, as Rose D. Mann. She declared she represents groups in the Roosevelt Senior High school and the Hibbard grade school. Her talk climaxed a day of attacks on the citizens' committee on public expenditures for recommending lower tax levies for the schools.

"Fortunate to Have Jobs."

"If the board of education wants communism," said Miss Mann, "just go on with the things you have been doing in the last few years."

"This board won't be bulldozed or intimidated by communistic talk," shouted Savage. "We don't draw our lessons from a lot of highbrows and intellectuals in colleges and lower schools who are preaching communism. Those people are fortunate they still have jobs.

"You can't try to bluff us and tell us what to do. The people who claim to be intellectually smart are the ones who are fostering communism. It isn't to be found in the ranks of the average man. What he wants is a job. If this kind of talk continues I'm in favor of creating jobs by using part of our 1933 appropriations for resumption of the school building program, and cutting salaries in other departments."

Budget Meeting Monday.

The meeting closed abruptly after Savage's remarks. Miss Mann and one or two others in the crowded boardroom sought to be heard again, but President Lewis E. Myers banged his gavel on his desk and announced that the board would meet Monday to consider reductions in the budget.

A building tax levy to finance the school building program to which Trustee Savage referred was asked earlier in the hearing by Patrick F. Sullivan, president of the Chicago Building Trades council, and Thomas F. Flynn, president of the carpenters' district council.

Would Finish 10 Buildings.

"We ask that a building tax levy sufficient enough to complete the ten unfinished school buildings be adopted," said Sullivan. "We have thousands of men out of work."

The 1933 building tax levy proposed by the school department heads, who have brought the school budget from 79 million dollars to $73,971,485, amounts to $227,000. It would take more than 10 million dollars to finish the buildings, according to John C. Christensen, school architect. As a resource to appropriate against the department heads have set up a surplus of $7,265,125 in the building fund.

A majority of the trustees have stated that this "surplus," which consists mainly of anticipated receipts of uncollected taxes for prior years, is practically a frozen asset.

Asks Fund for Convention.

Pleas for additional appropriations were advanced by other interested groups during the afternoon session. William J. Page, principal of the Brown Elementary school, asked that $5,000 be added to Supt. William J. Bogan's contingent fund to defray expenses for the convention of the National Education association in Chicago from July 1 to 7. Raymond Sanford, who represented the Federation of Public School Community Centers, requested appropriations so that six schools may be added as centers.

Savage Assails Propaganda.

More than 500 persons crowded into the board rooms at the public hearing in the morning to listen to the speeches of leaders of teaching groups and parent-teacher officers. The speakers declared that to accede to the requests of the Sargent committee would mean a "wrecking of the

NOVELIST TELLS OF A ROMANCE WITH ARCHITECT

Then Court Verdict Is Not Guilty.

Following a long conference of attorneys yesterday, Judge Paul McWilliams of the Superior court directed a jury to return a verdict of not guilty in favor of Ernest R. Graham, noted Chicago architect, and an alleged accomplice who were defendants in a $500,000 suit charging conspiracy.

JUDGE McWILLIAMS

Later it was admitted by the complainant, Mrs. Alma Newton Anderson, novelist, 46 years old, but comely, that she had been awarded a "substantial cash settlement." The exact amount was withheld and lawyers for the defendants refused to discuss the matter. Judge McWilliams after directing the verdict told reporters he understood a settlement had been arranged, and Edmund Kelly, attorney for Mrs. Anderson in another suit, said:

"Although I was not interested in this case, I was called in while the settlement negotiations were going on in Judge McWilliams' chambers. I did not hear the terms of the settlement, but I don't doubt it was a substantial cash amount."

Tells of Detective's Threats.

Preceding the conference of the attorneys Mrs. Anderson had taken the stand and related to the jurors a part of the story of a ten year love affair, described as "violent and passionate," between herself and the architect, and of the heavy cost to Graham of his amorous fancy.

She charged that Thomas McGuire, private detective and Graham's codefendant, had shadowed her, threatened her and tried to make her leave the United States; this after the ardor of Graham had cooled.

Graham, who is now 64 years old, has had a distinguished career as an architect. He is a member of the firm of Graham, Anderson, Probst & White. He was assistant director of works during the construction of the World's Fair buildings in the '90s. He was the architect on the Flatiron, Equitable, Chase National, and 80 Maiden Lane buildings in New York; the Union station in Washington, and the Union station in Chicago, the Continental Illinois bank, Straus, Wrigley, Pittsfield, and 20 Wacker Drive buildings in Chicago. He also designed the Merchandise Mart and the Marshall Field & Co. stores.

Names 80 Year Old Poet.

Late in the day's hearing of the case a fillip of financial and literary interest was added to the drama when the Canada Life Assurance company of Toronto filed in the federal court a bill in equity asking a judge's interpretation of the rights of five persons to collect $500 a month which Graham had ordered paid, several years ago, to Mrs. Anderson.

Those named are Mrs. Anderson; Edwin Markham, 80 year old poet who wrote "The Man with the Hoe"; I. R. O'Crowley and Lucy C. McDannell, New York attorneys who advanced a claim against the poet, and Robert E. Burke, Chicago attorney who represented Mrs. Anderson in litigation against the Canada Life in November.

The petition of the company, technically a bill of interpleader, is a request that the five persons named all be compelled to appear and tell their stories about who should have $900, due in November, and that the federal court specify how this money shall be divided. It is made plain in the bill that the company cannot untangle the merit of the various claims of Mrs. Anderson, her creditors and the attorneys for Markham.

"Markham an Old Friend."

Mrs. Anderson, holding an informal reception last night in her apartment in the Croydon hotel, declined to go into detail about the settlement or the claims of Markham and the others.

"O, Mr. Markham was an old friend, and he lent me some money

PERSHING GETS WIFE'S WATCH SAVED IN FIRE

Napa, Cal., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Mrs. Emma Belvail today returned to Gen. Pershing by mail an heirloom watch in a silver case, a wedding present to Mrs. Pershing from her father, the late Senator Francis E. Warren of Wyoming.

The watch was on a dresser in the Pershing home at the Presidio in San Francisco on the night a fire swept the place in 1915, burning to death Mrs. Pershing and her three daughters. A soldier saved the watch and left it with Mrs. Belvail.

The soldier disappeared. Mrs. Belvail, after several years, wrote to Gen. Pershing, asking him if he would like the watch and explaining how she had obtained it. He replied that he was anxious to get the timepiece.

Draft Bill for 2% Sales Tax to Help Idle

Facing a storm of downstate opposition, a committee of Illinois legislators yesterday approved the draft of a 2 per cent general sales tax bill which will be introduced in the general assembly, probably after the committee confers with Gov. Horner Tuesday.

Approval of this plan to raise funds for the idle was given at a meeting in Corporation Counsel Sexton's office, attended by Mayor Cermak, Mr. Sexton, Senator R. V. Graham, president pro tem of the senate; House Floor Leader Tom Sinnet of Rock Island; Minority Leader Richard J. Barr of the senate, and other members. Senator Francis J. Loughran [Dem., Chicago] was chairman.

In Doubt as to Revenue.

Somewhat in doubt as to how much can be raised through the impost, the legislators were informed that it probably would not yield the $50,000,000 to $55,000,000 which the Illinois emergency relief commission estimates will be necessary for its 1933 needs, exclusive of other sources of revenue.

The bill provides that the sales tax returns shall be given back to the counties of origin for charity relief. It was estimated that Cook county would probably receive $25,000,000 this year—half of its stated needs.

Mayor Cermak was the first to demand that the estimates of the number of idle be shaved. "They must be cut down and we'll have to run the nonresident bums out of the city," he said.

Discuss a Higher Tax.

Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago], house minority leader, agreed. "Everything will have to be cut pro-rata," he said.

There was talk then of raising the sales tax to 3 per cent, but recognition that the increased rate would raise the Chicago return only to about $37,000,000 was a stumbling block. The group finally passed Senator Barr's motion that a 2 per cent bill be agreed upon.

"I think it can pass," maintained Senator Barr of Joliet.

"I'm certainly not for it," said Senator Arthur A. Huebsch [Rep., Brookfield], who proposed, in place of the sales tax, a tax on monopolies such as electric current, telephone service gas, and water, which he said would be much easier to regulate.

PICCARD SEES COSMIC RAYS AS FUTURE'S ENERGY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Cosmic rays may be the energy of the future, harnessed energy which will light cities, motivate industries and drive airplanes through the stratosphere at tremendous speeds, Prof. August Piccard, the Swiss physicist who ascended ten miles in a balloon, told an audience in the Washington auditorium tonight in his first lecture in this country. Coal will then become valueless, and limitless power may be produced at almost no cost, he added.

The energy contained in each individual cosmic ray is 1,000,000 times greater than that produced by the most violent reactions between molecules or atoms, he said.

Prof. Piccard called on President Hoover this afternoon, and had lunch at the Belgian embassy.

Her Husband So Bashful She Gets an Annulment

Japs Menace Tientsin; China Rushes Troops

TIENTSIN, China, Jan. 14 (Saturday).—The arrival of three Japanese warships at Tangku, which controls the mouth of the Pei river 30 miles from Tientsin, has greatly increased the Sino-Japanese tension here. A clash between the opposing Chinese and Japanese troops somewhere along the railway from Tientsin to Chinwangtao is expected momentarily.

Passenger service on all railways out of Tientsin is disrupted by Chinese troop movements northward towards Shanhaikwan. The troop trains average six daily and it is reported that their destination is Lwanchow, a city of about half a million 100 miles northeast of here. The railway at that point crosses the Lwan river, which flows from Jehol province to the sea and which provides access through the Great Wall and the mountains into Jehol.

Troops from Three Provinces.

The Chinese troops passing through Tientsin are coming from western Shantung province, southern Chihli [Hopei], and northern Honan. Most of them were previously under the banner of the Christian general, Feng Yu-hsiang, but are now commanded by Gen. Shang Chen, former governor of Shansi province.

Since the fall of Chiumenkow pass in the Great Wall, 10 miles northwest of Shanhaikwan, the Japanese have brought in several hundred Manchukuo troops, which are being used to police the area, while the Japanese forces have advanced to Shihminchai, three miles west of Chiumenkow, where heavy fighting was reported yesterday. The outcome of the battle is unknown here.

Casualties of the Chiumenkow battle Wednesday are reported to have been 1,000 on each side. The Japanese infantry in this sector is being assisted by field artillery and six air bombers. The Japanese are also reported to have concentrated 40 planes and 20 tanks at Shanhaikwan.

Panic at Tientsin.

The situation at Chinwangtao, 10 miles southwest of Shanhaikwan, remains quiet. The Chinese and Japanese forces are still facing each other across the narrow Tashiho river.

The heavy troop movements through Tientsin have caused panicky conditions here. Foreign insurance firms are deluged with applications for war risk insurance, while the foreign concessions are filling up with Chinese refugees from points along the railway and with wealthy Chinese families from Peiping.

It is believed here that the initial outbreak is likely to occur at Tangku, where the Japanese probably will land forces for the purpose of cutting the railway, thus disrupting Chinese troop movements to Lwanchow.

Lieut. Gen. Nakamura's Japanese headquarters here assured THE TRIBUNE correspondent today that no outbreak is likely in the Tientsin area, "but trouble is almost certain in the event the Chinese continue troop movements northward."

Give Up Hope for Settlement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 13.—The foreign office today practically admitted that all hope of a compromise settlement of the Manchurian question at the league of nations assembly, which opens Monday, has been given up.

Latest reports from Geneva appear to have intensified the gloom here, and the foreign office spokesman intimated that Yosuke Matsuka, chief Japanese delegate to the league, may return to Tokio within a very short time —"like an arrow," he said.

Another disturbing factor today was a visit by Sir Francis Lindley, British ambassador, to Foreign Minister Count Uchida to inform the Japanese govern-

SENATORS SEEK TO ALTER BILL; ALCOHOL 3.05%

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Prospects for enactment of a beer bill at the short session which ends on March 4 were dimmed somewhat today by two new developments. One was the rewriting of the Collier 3.2 per cent beer bill by a senate subcommittee to include light wines and reduce the alcoholic content to 3.05. The other was a new manifestation of an apparent White House inclination to veto any beer bill passed.

As revamped today, nothing is left of the Collier bill except the enacting clause and the $5 a barrel tax. The house measure simply legalized beer of an alcoholic content of 3.2 by weight and 4 per cent by volume. The new bill permits the sale without federal penalties of beer, ale, porter, wines, similarly fermented malt or vinous liquors and fruit juice providing the alcoholic content does not exceed 3.05 by weight or 3.8 per cent by volume.

Goes to Full Committee.

The revised bill, which will be passed on by the full judiciary committee tomorrow, legalizes beer by the simple process of amending the Volstead act to repeal all jail, injunction or fine penalties on the aforementioned beverages if their alcoholic content does not exceed 3.05. In other words, the bill's purpose withdraws the Volstead act from the field of beer, wine and fruit juices not exceeding the 3.05 percentage.

In reporting out the bill committee members said the Collier bill had been revamped in the belief that a beer bill could be so written as to remove all danger of it being termed unconstitutional by the Supreme court. For this reason, it was said, the committee avoided a definition of what constitutes intoxicating liquor and limited the penalties of the Volstead act to those beverages above 3.05 per cent alcoholic content.

Cause Senate Opposition.

The radical changes made in the beer bill immediately became the subject of study by senate and house wets. The reduction in the percentage is certain to raise some opposition in the house, although leaders said today that they would have to go into the matter carefully before reaching a decision as to their next step. The addition of wine to the bill met with the approval of some wets, but aroused the objections of others.

By altering the bill the senate subcommittee added to the length of time which will elapse before the measure goes to the White House. The wine provisions are certain to cause new senate opposition. If passed by the senate in its new form the bill must be acted on again by the house. Unless an agreement can be reached amicably on the alcoholic content, the measure might be held up until congress adjourns.

Officials close to the White House said today they were convinced President Hoover will veto the beer bill if it comes to him late in the session. These advisers said that while the President had not stated his position definitely, they were satisfied he would leave the beer question over to his successor. In recent weeks many congressmen who have been in touch with the White House have expressed belief that Mr. Hoover would veto a beer bill.

Based on British Findings.

Committee members said the alcoholic content had been lowered in the new bill because a 3.05 beer had been found nonintoxicating by a commission appointed by the British parliament to determine how much alcohol could be allowed in beer without making it intoxicating.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.], mentioned prominently for the attorney general portfolio during the coming Roosevelt administration, said in this connection:

"A commission appointed by the British parliament made an exhaustive and scientific inquiry of the amount of alcohol in beer necessary to intoxicate and arrived at the conclusion that 3.05 per cent was non intoxicating."

As amended, Senator William E. Borah [Radical, Idaho] was the only one of the five members of the subcommittee to vote against beer. The language of the section limiting penalties follows:

"Nothing in the national prohibition act, as amended and supplemented, shall apply to any of the following or to any act, or failure to act, in respect of any of the following containing not more than 3.05 per cent of alcohol by weight: Beer, ale, porter, wine, similar fermented malt or vinous liquor, or fruit juice."

Must Pay Tax of $1,000.

Brewers must pay a manufacturers' tax of $1,000. Transportation of the newly legalized beers and wines into dry states is prohibited. No restrictions are placed on the sales of 3.05 per cent beers and wines in wet states. The question of how and where such beverages may be sold is left to the states. The $5 a barrel tax would apply to all beverages manufactured under the bill.

All sections of the Volstead act not conforming with the new bill were changed.

G. O. P. Wet Group in Fight.

At a meeting of the Republican wet group in the house today, agreement was reached to fight the Blaine senate joint resolution to repeal the 18th amendment. The group authorized its chairman, James M. Beck [Rep., Pa.] to make the following statement:

"The Republican wet group believes that any repealing amendment should fully vindicate the principle of local self-government and should not continue any police power in the federal government to regulate or prohibit the methods of retail distribution of intoxicating liquors.

Perpetuate Dry Evils.

"Section 3 of the proposed Blaine resolution reserves to the federal government present police powers in both wet and dry states to control the methods of such retail distribution. This would perpetuate the evils of the present prohibition system and would not restore local self-government to the states.

"While reserving to each member of this group the right, if the senate resolution should come before the house of representatives in its present form, to determine for himself how he should vote, it is the consensus of this group that this compromise of the principle of local self-government should not be accepted by the house of representatives."

OVERRIDES VETO OF BILL TO FREE THE PHILIPPINES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—The house of representatives today overrode President Hoover's veto of the Philippine independence bill and by a vote of 274 to 94 sent the measure to the senate, where a similar insistence on passage is looked for.

In taking action the house threw into the discard a veto message in which the President warned that independence at this time and under the proposed bill threatened the islands with economic and social chaos, the United States with possible war in the Pacific, and an already disordered world with new disorder.

One Democrat Backs Hoover.

A single Democrat out of the 192 who cast votes and the 14 who were paired voted to sustain the veto. The 274 votes for approval of the bill despite the presidential objection were those of 191 Democrats, 82 Republicans, and one Farmer-Laborite. Ninety-three Republicans and Representative Charles H. Martin [Dem. Ore.], retired major general of the army, voted against the measure.

The influence of their agricultural constitutents carried one Republican after another out of the party line. They followed the arguments of the farm lobby and cast their votes in favor of the barrier promised by the bill against continued free importation of Philippine sugar, cocoanut oil, and cordage fiber. Others, notably from California, swung over because of the bill's immediate curtailment and eventual stoppage of Philippine immigration.

Recalls Pledges Made.

In his message President Hoover recognized the desire of the Filipinos for freedom as a "rightful spiritual aspiration." He recalled presidential promises and congressional pledges which had encouraged them in this aspiration.

"But in securing this spiritual boon to the 13,000,000 people in these islands," the President gave warning, "the United States has a triple responsibility. That is responsibility to the Philippine people, responsibility to the American people, and responsibility to the world at large.

"Our responsibility to the Philippine people is that in finding a method by which we consummate their aspiration we do not project them into economic and social chaos, with the probability of breakdown in government, with its consequences in degeneration of a rising liberty, which has been so carefully nurtured by the United States at the cost of thousands of American lives and hundreds of millions of money.

Points to Responsibility.

"Our responsibility to the American people is that we shall see the fact of Philippine separation accomplished without endangering ourselves in military action hereafter to maintain internal order or to protect the Philippines from encroachment by others, and above all that this shall be accomplished so as to avoid the very grave dangers of future controversies and seeds of war with other nations.

"We have a responsibility to the world that having undertaken to develop and perfect freedom for the people we shall not by our course project more chaos into a world already sorely beset by instability.

"The present bill fails to fulfill these responsibilities. It invites all these dangers. It does not fulfill the idealism with which this task in human liberation was undertaken."

The message reviewed the bill and pointed out that its provisions were open to the "most serious objections."

Provides for Constitution.

The measure provides for a constitution, republican in character, to be drawn up by a Philippine convention and ratified by the Philippine people, the ratification to serve as a plebiscite on the question of freedom. The preliminary requirements are expected to take not more than two years, after which, in the event of a favorable popular vote, a 10 year probationary period under a commonwealth form of government would begin. During this period American sovereignty will be all but withdrawn, immigration from the islands would be restricted to a quota of fifty, and limits would be placed on sugar, cocoanut oil and manila fiber imports. At the same time the insular government would levy a gradually increasing tax on exports to the United States.

On the Fourth of July following the end of the tenth year the Philippines would be proclaimed free and American sovereignty entirely withdrawn except over military and naval stations agreed upon. Free trade would be terminated, and the Asiatic exclusion laws made to apply to immigration of Filipinos.

Period Termed Too Short.

The ten year period is "too short and too violent" for the Philippine people to adjust their economic life to the sharp curtailment and then the extinction of free trade with the United States, the President declared. He pointed out that this country constitutes 80 per cent of the islands' foreign market.

"Unfortunately for these people," the veto message asserted, "their economic life today and for many years to come is absolutely dependent upon their favored trade with the United States. Many of their industries cannot compete with the lower standards of living and costs in other tropical and subtropical countries except by virtue of their favored entrance to our markets. Lands now employed in these products must be abandoned or alternatively all real wages and standards of living and all land values must be reduced to the level of other competing countires.

Sees Financial Danger.

"Consequently, capital invested in large industries, the security for mortgages held by their banks, their insurance companies, their other institutions must be greatly reduced, the financial system of the islands endangered, a flight of capital must ensue, the ability of the people to pay taxes undermined, the government revenues diminished, and its ability to maintain public order will be weakened. The government already has difficulty balancing its budget and this difficulty will be thus intensified.

"Under these circumstances they must inevitably and soon greatly diminish a large part of their generous support to schools, health, and roads. The American government will be faced after projection of these events with years of military occupation among a degenerating economic and social life, with all its governmental difficulties."

With its ten year probationary period the bill would leave the United States half in and half out of the Philippines, with responsibility but without commensurate authority, Mr. Hoover asserted.

With American civil authority weakened "to a point of practical impotence," he declared, "the American flag will be flying and our army will be in occupation."

Foresees Military Action.

"Our government," the message said, "with inadequate civil means for exercising its sovereign authority to control the situation, but with continued moral responsibility to maintain stable government, will daily, during those years, be faced with the likelihood of having to employ military measures to maintain order in a degenerating social and economic situation, or alternately to expend large sums from our taxpayers in supporting a constantly enfeebled government.

"Not alone do these difficulties arise from the intermediate situation we create, but the non-Christian population, who are as yet bitterly opposed to the controlling group, constituted at the last Philippine census a majority of the combined population of nine provinces, occupying about 40 per cent of the total land area of the Philippine islands.

Sees Government Difficulties.

"The maintenance of order in this considerable element has presented difficulties to us in the past, and it is not reasonable to assume that the intermediate government will be as well qualified to handle the situation as the present régime for a long time. Moreover, without real civil authority we can have no assurance that the intermediate government may not find itself in difficulties with citizens of other nationalities which may involve the United States. Such responsibility in these situations, without adequate authority, can lead only to disaster."

The President could foresee no possibility that the Philippines would be able to create a force for the preservation of civil order or protection from foreign aggression.

Resources Undeveloped.

"The Philippines include, in terms of comparison with their neighboring oriental countries, large areas of undeveloped resources," he declared. "The pressures of those immense neighbor populations for peaceful infiltration or forcible entry into this area are most potent. Many of these races are more devoted to commercial activities than the population of the islands and the infiltration is constant and fraught with friction. Nor has the spirit of imperialism and the exploitation of peoples by other races departed from the earth. After the establishment of independence the Filipino people alone will be helpless to prevent infiltration or invasion.

Only two years is granted the Philippine people to decide that they wish independence, the President pointed out. There is no plebiscite at the end of the ten year period.

The President denied that the islands were ready for independence and charged the bill's sponsors with evading this issue. To treat the question as the bill treats it, he said, was a cause of "national dishonor."

Favors Longer Period.

A proper independence bill, he said, should provide for a fifteen or twenty year period with a plebiscite at the end of it.

"Neither our successors nor history will discharge us of responsibility for actions which diminish the liberty we seek to confer nor for dangers which we create for ourselves as a consequence of our acts. This legislation puts both our people and the Philippine people not on the road to liberty and safety, which we desire, but on the path leading to new and enlarged dangers to liberty and freedom itself."

The debate in the house lasted only an hour. Opponents of the bill openly charged that propaganda by the sugar interests had done much to win the measure's passage through congress. Sarcastic references were made to the "sweet sacrifices engendered by sugar and the oily utterances prompted by coconut oil."

HOW CENTRAL STATES CONGRESSMEN VOTED ON OVERRIDING VETO

FOR SUSTAINING VETO.

ILLINOIS—Britten, Chindblom, Chiperfield, W. E. Hull, Republicans.
INDIANA—Purnell, Republican.
IOWA—Cole, Republican.
MICHIGAN—Clancy, Hooper, Mapes, Person, Republicans.
WISCONSIN—Stafford, Republican.

FOR OVERRIDING VETO:

ILLINOIS—Adkins, De Priest, Hall, Holaday, Reid, Republicans; Arnold, Beam, Dieterich, Keller, Kuns, Major, Parsons, Rainey, Sabbath, Schuetz, Democrats.

Buckbee of Illinois, Republican, and Kelly of Illinois, Boehne of Indiana, and Hart of Michigan, Democrats, were paired in favor of overriding the veto. Johnson of Illinois and Wood of Indiana, Republicans, were paired in favor of sustaining the vetoe.

REPORTS SHOW ALCOHOL'S VALUE TO MANKIND

Vital Factor in Successful Scientific Discoveries.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Alcohol has played a leading rôle in the development of modern civilization as a handmaid of science in its application of thousands of comforts and utilities that enter into the fabric of commercial and social life, the bureau of industrial alcohol said today in a factual outline of "the uses of alcohol."

The bureau's pamphlet concluded that "alcohol is with us from the cradle to the grave, in the baby's rattle and the embalmer's fluid."

"Alcohol is used widely as a solvent," the pamphlet said. "It enters into literally thousands of products. These products affect the comfort, welfare and health of the people in every day life.

"Alcohol is not only a solvent but a fine preservative of such organic substances as would ordinarily decompose or lose much of their original character.

"Scientists have listed alcohol as one of the six most useful organic substances.

An Aid to Scientists.

"Industrial research has advanced modern civilization because alcohol has been a vital factor in successful scientific discoveries.

"Medical science has advanced at a phenomenal rate with marvelous cures and discoveries which have protected the health of the people and lengthened the life span because of the many and valuable uses of alcohol in medical research. Thousands of medicinal preparations and many anesthetics depend for their effectiveness upon the use of alcohol as a solvent."

Output Before Dry Law.

Before national prohibition the United States alcoholic beverage industry produced 178,833,799 gallons of whisky, gin, rum and brandy, 1,558,252,696 gallons of beer and ale and 51,029,822 gallons of wine, and government revenues amounting to $449,810,000 accrued from the sale of these and imported varieties, according to another report made public today.

Through the rows of statistical data ran the story that "the liquor industry," at its peak in 1914, provided employment for 72,646 workers in 2,099 manufacturing establishments. By 1923 the number of plants in operation had dropped to 90 and the number of employed to 2,064.

Much Grain Used.

Considerable quantities of grain and other products were used in the production of fermented and distilled liquors. For the fermented variety the 1918 totals were 1,227,301,264 pounds of malt, 78,942,550 pounds of rice, 459,842,838 pounds of corn and its products, 33,481,415 pounds of hops, 64,980,019 pounds of sugar and sirup, and 88,693,042 pounds of grit, wheat, bran and barley.

For distilled liquors the 1918 totals for products going into its manufacture included 1,689,677 bushels of malt, 248,864 bushels of rye and 14,544,545 bushels of corn.

The Day in Congress

Senate judiciary subcommittee approved rewritten beer bill to include wines and brew of not more than 3.05 per cent alcohol by weight.

Senator Thomas [Dem., Okla.] led fourth day of filibuster against Glass banking reform bill.

Special senate investigating committee reported it had no criticism of Reconstruction corporation loans but said lack of funds prevented deep inquiry.

MINONK, ILL., MAN DIES AT 94.

JURORS DEBATE FATE OF TEACHER WHO SLEW WIFE

Marshall, Ill., Jan. 13.—(AP)—The fate of Hubert C. Moor, 32, former Robinson, Ill., school teacher on trial for the murder of his wife, Marjorie, rested tonight with a Clarke county jury.

The state demanded the death penalty be inflicted. The case was given to the jurors after Judge C. E. Shuey read his instructions at a night session, outlining seven possible verdicts.

The defense based its plea for a lesser finding on evidence Moor was insane at the time of the slaying, last Aug. 15. Moor admitted the killing and told a story of his marital life, saying, "I got tired of always finding the sink full of dirty dishes."

Yesterday Moor testified that "God told me to shoot her; I heard Him." A Danville, Ill., alienist testified for the defense that Moor suffered from a form of dementia precox.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Winifred Spooner, one of Great Britain's most famous airwomen, died tonight in her home at the Radcliffe airdrome at the age of 32—the first notable victim of the influenza epidemic which is sweeping the country. She had been ill only a day.

Three years ago the International League of Aviators named her world's champion woman pilot. She was one of the few women to hold a commercial pilot's license and was the only woman in Britain who at the time of her death was earning a living as the personal pilot to an owner of private airplanes. For nearly two years she had been chauffeur to Lindsay Everard, member of parliament, and last summer piloted him on an 8,500 mile flight across Europe to Turkey, Egypt and Palestine.

In her flying career of six years she won scores of trophies, including third place in the round Europe touring plane race in 1929 and third place in the king's cup race around Britain in 1928. The only serious accident of her whole career was when she fell into the sea off the Italian coast in December, 1930, on a flight to Cape Town. She saved her life by swimming a mile to shore.

HOPE TO BRING KING OF NORWAY HERE NEXT JUNE

Preparations are on foot to bring King Haakon VII. of Norway to Chicago for the corner stone laying of the Leif Ericson memorial in Grant park on June 23. Oskar J. W. Hansen, sculptor for the project, announced yesterday that he had received news of the plan in a cablegram from the Leif Ericson committee of Oslo, Norway. It would be the Norwegian monarch's first trip to this country.

If the king accepts the invitation his trip will include an official call upon the President and visits in Minneapolis, Duluth and other Norwegian-American centers. Scandinavian fraternal organizations, which are aiding in financing the statue in memory of the explorer, claim that Ericson, with his vikings, discovered America while on a direct commission of King Olav Trygvason of Norway in the year 1000 A. D.

$12,456,409 Cut from Book Value of Audit.

A shrinkage of more than one-third on the total listed assets of the Illinois Life Insurance company was disclosed yesterday in a tentative balance sheet of the bankrupt concern, as submitted to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson by Chester Davis, vice president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, acting for Receiver Abel Davis.

Whereas auditors of the insurance company under the régime of the Stevens family, its principal owners, had listed actual assets at $34,077,388 and placed their book value at $41,048,166, the accounting firm of Arthur Young & Co., employed by Receiver Davis, lists the assets as of last Nov. 28 at $23,972,647, a writedown of $12,456,409 from the Stevens figures. This writedown represents the deficit to be shouldered by the company's 70,000 policy holders, on whom the company had $150,000,000 insurance in force.

Deficit May Be $17,000,000.

Emphasizing the tentative character of the balance sheet, it was said by responsible parties that before the concern is finally liquidated the deficit to policy holders may reach $17,000,000, a shrinkage of 50 per cent on the assets the Stevens family claimed.

Despite the desperate condition of the concern, however, Chester Davis said that nearly forty insurance companies had made inquiry concerning reinsurance of Illinois Life policy holders. Six of these have indicated a disposition to bid for reinsurance of the company's business, he said.

Terms for Reinsurance.

While no bids have been submitted as yet, insurance actuaries expect that any company contracting to reinsure the Illinois Life will demand a lien of 35 to 75 per cent on the loan and cash surrender values of each policy as a requisite for reinsurance.

Under this arrangement the reinsuring company would pay death claims in full, but would grant loans and make cash surrender payments only to the extent the policy was unincumbered by the lien. As the reinsuring company liquidated Illinois Life assets, the amount of the liens would be reduced correspondingly.

Under terms of a decree issued by Judge Wilkerson on Dec. 20, all reinsurance bids must be in the hands of Receiver Davis by next Thursday. The receiver is empowered to examine the bids and submit to the court those he believes worthy of consideration. Publication of the tentative balance sheet was authorized to acquaint the interested companies with the condition of the company.

Full Report Due Soon.

William L. Klein, attorney for the receiver, informed Judge Wilkerson that a full report and a more detailed balance sheet, disclosing the company's condition as of the current date, would be prepared and submitted soon.

The tentative balance sheet is sufficiently detailed, it was pointed out, to show how James W., Ernest J., and Raymond W. Stevens, officers and principal stockholders of the company, drained away its assets by declarations of huge dividends, by loans to themselves, and by loans to and investments in the Stevens and La Salle hotels, which they also controlled.

Shrinkage of Assets Shown.

On the asset side of the balance sheet, for example, the receiver found collateral loans listed at $3,445,950. Examining the character of this collateral, the receiver's auditor set up an estimated depreciation of $3,335,559, leaving the value of this asset at a mere $10,391.

Under the heading of "investments in bonds, corporate notes, and stocks," the auditor found a listed asset of $11,294,173. Against this was set up an estimated depreciation of $10,601,931, reducing the worth of this asset to $692,242.

The assets listed under first mortgage loans on real estate were found to be comparatively sound. The Stevens management had fixed the amount of these loans at $11,901,155, and the receiver found it necessary to deduct only $1,762,474 for depreciation, leaving the realizable value of these loans at $10,138,680.

A different situation holds with reference to the company's home office, a landmark, at 1212 Lake Shore drive. The Stevens management had carried this asset at $4,417,097, as appraised in 1924. The receiver reduces its value $975,738.

Largest of the liability items, aside from the $12,456,409 set up as a depreciation deficit, was the one covering loans advanced to the company by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The amount of these loans the receiver found to be $1,125,019 and the face value of the mortgages the Stevens management posted as collateral was $2,562,692.

Cash on hand when the receiver took charge was $241,651. Of the collateral loans $3,446,950 was advanced to the Stevens family, James W., chairman of the board; Ernest J., president, and Raymond, vice president. Prior to the receivership the Stevens family benefited from 25 per cent stock dividends totaling $250,000 a year, with James W. and Raymond each drawing $72,000 annual salary as well.

Loans to Family Shown.

The loans to the Stevens family and to the Lincoln Securities company, a family concern, were split up as follows:

Loans made indirectly to J. W. Stevens	$1,840,500
Loans to M. B. Stevens, wife of James W.	78,000

The listed value of the collateral posted for these loans was $3,335,559. The "adjusted" value, as estimated by the receiver's auditor, is $111,390.

The item of investments revealed a similar picture. The Stevens family had put $9,430,800 in bonds and corporate notes, giving them a listed value of $9,253,148. After examining the value of these bonds and notes the receiver "adjusted" their value to $202,517. Almost the entire amount of these investments was in bonds and "gold notes" of the Stevens and La Salle hotels.

COUNTY BOARD O. K.'S QUINLAN IN PAVING QUIZ

The county commissioners voted yesterday an expression of confidence in the integrity of Supt. George A. Quinlan of the county highway department and then appointed a committee headed by Commissioner Walter La Buy to investigate conditions in that department. The inquiry will involve an alleged "deal" by which the Belt Railroad company was allowed to escape the payment of $28,500, half the cost of paving of 67th street from Crawford avenue to Cicero avenue.

On Thursday several of the commissioners criticized the failure of the highway officials to demand that the railway pay its share when the paving of the street was begun last summer. The railroad had agreed to pay for the paving of a 20 foot strip of the 40 foot highway in 1914 when the city council granted certain rights to the railroad.

Supt. Quinlan explained that F. E. Morrow, chief engineer of the railroad, said the railway was willing to pay for the paving if the city council would pass an amendment of the 1914 ordinance relieving the company of further responsibility for the paving. The council refused to do this until the paving actually was put in, Supt. Quinlan said. The ordinance amendment now will be presented and passed, he said, and the railroad will pay.

SALESMAN HAS GLIB LINE, AND THAT ISN'T ALL

Harris Christos, proprietor of a restaurant at 4 East Chicago avenue, met a salesman several days ago. He has forgotten the name of the salesman, but it doesn't matter, as it was probably assumed. The sales talk was so effective, however, that Christos agreed to give him $2,000 for a restaurant he said he owned on the south side. The deal was to be completed yesterday in a room of the Mark Twain hotel at 111 West Division street. When Christos went there with the $2,000 the salesman and two aids dispensed with legal formalities and took the money at the point of a pistol.

HORNER TAKES OVER CONTROL OF PUBLIC WORKS

Cleaveland Resigns and Sheets Is Fired.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Gov. Henry Horner took over control of the state department of public works today. Harry H. Cleaveland of Rock Island, director for the four years of the Emmerson administration, resigned and returned to his home. Frank T. Sheets, chief engineer of highways, was relieved from duty, and three "Horner engineers" were put into the department.

Don Garrison of Rushville, assistant director under both the Emmerson and Small administrations, was left in titular charge following Cleaveland's departure, but as nearly all of the work of the department is concentrated in the highway division and the three new engineers will be concentrated there, at least temporarily, the Horner administration is considered in full control.

Chicagoan Will Be Named.

One of the three new men, Ernst Lieberman of the Chicago firm of Lieberman & Hein, will be named temporarily to the Sheets vacancy next week—probably on Monday—and the other two may replace men on the Sheets staff although no other resignations have been asked and it is possible that temporary places may be created for them without the ouster of additional present employés.

There is no indication as to Director Cleaveland's successor. Rumors that this cabinet post would go to B. F. Lindheimer, president of the Chicago board of local improvements, were knocked down long ago. Lindheimer said he would not accept the appointment if it were offered him, and he is not being considered for the place.

This was the windup of two days of agitation over this department, an agitation prolonged because of Gov. Horner's complete occupation by the coal strike problem, in connection with which there were predictions of some sort of a big blow up over the removal of Sheets. He had been given an opportunity to resign, but declined it. Director Cleaveland had been requested to remove him and had refused.

Call Him Small Partisan.

But when the windup came under the governor's own direction, it came quietly, Cleaveland stepping out of the way, and Sheets consenting to the cancellation of both his titles those of chief engineer and of superintendent of highways.

Sheets had been the "highway boss" ever since the system of "hard roads" was inaugurated and stands exceptionally well in his profession. But the Horner forces charged him with extreme political activity in behalf of Len Small in the fall campaign and decreed long ago that his head must fall among the first. It was chiefly an effort to save him that caused the now terminated ruckus.

In a press conference this afternoon Gov. Horner said that any one of the three men he has called here as his engineering advisers—in reference to other departments as well as this one—is capable of filling Sheets' shoes, but that none of them may remain in Springfield permanently. He spoke of all of them as high class men accustomed to receiving much higher compensation than is in sight for them in the state service and said they had been persuaded to come here by the plea that he needed their assistance.

The two besides Lieberman are William A. Mulcahy and Charles E. Deleuw. Taking the highway division as their first assignment the trio will survey all state departments involving engineering services with the aim of reorganizing and consolidating the state's engineering activities in the interests of economy and efficiency.

Lieberman has been a practicing civil engineer for 23 years and during that time has supervised the construction of $750,000,000 worth of work. In 1931 he was appointed consulting engineer for the Chicago board of local improvements in connection with subway planning. Also, he and Deleuw have had charge of the preparation of joint state-city and county-city parking projects, including 76 projects that have gotten under way.

Mulcahy is a bridge expert and has served the city of Chicago and its board of local improvements in that capacity. For ten years he was in charge of all the city's major bridge construction, and for 15 years served in the same capacity for the improvement board. During his career he has supervised the construction of $50,000,000 worth of works, including the 20 million dollar Wacker drive, the Michigan boulevard link bridge extension, the Ogden avenue improvement and the Damen avenue improvement.

In Municipal Engineering.

Deleuw has been engaged in civil and municipal engineering for 20 years, his work being chiefly in the field of engineering and design of municipal projects, including paving, waterworks, and sewers. He also has supervised many transportation and traffic surveys in New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Baltimore, and Los Angeles. During the last two years he has been assistant chief engineer of the bureau of subways of the city of Chicago. He has had active charge of the preparation of plans for the $44,000,000 State street subway.

It is the purpose of their survey, according to a statement issued in behalf of the engineers, to determine speedily where eliminations, curtailments, or consolidations can result in economies and reduction in operating costs, and to make their recommendations promptly.

All three have been here for several days and will take up definite duties on Monday, Lieberman going into Sheets' office.

DIES AFTER TAKING POISON.

Tony Torrelo, 61 years old, 712 West 12th place, a contractor, died yesterday in the county hospital of pneumonia, which developed a few days after he drank ammonia at his home on Jan. 9.

REPORTS CONDITION OF MRS. M'PHERSON SLIGHTLY IMPROVED

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—The Rev. Aimee McPherson-Hutton, who last night collapsed, was today reported by a nurse at Angelus temple parsonage to be "slightly improved and in a semi-conscious condition."

The woman pastor was represented in court by Attorney Willedd Andrews, who offered to permit Superior Judge Marshall McComb to name a physician to examine his client. Judge McComb would not name a doctor to examine her and declined to accept Attorney Andrews' suggestion that Mrs. McPherson-Hutton will be too ill for some time to attend court hearings.

Judge McComb ruled that the suit of J. Roy Stewart, motion picture man, against the woman preacher will go ahead as scheduled Tuesday. Stewart charges Mrs. McPherson-Hutton broke a contract to associate him with her in filming a story of her own life called "Clay in the Potter's Hands." The autobiographical movie never was made. Stewart demands $240,000 damages.

SUIT REVEALS HEAVY LOSSES IN BUSBY ESTATE

Values Shrink Through Stocks' Depreciation.

A petition objecting to the accounting by the First Union Trust and Savings bank on the estate of the late Leonard A. Busby, former traction magnate, is expected to come up for hearing in the Probate court some time next week.

The petition reveals that, although Mr. Busby left an estate valued at $1,500,000 at the time of his death in September, 1930, there is virtually nothing left. The hearing on the petition will seek to throw off some of the losses suffered by the estate through depreciated market values upon the bank.

Debts of $900,000.

This is largely due to approximately $900,000 owed on the estate by Mr. Busby to various banks and brokerage houses. When he died the creditors held that much in pledges and obligations against him. This left the widow an equity of $600,000 in excess of the indebtedness. However, this $600,000 has been greatly reduced by the stock market decline, according to Attorney Johnston.

"Of the $900,000 owed to the creditors, about $650,000 has been paid," said Attorney Johnston. "This leaves about $250,000 still owing. In addition there are the federal and state inheritance taxes and other debts. There is really nothing left."

Mr. Johnston said that it is Mrs. Busby's contention that the securities included in the estate might have been preserved to a great extent had the Union Trust and Savings bank, as executor, sold these securities soon after her husband's death.

Views of Widow's Attorney.

"The bank was executor," said Mr. Johnston. "At the time of Mr. Busby's death, the stock market was declining rapidly. This should have been obvious to the bank. It is our belief that the bank should have seen the situation and sold the securities. It is purely a question of judgment, not of faith. The bank believed the stock market would rise."

Included in the estate are two trust funds made out to the children, Janet and Jack. Each is given $25,000 at the of 25, and $50,000 at the age of 30. Both these trust funds are affected by the condition of the estate, according to the lawyer. Mrs. Busby was a beneficiary of insurance "but not a great deal," the lawyer added. She now lives at the Lake Shore Drive hotel.

HOW TAXES PERIL EARNINGS OF 90 LOOP BUILDINGS

Income Drops 46% While Government Costs Rise.

The failure of the public administration, for which Chicagoans pay taxes, to follow the downward price trend of practically every other service or commodity is strikingly illustrated in the earnings and expenses of ninety of the better office buildings in the downtown area.

Permission to use the figures was given by Assessor J. L. Jacobs, to whom they were originally submitted by representatives of the building owners. The tabulation shows that the gross income of the buildings in 1932 was only 69 per cent of that of 1928. The net income, before payment of any interest charges or writeoffs for depreciation, dropped to 45.9 per cent of the 1928 figure.

Tax Burden Increases.

The building owners were able to cut all of their other operating expenses 13 per cent between 1928 and 1932. Their tax burden increased. Even considering the economy budgets of 1932 and the 25 per cent decrease made in the 1931 reassessment, the tax bills for which the building managers laid aside funds during the last year totaled $3,332,058, as compared with 1928 bills of $3,313,820.

In the intervening years, of course, the tax burden rose even higher, reaching a peak of $4,436,920 in 1930. Owners of large buildings, as an almost invariable rule, set aside out of the earnings of each year a reserve for the payment of that year's taxes, even though, as is the present case in Cook county, they do not have to be paid until nearly two years later.

Had the building owners followed the practice of the average small home owner, and waited to pay their 1930 tax bills, received in 1932, out of 1932 income, the increased tax burden would have wiped out all savings effected by economies in wages and other operating expenses.

What Building Managers Say.

The building owners' representatives, when they presented their survey to Assessor Jacobs, had this to say on behalf of it:

"These ninety properties are not handpicked. They belong to or are in the control of persons who responded to a general call for this type of information. Included in this list are many of the best properties in the downtown district, which are free from debt and in strong ownership.

"None of the highly speculative properties whose financial distress is a matter of common knowledge is included in these figures. They were not purposely excluded, but it can be readily understood that those in control of such properties do not give out financial statements voluntarily. The major portion of these ninety properties are located in the loop proper or on Michigan avenue.

No "Distress Properties."

"It must therefore be borne in mind that this income analysis reflects better than average conditions in the downtown district. It indicates the capacity of the best properties to pay taxes and has no relation to those distress properties whose financial difficulties would be a serious probelm regardless of any adjustment of taxes."

The assessed value of the properties in question is 18 per cent of the total valuations in the loop. The statement of the property owners to the assessor was an argument advanced in support of a plea for lower assessments. Since such a pleading, however, honestly prepared, might be suspected of some bias in favor of the property owners, members of Assessor Jacobs' staff were asked what criticism they might offer of it.

The most serious criticism, voiced by Walter R. Kuehnle, head of the land department in the assessors' office, was that the ratio of the land valuations to the building valuations of the properties concerned would indicate that the majority of them were properties put up at least before the tower type of skyscraper construction was permitted in Chicago.

"It is a generally recognized rule," the building representatives stated, "that imporved real estate is not profitable unless it yields a return of 5 per cent on the land and 8 per cent on the building. The following table is based on that assumption:

Gross income.....	$22,106,398	$15,251,240
Expenses [excluding interest and depreciation]	11,326,630	10,302,440
Net income.....	10,779,768	4,948,800
8% on buildings...	4,973,136	3,720,617
Balance of income.	5,806,631	1,228,182
Return on land...	5.2%	1.57%
Net return on total tax valuation.....	6.2%	3.96%

The valuations on which the returns for 1932 were figured were 25 per cent below those for 1928, reflecting the average drop in real estate assessments made in the 1931 reassessment.

Appraisals More Generous.

"It was customary during the building boom which reached its peak in 1928," said a building authority who inspected the figures, "to bond buildings up to 60 per cent of appraisals which were far more generous than were the 1928 assessment valuations.

"Let us assume that these properties had been bonded to 60 per cent of the assessor's valuation. To pay bond interest alone, on 6 per cent bonds, they would then have to earn 3.6 per cent on their valuation. Actually, the 1932 earnings for the group are only 2.85 per cent of that valuation. In such a case, not only would there be no income for the equity owner, but earnings would not suffice to pay interest on bond issues which, in the light of the buildings bonds which are now outstanding on many loop properties, would have been regarded as an exceptionally conservative and high grade investment."

NEW WALKOUT TIES UP WHEATON POSTOFFICE JOB

For the second time in two weeks work was halted yesterday on the new postoffice building at Wheaton when union laborers were called off by a business agent.

Only five laborers were on the job at the time, two of them being nonunion. Valentine Asquini of Chicago, who has the subcontract for the stone work, said he did not know the reason for the strike.

On Jan. 4 200 men drove four stone masons and six laborers from the postoffice and beat E. H. Jeschke, a labor foreman. The mob was said to be composed of idle building tradesmen and others of Du Page county. Their demonstration was against the hiring of outsiders. The builders agreed to hire local men and resumed work yesterday. The men on the job were Du Page county residents.

SCHOOL BUDGET HEARING ENDS IN AN UPROAR

public schools," but made no mention of reducing teachers' salaries as a means of balancing the budget to meet anticipated revenue.

Near the end of the hearing Trustee Savage rose to his feet and charged that the parents were "being misled by a lot of propaganda into an impression that reductions in the budget will endanger the education of their children."

Board Compelled to Save.

"Now if it comes to a question of salary reductions or retaining our education as it now is," said Mr. Savage, "I am going to vote for cutting the salaries of the teachers. We are dealing with a situation in which we will have only so much money to operate the school system."

Trustee Orville J. Taylor declared that every member of the school board would like to maintain the present salary schedules, but that the board did not control the revenue sources.

"In order to obtain money for salaries and operating expenses," said Mr. Taylor, "we must sell tax anticipation warrants to the banks. The banks won't act except on the advice of the citizens' committee. Our problem is to keep the schools open, and in order to do so we must spend the money as economically as possible."

Two Oppose Economy Moves.

"The board members realize the importance of educational opportunities," asserted Trustee Ernst Buehler, "but we also recognize the fact that we don't have the money we used to have."

A stand against salary cuts was taken by Trustee John A. English who contended that they amounted to "slashing a pound of flesh from the employés who, although unpaid, have kept the schools open."

James Mullenbach, a former member of the board of education, said he was in sympathy with the board in its problem, but opposed a cut in appropriations. He argued that the citizens' committee was "an extralegal body which has brought about a financial fascism by dictating to local governments."

Douglas Sutherland, secretary of the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency, declared one reason the school board is in a financial dilemma was the noncollection of taxes because of the "tax strike."

"The tax strike is anarchistic and vicious," said Mr. Sutherland, "and the smaller home owners are being misled and probably will have to pay through the nose."

Other speakers included Mrs. Holland Flagler and Mrs. Thomas B. Stephenson, parent-teacher leaders; Mrs. Harvey A. Tyler, president of the Chicago Parents' Public School association; Mrs. Ray Gibson, leader of a group of parents in the south shore district who want Hirsch Junior High school converted into a senior high; and Charles Stillman, president of the joint conference of principals and teachers.

Cut Down Expenses

City hall employés, who have gone without pay for four and one-half months, have formed cooperative luncheon groups to reduce the cost of food. A group of men employed in the water pipe extension division of the department of public works gathered yesterday for the noon meal on the vault floor of the hall. Each contributed a dime and appointed a member to purchase food for the group. Employés in the office of the corporation counsel also have adopted the plan.

TEACHERS TO ASK U. S. SENATE TO AMEND LOAN LAW

Three representatives of the Chicago school teachers will appear before the subcommittee of the senate committee on banking and currency next Thursday in Washington, it was announced yesterday, to urge the revision of the Reconstruction Finance corporation law so loans may be made to schools.

Miss Elizabeth Shoemaker, Harry L. Tate, and Miss Mary Leitch will make up the delegation. The committee, an outgrowth of the teachers' massmeetings of last summer, will support the bill of Senator Walter F. George of Georgia to amend the R. F. C. regulations so that the school districts may borrow money.

Miss Shoemaker said that the schools of the country need $500,000,000 and that the Chicago schools need $50,000,000.

LIBBY HOLMAN SPURNS RICHES FOR HER CHILD

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Contrary to claims put forward in her behalf, Libby Holman Reynolds will be content with a "comparatively modest" share in the $20,000,000 estate left by her husband, Smith Reynolds, tobacco fortune heir. Her father announced that here today.

It is the former Broadway torch singer's wish that the bulk of the fortune be devoted to "public uses" through endowments in memory of young Reynolds and his father.

Addresses Nation's Press.

That announcement was issued over the signature of Alfred Holman, the singer's father. It read:

"To the press of the country:

"Since you feel obligated to print something about $20,000,000 said to be the size of the deceased Smith Reynolds' [my daughter's late husband] patrimony, you may as well print the following:

"Mrs. Reynolds has offered to relinquish her child's right to the inheritance as far as she legally is able and her own share as widow, save a comparatively modest sum in each case [and these because she is now deprived of her earning power], hoping the remainder may be devoted to public uses through an endowment established in her late husband's and his father's memory.

Believes Others Will Agree.

"It is believed that the others interested will subscribe to such a program.

"It only remains to be suggested that while charity is a poor substitute for justice, since there is social injustice in our communal organization subscribers cannot but rejoice, as do Mrs. Reynolds' devoted mother and her fond sister and brother, that she has availed herself of the great privilege of trying to help her fellows trapped in a labyrinth of economic disorder, feeble though that help, by and large, must seem to be.

"Feelingly, ALFRED HOLMAN,
"Cincinnati, O.,
"Owl's Nest road,
"Wilmington, Del., 1-13-33."

Mr. Holman, who is staying at the temporary home of his daughter near here, sent his typewritten statement to the newspapers this afternoon.

Meanwhile a dispatch from Philadelphia bore the information that the son born to Mrs. Reynolds last Tuesday night had been removed to "another room" of the Pennsylvania hospital where it "can't be reached except with an acetylene torch."

JAIL RESIDENT OF LAKE FOREST OVER FOOD BILL

Fred L. Brown, 60 years old, who describes himself as a lumberman, was arrested at his home at 830 Waukegan road, Lake Forest, last night on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses.

He was taken to the county jail at Waukegan and ordered held until he furnished a nominal bail. While there a woman who identified herself as Mrs. Mary Clark, also of 830 Waukegan road, Lake Forest, drove up with her chauffeur. She tried unsuccessfully to have Brown released.

Brown was arrested on a warrant obtained by Abraham Gordon, a fruit and vegetable store owner of Waukegan, who told Justice of the Peace Harry Hoyt that during December he had sent $96 worth of goods to Brown's home. Brown has not paid the bill, he said. Gordon said Brown told him he was worth $52,000,000.

BOY CRIMINALS TO FACE GRAND JURY IN FUTURE

Judge Howard P. O'Connell in the Boys' court yesterday adopted a more severe attitude towards youthful offenders. He said from now on he would hold to the grand jury any boy who has begun a career of crime, whether he is a first offender or not.

The judge also said he would seek permission from Chief Justice Sonsteby of the Municipal court to forward complete records to the Criminal court of all youths sent there for trial. This has not been the practice in the past, and many youths have won leniency from Criminal court judges because their records were lacking, he said.

Four boys charged with attempted burglary and having no previous records were held to the grand jury in bonds of $2,500 each by Judge O'Connell yesterday. They are John Malick, 17 years old, 1825 Augusta street; Walter Ramus, 17 years old, 1026 North Ashland avenue; Joseph Zapel, 17 years old, 1041 North Wood street, and Frank Pacus, 17 years old, 2611 Armitage avenue.

AUTO THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 35; recovered, 77; stripped, 19 (from police records for the twenty-four hour period ending at midnight Thursday).

Automobile case defendants: Lee Durham sentenced to six months in the House of Correction for stealing an auto. Motion for probation to be heard Jan. 18. Nicky Myroda held to the grand jury for larceny of a car. Both cases befor Judge Harold P. O'Connell. A. Purlier Cobb held to the grand jury for larceny of an auto by Judge John Gutknecht.

Hijackers Kidnap Two; Steal 165 Cases of Eggs

Six armed men yesterday kidnaped Arthur Mentzel and Helmer Halvorson of Elkader, Ia., on Lake street highway near Wolf road intersection, and escaped with their truck loaded with 165 cases of eggs. The victims, who were on their way to Chicago, were ordered out of the truck near Bensonville. Later Du Page county authorities found the truck.

ASSEMBLY TO GET BILL TO CURTAIL ALIMONY ABUSES

May Compel Wife with Job to Support Family.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

A bill will be introduced at the present session of the legislature designed to remedy some of the defects in the antiquated divorce, separate maintenance, and alimony statutes of Illinois. Drafting of the new measure was begun yesterday.

The bill probably will be introduced in the house by State Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg, Republican floor leader, who expressed much interest in the proposed act and who will help frame its provisions. Mr. Schnackenberg said he would introduce the bill and fight for its adoption if his duties as minority leader were not to arduous. The bill will be introduced in the upper house by State Senator Richey V. Graham, leading Democrat and president pro tem. of the senate.

A flood of proposals for reforms in the law relating to alimony came from lawyers, judges and others interested in this problem, which is causing acute concern because low wages and unemployment have caused many husbands to fall into arrears on their payments to divorced wives.

May Alter Alimony Rules.

The method of awarding temporary alimony probably will be changed in the new measure. At present a divorce judge is called upon to consider 50 to to 60 petitions for temporary alimony, pending the disposition of the divorce suit, each morning during a period of two hours. The judges themselves concede that they cannot fix the proper amount to be allowed each wife when only a half minute can be devoted to each case.

At these short hearings, it is pointed out, the wife generally says her husband has a large income. The husband replies, denying that he is receiving such a salary or income and the judge is then called upon to determine immediately whether wife or husband or both are lying.

The statute may be altered in the new bill so that a definite limit is placed on the amount allowable to a woman as temporary alimony. Some provision may also be made so that a thorough investigation of the financial condition of the principals concerned will be possible before temporary alimony is allowed.

May Allow Moratorium.

Under the present law alimony payments pile up while the husband is in jail and when he finally serves six months for nonpayment of alimony he finds that he is much farther in arrears than before. The bill probably will provide a moratorium on alimony while a jail sentence is being served.

Abolition of alimony to a wife who has remarried also will be included in the new bill, it was said. This would eliminate the condition whereby a woman may be receiving alimony from two or more husbands at the same time.

Perhaps the greatest change in the new law will be a provision whereby an able bodied wife earning an income will be required to pay alimony for the support of her husband and her children if he is unable to work, and to share the responsibilities of the support of the family if he is working. Under this law the wife will share equally with the husband the responsibilities of the marriage just as she shares equally with him the right to vote and other civil privileges.

On Separate Maintenance.

The separate maintenance suit, called the greatest weapon of the professional alimony seeker by Judge Joseph Sabath and others, would virtually be abolished under an amendment to be offered. At present a wife, by suing for separate maintenance, may force a husband to make a large settlement to get a divorce or be compelled to pay for his wife's support for all his life without being permitted to remarry.

Under the proposed law separate maintenance would not last for more than two years. After the expiration of such a period a husband might go into court and get a divorce merely upon the representation that his wife had lived apart from him for two years.

Although agreeing that a judge should not have the power to send a penniless man to jail for nonpayment of alimony, the framers of the new law must approach this subject with caution. Mr. Schnackenberg suggested that the law might be amended to provide that a jail sentence might be imposed only for "willful" failure to pay alimony.

Waitress Describes Last Dinner of Bandmaster

Miss Pearl Wilson, 21 years old, 2854 Warren boulevard, a waitress at the Garfield Arms hotel, told police yesterday that she had served the dinner that Edwin O. Schildhauer, bandmaster of the Austin High school, ate before he was slain on the evening of Dec. 10.

Miss Wilson was questioned by Capt. John Stege, who is in charge of the inquiry. He wanted to know whether Schildhauer and his wife, Frances, appeared friendly on that occasion and also to establish the time the couple left the dining room.

Calls Bandmaster Handsome.

"Both were very jolly," Miss Wilson said. "I chatted with them throughout the meal. I asked if they were married and I told Mrs. Schildhauer I thought her husband was very handsome. They didn't eat all their steak and they had the remainder wrapped up to take home to their dog. It was nearly 8 o'clock when they left."

One witness had informed Capt. Stege that Schildhauer was angry at his wife that evening. The widow, however, insisted that she and her husband had become reconciled a few days before the murder.

A Secret Romance.

She had left home a few weeks before that following a spat over Carl Bradberry, former deputy sheriff, with whom, according to later admissions, she carried on a secret romance. Her husband had dropped his former intentions of suing for divorce, she said.

Another witness questioned yesterday was Grant Bruce, 17 years old, 3263 Fulton street, who said he had seen Schildhauer on the street the afternoon of Dec. 10. Mrs. Schildhauer had said her husband was home all that afternoon, although she had kept a tryst with Bradberry.

LAST OF "HOUSE DICKS" OUSTED AT MORTON HIGH

The eight remaining "house dicks" at the J. Sterling Morton High school in Cicero were discharged yesterday by P. R. Shelley, newly appointed temporary superintendent of the school. Shelley was appointed Wednesday to succeed Harry V. Church, who was removed by the school board.

The presence of the guards or "house dicks" employed by the board was one of the elements in the agitation that resulted in the removal of Mr. Church. Acting Superintendent Shelley dismissed the guards yesterday without consulting the school board.

"The board has given me complete control," he said. "The so-called house dicks are not necessary. The matter has been debated in classes and the students have registered their dislike for the adult guards. We will substitute fifty students, who will be selected according to their standing, to keep order in the halls."

Mrs. Jessie Woodrow Sayre Will Have Operation Today

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Jessie Woodrow Sayre, daughter of the late President Wilson, was admitted to Wyman house, Cambridge hospital, late today for an appendicitis operation. It will be performed tomorrow morning. Her husband, Francis B. Sayre, a Harvard professor and recently appointed state commissioner of correction, said her condition was not acute. She was in the care of Dr. Hilbert F. Day, Boston surgeon. She is secretary of the Democratic state committee.

BOY SKATER IS DROWNED WHEN THIN ICE BREAKS

One youth was drowned and his three companions narrowly escaped a similar fate when they tried to skate on the duck pond in the McCormick zoological gardens last night and broke through the thin ice. The zoo is near Brookfield.

The drowned boy was Edward Katonek, 18 years old, of 3125 Vernon avenue, Brookfield. With him were three other Brookfield boys, Charles Siroky, 19 years old, of 3235 Prairie avenue; Walter Jedlicka, also, 19, of 2720 Forest avenue, and William Utermark, 21, of 3227 Sunnyside avenue.

The four evidently climbed over or through the protective screen surrounding the zoo, and approached the lake. They moved out on the ice when it cracked. All plunged into the water. Siroky, Jedlicka, and Utermark, by helping each other, managed to climb safely to the edge of the ice. They could not find Katonek. Police Chief Edward O'Connor of Brookfield recovered the body.

A fight over custody of Katonek's body developed between two undertakers, William Gillespie, 3742 Grand boulevard, and James F. Mansfield of 3745 Grand boulevard, both of Brookfield. Mansfield is president of the Brookfield board. Chief O'Connor gave the case to Gillespie. Mansfield protested and later securing the approval of the Katonek family took charge of the body.

MAYOR FAVORS RATE CUT IN NEW TAXI ORDINANCE

Ald. John Toman [23d], chairman of the city council subcommittee on taxicabs, said yesterday that the drafting of a new taxicab ordinance would be started next week. On the issue of rates, Mayor Cermak said yesterday he believed that the existing rates of 25 cents for the first quarter mile and 10 cents for each additional one-half mile should be lowered. Several members of the subcommittee are known to be in agreement with the mayor on this.

The new ordinance is expected to settle the status of the cut rate cabs, some of which are operating under the name of the Republic Taxi Service company. A number of the company's drivers have been arrested by Lieut. James J. Killackey, secretary of the public vehicle license commission, on a charge that more cabs are being operated than the council permit warranted.

A bomb explosion early yesterday in the doorway of an apartment building at 3722 Ogden avenue, the home of Joseph J. Killackey, a city paving inspector, was believed at first to have had some connection with the arrests of the drivers. Last night Commissioner of Police Allman said he was convinced that there was no connection.

EX-WIFE DENIES JUDGE'S CHARGES IN ALIMONY CASE

When court action opens on Jan. 25 in the overdue alimony suit of Mrs. Grace Houston against her former husband, Municipal Judge Howard Hayes, testimony will disprove the judge's allegations that she has been an alimony profiteer, Mrs. Houston asserted yesterday. She charged that assertions made unofficially in court on Thursday by Judge Hayes were misrepresentations.

"To say that I have been receiving $600 monthly alimony from both my divorced husbands for years is sheer fabrication," she declared, in her attractive apartment at 1400 Lake Shore drive. "And it is equally untrue for them to say that I am trying to send Judge Hayes to jail. Why, that is just too common for words. No matter how far back he was in payments, it would never have occurred to me to try to send him to jail."

Allowance for Children.

Since her first divorce in 1911 from Sherman Houston, the only money paid over by Houston was for the support of their two minor children, Mrs. Houston asserted. She received no cash from him, she added, subsequent to her marriage to Judge Hayes, but as the stepfather of the children the judge received a check for $80 monthly from Houston for the children's board and room.

"When I was married to Judge Hayes the home we occupied and the furniture that furnished it were mine," she explained. "All he brought to it was his clothing—and his books. And Mr. Houston supported the boys and paid for their clothing, doctor bills, education, and the like.

"In 1918, when Judge Hayes and I were divorced, it was agreed that as long as his salary remained at $9,000 a year I would receive $225 a month. He has made no payments since last April, claiming his salary has been reduced to $7,500 a year. That's not true. Records in Judge Sonsteby's office show that he received checks for $389 twice each month up to August, when he got two checks for $416. He was one of those who resisted the judges' salary cut, and the cut cannot be made during this term of court.

Willing to Take Less.

"So the fact is that he was five months in contempt of court when I filed my petition to have him so declared, though he has not been paid since August. I am perfectly willing to take less when and if his income is reduced—I don't expect him to pay money he hasn't got. But he assured me to my face that he stopped the payments to force me into court and get a reduction."

And I don't want to crash crowded elevators or skip from shop to shop to assemble them. . . I live within my budget—but I can't stand the nervous strain of seams that might split at a crucial moment . . . So I simply board a north bound bus on Saturday afternoon and get off at Chestnut street at the very door of Saks-Fifth Avenue."

NOW is the time to try WANZER'S MILK

9¢ A QUART

. . . Let your family discover its rich flavor

• For 75 years the Wanzer Company has firmly adhered to its original fixed purpose—to supply Chicago families with the highest quality of milk and dairy products that could possibly be produced.

• At this time we again give you our pledge—under no circumstances will our high standards be lowered. We accept our responsibility with great seriousness. You shall have only the finest—the purest milk that can be offered.

• Three generations of Chicago families have recognized and appreciated the rich flavor of Wanzer's Milk. They are assured of its carefully selected sources—its scientific handling in our famous Sunlight Plant.

• At the present low price of 9¢ a quart you can give your family all the good, rich milk they want—give them more milk and still keep your food budget down. See that your children drink several glasses of Wanzer's Milk a day. It will make sturdier, happier children of them.

• Use milk freely for drinking and in your cooking to supply the surplus energy your family needs (adults as well as children) to keep fit during this cold, raw weather. Tell your Wanzer man that from now on you want him to leave an extra quart or two a day.

• If you don't know the delicious flavor of Wanzer's Milk, we suggest that you step to your telephone. Call Boulevard 7900. Say that you want to try Wanzer's Milk. Service will start immediately.

OVER 75 YEARS OF WANZER SERVICE TO CHICAGO HOMES

CASH PAYMENT HALTS $500,000 GRAHAM SUIT

and charged me some interest, and to get the loans and the interest he had me sign over my rights in the annuity from the insurance company," she said. "It seems that he collected $500 and gave me back $250 a month. But why all this figuring?"

It was indicated that her attorneys would throw a legal football back to Poet Markham and the others and demand that they tell what she owed the annuity money for."

Plans Other Actions.

Admitting that she felt greatly pleased over the outcome of the suit, Mrs. Anderson said she intended to remain in Chicago to prosecute a $250,000 libel suit she has filed against Graham. There is another suit for $250,000 pending against the architect in New York, and she and her attorneys declared that the settlement yesterday would not interfere with either of these actions.

Figures produced in the Superior and federal courts during the day showed that Mrs. Anderson had been costly to Graham. It was alleged that he had paid her apartment rent and $30,000 a year besides in New York for several years, while the Canada Life Assurance annuity, bought for her in 1927 and due to continue to 1934, required a lump payment of $36,660. It was figured that, up until the settlement of yesterday, he had paid probably more than $100,000 to Mrs. Anderson.

Three Attorneys Represent Her.

In the federal court case Mrs. Anderson is represented by Attorneys Kelly and Clarence A. Snyder. The opening statement in the conspiracy case yesterday was handled by Attorney Leo G. Hana.

"In 1916," he said, "Mrs. Anderson met Graham in New York. At that time he was married and she was a grass widow, having been divorced from James Anderson for two years. She came from a distinguished Louisiana family. Her father had been a plantation owner. She was talented and gifted and the author of several books.

Critic for Newspapers.

"She was a critic for several New York newspapers, and in addition enjoyed an income of $20,000 to $25,000 a year from her parents' estate. On meeting Graham they fell in love. So violently enamored were they that Graham maintained her for years in a luxurious apartment and lavished wealth upon her.

"He openly boasted that he was worth more than $20,000,000. He paid the rent on her apartment and gave her an average of $30,000 a year. He was married at the time, but his wife was an invalid and he anticipated her death. He told Mrs. Anderson all this and promised her that for her love, attention and time he would marry her."

In 1925, the attorney said, Graham's wife died, and his attentions to Mrs. Anderson began to cool. In the same year he married Mrs. Ruby Leffingwell in Chicago.

"This was a shock to Mrs. Anderson," Attorney Hana said. "She broke down physically and grieved and was seeing the future through a veil of tears."

She Goes to Paris.

Mrs. Anderson asserted her claim in 1926, the attorney said, and Graham paid her $30,000. She went to Paris, returned in 1927, and asked Graham to live up to his agreement to maintain her. The attorney said that she was given $11,000 in cash and an annuity bond which was to pay her $500 a month for seven years. A condition of the bond, the attorney said, was that Mrs. Anderson was not to go to Chicago or New York, where Graham had offices.

Her funds exhausted in 1928, Mrs. Anderson returned to Chicago and asked that Graham change the condition of the annuity bond so that she might borrow money against it. Graham refused, Attorney Hana said, but gave her $25,000.

Another agreement in 1927 gave her $300 a month for life, starting in 1934, Attorney Hana said. In April, 1929, she again returned to Chicago and sought to have the second bond changed so that she could borrow on it.

McGuire made his appearance in the case at this time, Attorney Hana said, and offered her $3,500 from Graham. She refused, and McGuire used abusive language in trying to force her to take the money, the attorney added.

Attorney Quotes Detective.

"'It's my job to force you to get out,'" Attorney Hana quoted McGuire as telling his client. "'I'll make things so hot for you that you'll wish you had gotten out. I'll shadow you and watch you and make people think you're a criminal. I'll break you physically and financially. You'll get no rest day or night.'

"She was trailed every day. When she went to the movies two shadows always sat beside her and followed her wherever she moved. They telephoned her at night. She moved to the Fairfax hotel in New York. She recognized the two shadows and tried to dodge them. One day she saw one of them talking to the manager of the hotel and the next day she was asked to leave."

William C. Graves, attorney for Graham, called the suit a "gigantic conspiracy" in his opening statement. He denied that Graham had hired any one to shadow Mrs. Anderson.

The suit was characterized as "pure fiction in some one's mind" by Attorney Robert Holt, counsel for McGuire.

Mrs. Anderson came to Chicago, made a final settlement with Graham, and lauded and praised the architect, Attorney Holt said.

"Then she became a constant and persistent beggar," the attorney declared. "Just like a cat that once caught a mouse at a certain hole, the cat returned and watched that same hole for more mice."

Mrs. Anderson a Witness.

Mrs. Anderson, clad in a black ensemble, hat and coat, took the witness stand in the morning and answered the questions of her attorney in a low voice. She said that she was born in Mississippi in March, 1886. All her life she had been used to luxury, she testified.

While attending the conservatory of music in Cincinnati she met James McCulloch Anderson and later married him, the witness said. She divorced Anderson in May, 1914, and took up writing commercially. Among her published works, Mrs. Anderson said, were "Love Letters of a Mystic," "Shadows," and "Old Fashioned Days."

She described her first meeting with Graham in 1916 in New York City.

"He was most attractive and quite devoted," she said. "He was very fond of dancing and although he was not a young man he danced beautifully. We went dancing many times."

"Did he ever make love to you?" her attorney interrupted.

"Yes," Mrs. Anderson replied. "The next year—in the early part. Then all through 1917 and 1918 he sent me letters and telegrams. The things one usually does when one is in love."

Q.—Did you know he was married at the time A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you have any conversation about the marriage? A.—Yes, he said that he admired his wife, but that they were temperamentally different and that he wasn't happy with her. He said that we would get married after things were different. We even selected Switzerland for our honeymoon.

His Attentions Cool.

The witness said that Graham was paying her expenses, and rent, and giving her about $20,000 a year. She then said that Graham's attentions began to cool and she read of his marriage. She corroborated the opening statement of her attorney with testimony as to the monetary arrangements with Graham.

During her testimony she reported the following conversation with McGuire the detective:

"He said that I could be made to suffer through my son. I said: 'I don't understand; could he be kidnaped or harmed?'

"McGuire said: 'He's 17 now and going around with girls. Something could come up and the father of some girl could come to a detective agency and ask who is Newton Anderson? And he would be told that he is the son of Mrs. Alma Anderson, who blackmailed Ernest Graham.'"

Judge McWilliams ordered an adjournment at noon although Mrs. Anderson asked to be allowed to continue. As Mrs. Anderson left the courtroom, she was heard to remark that she "must see the doctor." The consultation in the judge's chambers was called on her return.

The Complainant Rests.

When court reconvened Attorney Hana announced that "because of developments" the complainant would not be recalled to the stand and that he rested his case. Attorney Holt then made the formal motion for a directed verdict, which was not opposed, and the jury signed the formal document finding the two defendants not guilty.

Last night, as she sat with friends and her 22 year old son, Newton Anderson, in the Croydon hotel Mrs. Anderson was asked if she had recovered from the illness that forced her to retire from the courtroom.

"I'll tell you a secret," she said. "I wasn't sick at all. I just wanted a cigaret and a cocktail."

AL SMITH DECLINES POST TO STUDY STATE REGULATION OF RUM

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—The chairmanship of Gov. Lehman's proposed commission to study state liquor regulation has been offered to Alfred E. Smith, but he has informed the governor that his many other duties will make it impossible to accept.

The commission would prepare for the situation contingent on congress' passage of a beer bill and a repeal measure.

While it is thought probable that at some point in the investigation to be launched the former governor's advice may be sought and that he may be asked to appear at some hearing to discuss a subject in which he is known to be greatly interested, Mr. Lehman will now be compelled to look elsewhere for a chairman.

BARGAIN PRICES AWAIT TODAY'S FOOD SHOPPER

Dollar Goes Farther than a Week Ago.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Housewives on the alert for week-end grocery bargains will be rewarded this morning as they scan the lists of last minute price declines in loop and neighborhood food stores.

Almost overnight the markets of Chicago and suburbs have reflected the drop in the butter and egg markets that has been under way the last few days. Yesterday's continued decline in wholesale prices of fine creamery butter and fresh country eggs of ½@1½ cents today makes possible the retail bargains of 20 to 22 cents a pound for fine butter and 27½ to 35 cents a dozen for fresh eggs.

Comparing these prices with those of a fortnight ago thrifty shoppers will see that butter today is 3 to 5 cents a pound less; eggs 4 to 8 cents a dozen lower.

Oranges Lowest in Years.

Those replenishing the family larder will find juicy Florida oranges selling at the lowest prices in years, medium sized, thin skinned ones costing only 19 to 23 cents a dozen. Fine California navel oranges, for salads or the table centerpiece, cost only 27 to 30 cents a dozen. Small oranges are as low as 2 dozen for 29 cents.

The gulf state growers are sending grapefruit to market at the new low prices of 3 large ones for 19 cents, or 3 medium sized ones for 15 cents. The bargain hunter will find Jonathan apples selling as low as 4 pounds for 17 cents.

The thrifty provisioner will find it possible to extend her shopping list to include a wider variety of edibles today than she could have done with the same amount of money a week or a month ago.

Soup Four for a Quarter.

Tall cans of vegetable or tomato soup are to be found priced at four for a quarter. A wide variety of low priced vegetables fresh from the gardens of Texas and Louisiana also tempt one to make a supper with a pot roast that can be bought for 7 to 10 cents a pound.

Pound loaves of white bread, sliced or unsliced and sealed in waxed paper, sell for 5 to 10 cents a loaf. In the assortment are whole wheat, rye, Swedish, and caraway seeded breads.

Bakers report a decided increase in the use of toast for breakfasts since the ready sliced breads have come in vogue, yet many housewives will be asked by their husbands to serve pancakes tomorrow morning. A package of flour ready for adding milk or water and beating into batter costs only a few cents.

Bacon on Bargain List.

Bacon also is on the bargain list today. The well known brands of sliced bacon wrapped in half pound packages sell at 2 for 15 cents. Slabs of lean streaked, cured bacon are offered at 10 to 14 cents a pound. And big sugar cured hams are priced at 9½ cents a pound.

When it comes to meat for the Sunday dinner, the markets will afford plenty of dressed poultry, roasts, or steaks at prices less than half those of two years ago. Spring chickens, for instance, are to be had for 23 to 25 cents a pound, and roasting chickens at 16 to 21 cents.

Sirloin steaks may be purchased in a range of 21 to 27 cents a pound, leg of lamb at 21 cents, and spare ribs for 5 cents a pound.

Or if the family appetite leans toward baked beans and pork in the wintry days six one pound cans may be purchased for a quarter. Tall cans of pink Alaska salmon are on sale at three cans for 25 cents.

From Southern Gardens.

The shopper will find mushrooms, cucumbers, rhubarb, hothouse tomatoes, and cauliflower on the market. There also are strawberries from Florida, pineapples fresh from Cuba, and alligator pears. All of these comparatively luxury foods are less than half their former values, the pineapples bringing 25 to 29 cents each, the berries priced at two pint boxes for 29 cents, and mushrooms 25 to 35 cents a pound carton.

A peculiar development of the banana market calls for a word of caution in market purchases. Due to weather variations some of the banana shipments were chilled and have ripened with a grayish green coloring instead of the normal spotted yellow. This to some extent has marred the flavor of the bananas, but by watching for the golden yellow fruit with brownish specks or streaks good flavored bananas may be found.

WHY PICK ON ME? 'MOST BEAUTIFUL BOOKIE' DEMANDS

Mrs. Evangeline Brandt is a coolly poised young woman of 22 with steady blue eyes who was labeled "the most beautiful bookie" by court attachés when she was arraigned before Judge Joseph Graber in Women's court yesterday on a charge of operating a gambling game.

After obtaining a continuance of her case until next Thursday and returning to her little "real estate office" at 6417 Irving Park boulevard. Mrs. Brandt made no bones about her occupation. "Sure, I'm a bookie," she said. "But why pick on me? There are scads of them in Chicago, dozens of them right in this district. Why shouldn't a woman take race bets? If you ask me I think women make the best bookmakers."

Capt. Willare Malone of the Irving Park police said he believed that Mrs. Brandt, whose home is at 3720 North New England avenue, operated the book for a loop syndicate.

Hungary Condemns Woman to Hang for Two Murders

SZEGEDIN, Hungary, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Victoria Rieger, 50, was convicted of murder today and was sentenced to be hanged. The state charged she was retained by two women to murder their husbands, and that she hanged them to rafters in their own barns and then assisted in making it appear that the deaths were suicides. The two other women were sentenced to terms ranging from six years to life.

MRS. ODGEN REID FINDS WOMEN SHOP FOR FOOD IN A.M.

New York, Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Results of a survey to determine the relative advantages of morning and afternoon newspapers for advertisers of food and similar household commodities were described today by Mrs. Ogden Reid, vice president of the New York Herald Tribune. She addressed the advertising club of the New York Times.

Conducted by an outside agency under the auspices of the Herald Tribune, the survey was centered in Garden City, L. I.; Glen Ridge, N. J., and Larchmont, Westchester county. Mrs. Reid said the figures had been completed for Garden City, and that the results there had shown an important relationship between morning newspaper advertising and purchases by women buyers.

Detailed figures for Garden City showed that of 1,421 morning papers, 859 were delivered in 766 homes, that 281 of the women from whom information was obtained read morning papers brought home by members of their families at night and that 168 bought morning papers at news stands. The comparable figures on 2,225 evening newspapers showed that 357 were delivered, that 1,035 women had papers brought home, and that 104 bought them at news stands.

As to reading on trains, 525 women reported that they bought morning papers to read when journeying to the city in the forenoon. The comparable evening paper figure was 183.

In an effort to obtain information bearing on the question of newspaper influence, the survey sought replies on shopping and meal planning habits and on the influence of men in determining household purchases. Of the women interviewed, 1,034 said that they did their food shopping in the morning, 1,193 that they planned their in the morning and 990 that they based their selections on preferences expressed by the man of the house.

Mrs. Reid's talk dealt also with the many competitions to evening newspaper reading offered by the theater, bridge, and other social activities.

RUSSIAN "DIET" MEETS IN CZAR'S OLD THRONE ROOM

MOSCOW, Jan. 13.—(AP)—In the gorgeous white gold throne room of former czars in St. Andrew's hall of the Kremlin palace soviet Russia's parliamentary season was ushered in tonight. It was the opening of the regular session of the central executive committee of the Russian Socialist Federation of Soviet Republics to approve the conduct of the republics' affairs since the last meeting, and to ratify plans for 1933.

About 300 delegates, many of whom included men and women in the native costume of distant provinces, sat stolidly in straight rows of wooden desks while speakers droned out voluminous reports on claimed accomplishments and their intentions for the future. The workers, peasants and a few uniformed soldiers, comprising the membership of the central executive committee, furnished a strange contrast to their surroundings in their plain and often coarse dress, relieved now and then by the spots of color of the native costumes and uniforms.

Tonight's proceedings were opened by Michael Kalinin, president of the central executive committee of the Russian Socialist Federation of Soviet Republics, as well as of the central executive committee of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, who introduced the main speaker, Daniel Sulimov, president of the council of people's commissars of the Russian Socialist Federation of Soviet Republics. The main speaker delivered a report on the results of the five year plan and plans for 1933 and national economy.

Chicagoan's White Leghorn Wins Grand Champion Title

HORNER CALLS MINE OPERATORS IN PARLEY TODAY

Quiet Reigns in Coal Area Following Truce.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Gov. Henry Horner went ahead today with his effort to straighten out the coal miners' union war in Christian county and put an end to bloodshed in this section of the state.

Having completed last night an armistice which brought immediate results, according to reports from Taylorville and elsewhere in the troubled section, he immediately began arrangements for a conference tomorrow with spokesmen for the mine operators. For that purpose he invited officials of the Illinois Coal Operators' association to meet with him in his office.

Will Take Up Another Angle.

"I want to take up with them another angle of the situation that has been suggested to me might produce help in the situation," he said, but he declined to say just what that angle is.

"Our work that wound up late last night," he said, "apparently has been of benefit, but there still is a great deal to be done and tomorrow this conference will take up one of those things."

The governor said there probably would be no announcement of the result of his talk with the operators, indicating that whatever fruit it bore would be something that would be useful in efforts for further negotiations.

It had been suggested here that the goal of Gov. Horner's labors might be the consolidation of the United Mine Workers and the Progressive Mine Workers, the two warring unions, but he said that had not been taken up definitely, although representatives of the two hostile forces met with him for hours yesterday. It still is considered one of the possibilities of the situation.

Spends Sunday in Chicago.

"In the meantime," he said, "both organizations and the officials of Christian county and its municipalities are standing by the agreement and there is widespread confidence that this situation will prevail at least long enough to give us a breathing spell before we start active negotiations again.

"All the reports that come to me agree that conditions in the mining district are satisfactory. There is no picketing. The agreement as to the disarmament of special officers of the law has been carried out, and the National Guard is handling the situation quietly and smoothly."

Gov. Horner will go to Chicago tomorrow evening to spend Sunday in conferences there, but he will be back at his desk on Monday and may resume his peace making efforts as soon as he returns.

Military Enforce Law.

Taylorville, Ill., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Military police headquarters in Taylorville, Kincaid and Tovey today took over the job of enforcing the law in the Midland coal field as a result of Gov. Horner's conference last night with leaders of the United Mine Workers, Progressive Miners, officials of Christian county, Taylorville and the four Midland towns.

Sheriff Charles Wieneke called in all his deputy sheriff commissions and stars and many deputies also are turning in their firearms.

SECRET SIX TRAP JUST A SALUTE, JAMIE EXPLAINS

Defends His Bomb at County Meeting.

Denial that the public was endangered by the unsuccessful crime trap of the Secret Six, which involved a spectacular pyrotechnical display in the forest preserve, was made yesterday by Alexander Jamie, a former prohibition agent who is the director of the crime detecting agency. He appeared before the public service committee of the county board to answer charges that a bomb had been set off without the consent of forest preserve officials.

The charges grew out of the attempt of the Secret Six detectives to trap an extortionist who had been sending threatening letters to Solomon A. Smith, Chicago banker. The bomb was planted in a tree stump and detectives waited in a shanty 100 feet away. The suspect entered the trap on New Year's eve, but fled before he could be captured after the fireworks had gone off according to schedule.

Kasper Questions Jamie.

The inquiry was opened by County Commissioner Frank J. Kasper.

"Why did you put this bomb in the forest preserve, just 100 feet from the Riverside-Brookfield High school" he asked Jamie. "You should have protected the children. You should have put up a bond for injury to persons or property."

"It was just a Fourth of July salute," said Jamie. "I don't really consider that there was a bomb placed in the forest preserve. In fact, there was none."

He then launched into a discussion of the facts that led to the placing of the fireworks.

"Any one on this board might get a package in the mail," he said, "and it might be a bomb. You would be seriously injured when you opened it. The Secret Six had nothing to work on except a letter demanding $8,000. The letter directed that the money be placed in the stump. After the third letter we decided to do something. The stump was a difficult place to watch at the best, and we had to watch it in the darkness. We devised the plan of having the flashlight go off and having a little detonation to tell us that the package was gone. Then we determined to close in on our prey."

"And suppose some small boy had pulled that string," Commissioner Kasper interrupted. "It would have injured his eyesight."

Says Trap Was Concealed.

"Well, we had the thread of the trap concealed under a leaf. The package was so hidden that only the criminal or one of our investigators could have found it. The fireworks were there only from 5:30 until 10:30 on New Year's eve."

"I move we have a complete report of the matter submitted to the board by the superintendent of the forest preserve." Commissioner Kasper said

Motion for a new trial in the malicious prosecution suit in which William S. Kuhn Jr. was awarded $30,000 damages by a jury was continued yesterday until Jan. 27 by Judge Peter M. Schwaba. The delay was granted to allow the judge and attorneys for Kuhn to study a brief of 200 pages filed by the defense.

The verdict was directed against Alexander Jamie, chief investigator of the Secret Six; Edgar Dudley, a former operative of the Secret Six; William Van Doren Wright, steel company executive, and Dr. Ferdinand Watzek of Vienna, criminologist. The suit grew out of the arrest of Kuhn on a charge that he had written extortion letters to Miss Marion Wright, daughter of the defendant. The charge was nol prossed in court. Kuhn asked damages on the grounds that prosecution was started against him in spite of the fact that Jamie, Wright, and other defendants had been warned not to proceed on the evidence they had.

The brief filed by defense attorneys held that the verdict of $30,000 was excessive and contrary to the evidence. The court also erred, the brief held, in not allowing the defense "to show the general character of Kuhn in reference to his propensity for intoxicating liquors."

HOLLAND RENEWS DRAINING ZUYDER ZEE TO AID IDLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Jan. 13.—The Dutch are a pessimistic people, inclined to worry, and cautious towards everything calculated to bind them, even in the slightest degree, to the future.

This typical hesitation bound them for a long time while they were considering the Zuyder Zee reclamation project. But now that the work has been undertaken they are clinging to it with characteristic tenacity, even at a time when it is extremely difficult to carry it out.

Project of Dual Nature.

Some time ago the government intimated that it wished to abandon further diking and drainage. The project is of a dual nature. The first part consists of constructing a heavy sea dike shutting off the Zuyder Zee from the North sea. This wall must serve eventually to protect the polders [reclaimed land] and the provinces encircling the Zuyder Zee from floods.

The second stage consists of erecting smaller dikes inside the large one. These will divide the reclaimed land into four huge sections, which must then be drained.

The big dike was completed last summer, and the automobile road running along its surface is almost finished. More important still, one of the polders on the northwest is already under cultivation, yielding crops of all kinds where seaweed grew last year.

The government then shrank from finishing the work on the northeastern polder. The project was estimated to cost $58,000,000, whereas the land reclaimed was valued at only $32,000,000. This meant that the remaining $26,000,000 would have to come from the national treasury.

Cabinet Alters Decision.

The government's statement created general consternation, not so much because of Dutch indifference to expenditure of public funds but through general reluctance to see the work halted, even temporarily.

The minister of state and Dr. Colyn former minister of finance, is chiefly responsible for the governments decision to carry on the work. The cabinet has announced that it will consider proposals for further drainage. The new undertaking will go a long way towards solving the unemployment problem.

CALL 12 STATES' LEADERS HERE TO FIGHT TAX WASTE

Meeting to Stress Abolition of "Pork Barrel."

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Abolition of the federal "pork barrel" and immediate cuts in the cost of government as steps toward business recovery will be the theme at a conference of business leaders from twelve middle west states, to be held Jan. 26 in Chicago. The economic congress was called yesterday by George W. Rossetter, general chairman of the National Organization to Reduce Public Expenditures.

The chief object is to organize taxpaying citizens in the heart of the continent in the drive to demand that congress balance the budget at the present short session by chopping down expenses instead of new taxes.

Rainey Gives Drive Impetus.

The recent declaration of Congressman Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, Democratic leader in the house, that the budget can be balanced without adding more taxes, except a tax on beer; that the people can stand no higher taxation, and that for congress to vote new taxes would be "to invite revolution," has given momentum to the movement in the last week.

Among those invited to attend the cut cost of government congress Jan. 26 are Conrad H. Mann of Kansas City, John L. Barchard of Milwaukee, B. B. Sheffield of Minneapolis, James W. Hubbell of Des Moines, William Wilson of Sioux Falls, Charles C. Gilbert of Nashville, Tenn.; J. C. Beukema of Muskegon, Mich.; Frank B. McMillan of Columbus, J. E. Frederick of Indianapolis, J. G. Aldrich of Lincoln, Neb.; W. B. Belknap of Goshen, Ky., and Walter W. Williams, president of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce.

All of the twelve are chairmen for their respective states in the National Organization to Reduce Public Expenditures, representing thousands of the prominent commercial, agricultural, and industrial figures.

Pledge Candidates to Economy.

During the recent campaign the N. O. R. P. E. canvassed candidates for congress and many signed up for a reduction of at least 750 million dollars in federal expenditures, with a further promise that they would not permit partisan bickerings over ways and means to stand in the way of such reductions.

The taxpaying public has been urged by the N. O. R. P. E. to write their present congressman demanding action at once, without waiting for March, and for the guidance of citizens THE TRIBUNE in the last six days has published congressional maps —by 1930 districts—of Cook county, downstate Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Iowa, and Michigan.

The Illinois Association of Commerce yesterday swung into the movement to enlist manufacturers in the west in the campaign. The Illinois Chamber of Commerce officials repeated that if depression is to be shaken off bureaucracy at Washington must be curbed.

At Bloomington Tuesday similar views were expressed by the Illinois Taxpayers' association at a meeting of delegates from thirty-one counties.

Would Discard "Pork Barrel."

That the sentiment demonstrated in Illinois is gaining force in other states is reflected in reports received by Mr. Rossetter. Utah taxpayers are urged to "roll the pork barrel into the sea" in order that the federal budget may be cut to tax income possibilities, as reflected in an appeal circulated by A. C. Rees, secretary of the Utah Taxpayers' association. It reads in part:

"The contribution which the people of Utah can make to a balanced federal budget will be to accept willingly our proportion of the reduction in federal appropriations, and not to enter protest when congress decides to limit appropriations in which Utah is the beneficiary.

"The consistency of taxpayers will be reflected in the nature of their response to this nation-wide appeal."

From C. A. Jay, state chairman of the N. O. R. P. E. in Texas, came a statement reading: "We have received definite assurance from most of the members of congress, and both senators from Texas, that every possible cooperation is being given to secure immediate reductions in the federal budget of at least one billion dollars."

C. L. Ferris, executive secretary of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, yesterday reiterated his assertions that the cost of government must be reduced if the country is to shake off the depression.

Taxes Hamper Employment.

James L. Donnelly, executive vice president Illinois Manufacturers' association:

"The aggressive efforts of THE TRIBUNE to develop support for the program of Congressman Rainey to balance the budget by slashing unnecessary expenditures is constructive and commendable.

"Every person should understand that the imposition of additional taxes of any kind on productive industry in its present condition will seriously impair the ability of employers to supply jobs, thus increasing unemployment and retarding business recovery."

GRAVE TASKS CONFRONT U. S. AS 1933 OPENS

[Article eleven of a series presenting the country's cost and revenue.]

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—When is the economizing going to begin?

This is the question still being asked as congress continues to vote four billion dollar a year budgets.

For the fiscal year 1932 the total expenditures rose to $5,006,590,805 as a result of extraordinary outlays on the Reconstruction Finance corporation and other measures of depression relief. For the fiscal year 1933 the appropriations aggregated at the close of the last session of congress $4,149,627,304 and this total is now being swelled by deficiency appropriations in process of passage at this session.

The radical reduction in the cost of the federal government, demand for which has been voiced almost daily in and out of congress for the last two years, has not materialized. Congress has balked at knocking a billion dollars out of the budget by cutting down the bureaucracy now numbering 700,000 persons and curtailing the multitudinous paternalistic, subventionary and regulatory activities of the central government.

Only cheese paring of the expenditures has been accomplished up to date. The bigger and better economy like prosperity, is still around the corner. There will be nothing done in the way of radical retrenchment, it now appears, until after March 4, when the Democrats come into power with their pledge to reduce the cost of the federal government 25 per cent, about 1 billion dollars.

In the name of employment for the idle and other forms of depression relief, the pork barrel has been swelled to unprecedented proportions. For the construction of postoffices and other government buildings, there is being expended this fiscal year $212,638,850, compared with $95,989,150 in 1932.

The federal hand out to the states for construction of highways this year is $234,982,110. Last year it was $207,860,879. For the improvement of rivers and harbors, $91,447,600 is being spent this year as against $78,421,931 last year. Flood control is taking $49,540,000, a boost from the 1932 figure of $29,740,212.

Although repudiated by the people prohibition is still taking 65 millions of the taxpayers' money for enforcement while the treasury is out a billion dollars annually of potential liquor tax revenue. The county agents, housekeeping instructors, experimental stations, farmers' bulletins and a multitude of other so-called aids to agriculture are costing $50,873,287 this year, a reduction of only four millions from last year. The only substantial reduction of a subsidy is that to the merhant marine, which is $52,465,464 this year compared with $102,773,956 in 1932.

For promotion and regulation of commerce and industry, the appropriation this year is $23,636,483. Aviation lines receive a subsidy of $10,265,213. The promotion and regulation of land transportation takes $9,789,860, of labor interest, $6,736,635; of public health, $20,247,555; of public education, $16,227,961; of fisheries, $1,976,020.

Despite the increased postal rates, the postal service deficit this year is estimated at 155 millions, a decrease of 48 millions from last year. Political patronage accounts for wasteful expenditures in the postoffice department variously estimated at from 25 to 100 millions. The chief extravagance is the politically important rural free delivery service, with 44,000 carriers, costing 106 millions this year. Consolidation of the routes which were laid out in horse and buggy days would save 25 millions, it is estimated.

The expenditures this year on veterans top 900 millions, $462,154,554 of which represent pork barrel extravagance. Of the latter amount 109 millions go to Spanish war veterans for disabilities not incurred in military service, $104,277,554 to world war veterans under the act of July 3, 1930, giving "disability allowance" to men not disabled in war service, 125 millions to world war veterans for "disability compensation" not service connected, and 7 millions of like character to retired emergency officers. In addition the National Economy league estimates that 30 millions could be saved in the administration of the veterans bureau, 39 millions in hospitalization by removing nonwar cases, $12,877,000 by eliminating new hospitals, and 25 millions in unjustified payments on lapsed military and naval insurance.

COMMERCE CHIEF SAYS: UNWISE TO BOOST TAXES NOW

Prune Government Costs, Advises Proctor.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Vigorous opposition to a tax boost at the current short session of congress was expressed before the directors of the United States Chamber of Commerce today by Redfield Proctor, former governor of Vermont and chairman of the chamber's committee on federal taxation.

The former governor asserted that the 1934 budget should be balanced at once through reductions in the cost of operating the huge governmental machine. He asserted that an added reduction in government costs over last year of 800 million dollars would keep the government out of the red in 1934, even if the beer and gasoline taxes were not made effective for that year.

Discussing the Democratic proposal for increasing income taxes to raise 200 millions, Mr. Proctor said that such legislation would be unwise at this time. He added also the opinion that current taxes were too onerous to be wisely continued much longer.

Revenue Plans Recede.

Although the administration recommended revenue increases through reenactment of the gasoline tax and the passage of a manufacturers' tax, no indications have yet appeared in congress that such legislation will actually be passed this session. The flurry following the Roosevelt-congressional meeting in New York last week had completely died down in the capital today.

"Increases in the rate of income taxes or other taxes now being levied, or the addition of a manufacturers' sales tax, or other new forms of new levies, with the possible exception of a beer tax, in the present short session, are unwarranted," Mr. Proctor said. "Instead, economies should be effected.

"My committee emphasizes the onerous character of present taxes, expecially the excise taxes and the increased corporate income tax, and urges economies which will make possible early reduction of some or all of the emergency levies in the revenue act of 1934."

Files a Report.

"In the current fiscal year," states a report filed by Mr. Proctor as chairman, "ending June 30, 1933, a deficit in excess of a billion dollars, which must be financed through borrowings, appears inescapable.

"On the basis of the estimates of receipts and expenditures for the next fiscal year, ending June 30, 1934, which are now before congress, the country is faced with the prospect of a deficit of some few hundreds of millions of dollars in that year.

"The receipts under existing laws are estimated at $2,949,000,000, leaving a prospective deficit, under the executive estimates, or not less than 307 million dollars.

"A deficit in 1934 of any amount, whether more or less than the above mentioned 307 millions, should not be allowed to occur and steps should be taken in the present short session of congress to bring the budget of that year into balance without the incurrence of new debt on account of ordinary expenditures."

INCOME TAX LAW AND DEMANDS ON YOU EXPLAINED

Below is the third of a series of ten concise articles on the income tax prepared for THE TRIBUNE. The articles explain provisions of the new income tax law, known as the revenue act of 1932, under which income tax returns are to be filed in March.

BY WILLIS NANCE.

Changes on Returns for 1932.

Taxpayers having a net income of $5,000 or more from salaries or wages, or receiving income from a business, profession, rents, or sale of property, should file their returns on form 1040 [large form], while taxpayers having smaller incomes should file on form 1040A [small form].

In case a husband and wife elect to file separate returns and their combined net income is $5,000 or over, each should make a return on form 1040 [large form], although the net income of one may be less than $5,000.

The forms of returns for individual taxpayers [forms 1040 and 1040A] for 1932 have been changed somewhat from the same forms used in prior years.

On the upper part of form 1040 [large form] an entirely new question [9] has been added, and the taxpayer is required to state whether his books are kept on the cash or accrual basis. This may appear confusing to many at first, but it should be remembered that in the case of the great majority of individual taxpayers the answer to the question will be "cash." If you do not keep books or, if you do, and report as income only those items received by you and show as deductions only those items paid out by you during the taxable year, you are filing your return on the "cash" basis.

Generally speaking, only those taxpayers who conduct an individual business, necessitating the carrying of inventories, and who have large accounts receivable and accounts payable on their books, report their income on the "accrual" basis.

Question 8 at the top of form 1040 and question 6 on form 1040A have also been broadened to conform to the change in the new revenue act and require taxpayers to state the date and nature of any change which occurred during the year in his status with respect to dependents.

The lower part of form 1040, relating to the computation of the tax has been divided into only two columns instead of three as in former years. This is because the earned income credit has been eliminated beginning with 1932, and it is no longer necessary to devote a column to the computation of earned income credit.

Further "changes on returns for 1932" will be discussed in the next article.

SANITARY BOARD BLAMES TROUBLE ON TAX STRIKE

Financial difficulties resulting from taxpayers' strikes were given yesterday by the sanitary district as the reason for the delay in sewage disposal plant construction ordered by the United States Supreme court.

E. F. MCCLENNEN.

H. M. Christie, consulting accountant for the district, testifying before Edward F. McClennen, special master for the Supreme court, said the district's debts now total $161,149,000, and that cash on hand amounts to only $85,000. Taxes of $20,973,000 for 1928, 1929, and 1930 have not been collected, he said, and the 1931 collections have not been started. Christie, questioned by William Rothmann and Joseph B. Fleming, attorneys for the district, said other local taxing bodies have been hit equally hard.

Ray T. Jackson of counsel for the six states suing the sanitary district cross-examined Christie as to income from other than tax sources.

Rothmann and Lawrence J. Benion, senior assistant attorney for the district, testified that a request for a loan of $36,450,000 had been denied by the Reconstruction Finance corporation because the district construction program was not self-liquidating. A bill proposed by Congressman A. J. Sabath to remove the self-liquidating requirement is before congress.

FRANCE RESCINDS ORDER TO EXPEL TRIBUNE WRITER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 13.—Thanks to the vigorous intervention of the ministry of foreign affairs, the case of Alex Small, a writer on the Paris edition of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and a contributor to THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE, who had been threatened with expulsion from France, was cleared up today. Small's identity papers were returned to him by the prefect of Versailles, who personally expressed the government's apologies for the annoyance caused Small.

Although the police are not obliged to give reasons for expelling any foreigner and the foreign ministry at first was unwilling to ask for an investigation, officials decided to act when it was pointed out that the unexplained molestation of Small twice over a period of six months compromised his journalistic freedom. The ministry of interior consented to the investigation.

It was revealed that the second expulsion order was based on a clerical mistake, while the first expulsion order, on which Small was arrested last August, was traced to a "regrettable error" in identity.

TRAIN KILLS WOMAN ON BRIDGE.

"NO CRITICISM" ON R. F. C. LOANS, COUZENS AVERS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—The Couzens committee to investigate the early loans of the Reconstruction Finance corporation advised the senate today that it has "no criticism" to make of the federal credit agency's activities.

According to a report submitted by Senator James Couzens [Rep., Mich.], chairman of the committee, the investigation covered only those loans which the corporation made during the period from its beginning on Feb. 2 to July 21. These advances have never been disclosed by the corporation.

Among the loans investigated by the committee was the $90,000,000 commitment to the Central Republic Trust company of Chicago, headed by Charles G. Dawes, former chairman of the finance corporation. This loan has been the subject of widespread attacks in congress and during the recent presidential campaign.

PICTURES EFFECT OF INVENTION ON NATION'S FUTURE

Dr. Ogburn Speaks Before Business Leaders.

While the present economic system will not collapse because of the depression, much worse conditions than those of the present are in store for the United States during the next half century "if we pursue a policy of drift and fail to give more attention to the wider policies of business leadership." This was the warning sounded last night by Prof. William F. Ogburn of the University of Chicago before a group of leading business men at the Chicago club.

Dr. Ogburn was director of research for President Hoover's committee on recent social trends which recently made its report. With his colleague on that body, Prof. Charles E. Merriam of the University of Chicago, Dr. Ogburn gave a brief survey of its findings before the business men.

Dr. Ogburn said he expected the country to pull itself out of the present depression.

Discusses Progress of Invention.

The audience displayed more interest in Prof. Ogburn's discussion of inventions which seem destined for eventual development than in any other portion of his address. Speaking of the influence of technological development he told of recent inventions.

Many of these, he said, would put electricity at work in fields in which it has been limited. He cited, for example, inventions to apply electricity to musical instruments and four patents recently granted for devices by which books would be made to speak.

Talking motion pictures for the homes will come with wired television, he predicted, and there is even discussion of the development of artificial climates. Housing will be affected by the increased use of steel and glass. Lighting is in its infancy, he said, adding that much is expected in this field from inventions to be displayed at the Chicago World's Fair.

New inventions which, instead of reducing work, will create employment are reported in the evaporated milk industry, Dr. Ogburn continued. British scientists are engaging in "the most vivid type of biological inventions," dealing with glands and hormones, which might change human nature. Inventions in the power industry, he said, may bring progress in the use of sun's rays, and power in agriculture is making rapid advances.

Government and Industry.

The President's committee, Prof. Ogburn continued, was disposed to see a big problem in the future relationship of government to industry. The church and family, he explained, have been declining in social significance since the middle ages, while battle lines remain between government and industry, the question of which will take the leadership being at stake.

Prof. Merriam dealt with problems of government, emphasizing the expansion of its costs and the tendency toward the centralization of power. The President of the United States holds the most powerful political office in the world, he said. The rise of "pressure groups" which carry on propaganda, such as the Anti-Saloon league, was also cited.

MILLS IS SILENT ON SIX MILLION U. S. TAX REFUND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C. Jan. 13.—Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills declined today to discuss the 6 million dollar treasury refund of estate taxes to his father's estate, which, together with other tax refunds aggregating 22 millions, caused the senate yesterday to impose a check on these treasury activities. An amendment written into the deficiency appropriation bill requires the joint committee of congress on internal revenue taxation to pass on all refunds above $5,000.

It was brought out in the senate debate that Mr. Mills, as executor of his father's estate, applied for the refunds and that Mr. Mills, as secretary of the treasury, granted them. In declining to comment the secretary took the position that he had not been charged with any wrongdoing.

Explanation Is Offered.

Senator Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.], chairman of the senate appropriations committee, submitted the following explanation of the Mills estate refund transmitted to him by Adelbert Christy, acting deputy internal revenue commissioner:

"There was issued in this case a certificate of overassessment in the amount of $5,918,295.22. Of this amount the sum of $65,843.32 was refunded. Of the overassessment $5,691,803.17 resulted from the allowance of a credit pursuant to the provisions of section 301 [B] of the revenue act of 1926 for the amount of state inheritance taxes paid subsequent to the filing of the federal estate tax return.

"The return filed showed a total tax liability of $7,397,424.88. This amount, of course, was subject to a credit for taxes paid to the states to the extent of 80 per cent of the amount. The bureau, however, assessed the total amount. Accordingly the overassessment in the amount of $5,691,803.17 represents the total amount paid to various states for which the law gave them a credit against the federal tax.

Court Ruling Cited.

"There were included in the return transfers made within two years of the decedent's death in the amount of $1,312,690.09. Under the law as construed at the time of the filing of the return the amount of these transfers was required to be included. The Supreme court, however, in the case of Heiner vs. Donnan [52 S. Ct., 358] held the conclusive presumption of the law unconstitutional. Upon investigation it was ascertained that the entire amount of these transfers, with the exception of $206,702.15, was not actually made in contemplation of death, and under the law could not be included.

"The elimination of these transfers counts for $199,903.49 of the overassessment. The balance of the overassessment, amounting to $23,582.56, resulted from reduction in the value of certain assets included in the estate, investigation having disclosed that the valuation of these assets was overstated in the return filed."

High School Girls' Wine Parties Lead to Arrests

San Pedro, Cal., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Tales of all night wine parties among high school girl students of Wilmington in an isolated "love nest" near here, resulted in the arrest of six young men and detention of six girls while investigators sought to unearth further details today. The disclosures resulted from information by the mother of one of the girls. The girls all gave their ages as between 12 and 14 years.

DEMOCRATS WILL REJECT HOOVER'S ECONOMY PLAN

Agree to Defeat Proposal to Consolidate Bureaus.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—House Democrats today voted to mass their full strength back of a resolution killing the Hoover executive orders reorganizing and regrouping 58 federal agencies.

Meeting in caucus, house leaders obtained an agreement binding all members to vote against the Hoover proposals submitted to congress some weeks ago. The Democratic plan is to secure passage of a resolution permitting President Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt wide powers in reorganizing the federal agencies and departments.

Before House Next Week.

The caucus was held on the resolution introduced by Representative John J. Cochran [Dem., Mo.], chairman of the house committee on expenditures in executive departments, providing that the house disapprove the President's proposal to regroup and consolidate the 58 federal agencies.

Earlier the house rules committee favorably reported a special rule on Mr. Cochran's resolution, making it a privileged order of business and limiting debate to two hours. The resolution, according to house leaders, is to be brought upon the floor immediately after the house has disposed of the war department appropriation bill, probably the latter part of next week.

Democrats Attack Plan.

Mr. Hoover's reorganization proposals met a storm of Democratic criticism at the time they were submitted to congress.

Charges were heard in both the senate and the house that the program represented a mere "shuffling" of the bureaus and would effect no economy. At the same time the Democratic leaders in both bodies declared that reorganization at this time, when a change of administration is imminent, would serve only to confront President Elect Roosevelt with more serious problems. It is logical, they contend, that any reorganization be undertaken by the new President instead of by an executive about to retire from office.

LINDY TO SCAN AGREEMENT TO BUY CLIPPINGS

New York, Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his counsel, Col. Henry Breckenridge, will have the opportunity to scrutinize the alleged agreement which the famous flyer signed for newspaper clippings about his famous flight to Paris and which resulted in a deluge of more than 200,000 newspaper accounts. This is pursuant to an order signed by Supreme Court Justice Charles J. Dodd in Brooklyn today.

Application for permission to examine the alleged agreement is the latest move in a suit started in July, 1931, when Walter Hyams, a publicity man, charged that the aviator had commissioned him to collect the clippings at four cents each. The bill he submitted came to $7,949.62. Col. Lindbergh, in his reply, said he had ordered clippings up to $35 worth and no more. He had paid the $35, he said.

ALL CATHOLICS IN SERBIA ORDERED TO QUIT SOKOL

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The Catholic episcopate of Jugo-Slavia today drafted a manifesto demanding that all Catholics withdraw from the Sokol organization. The action was based on the ground that the Sokols, with a purely patriotic and nationalistic program, must be regarded as an organization of the godless. Croatia is largely Catholic, while Serbia is orthodox, and numerous Catholic priests have been jailed for alleged treasonable activities.

ANOTHER SENATE FILIBUSTER DAY OVER GLASS BILL

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Gripped by the longest "lame duck" session filibuster in years, the senate tonight remained in control of a small group of opponents of the Glass banking reform bill prepared to carry on their opposition indefinitely.

Leaders hoped for a break today—the fourth day of the blocking movement—but Senator Thomas [Dem., Okla.] took the floor at the outset and held it more than five hours, declaring the nation had to come to "reflation" or face "repudiation and revolt."

Leaders on both sides admitted it was doubtful if the drastic cloture rule could be invoked, since it requires a two-thirds majority.

To observers of the four day battle of parliamentary strategy between the veteran Carter Glass of Virginia and the newcomer, Huey Long of Louisiana, it was apparent that the longer the fight lasted the wider the breach would be.

GOV. SCHMEDEMAN URGES HALT ON FORECLOSURES

Asks Delay Till Assembly Acts on Relief Bill.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—In a proclamation today Gov. A. G. Schmedeman requested Circuit judges of the state to halt mortgage foreclosure proceedings until the legislature has sufficient time to enact a new law giving the courts power to extend the redemption period on foreclosed property from one to three years.

A bill providing for this change was introduced in the legislature an hour before by Assemblyman Willis E. Donley, Democrat, from Menomonie. The proclamation was issued after six members of the Wisconsin division of the Farmers' National Holiday association conferred with the governor and approved the administration measure. The group called at the executive offices to outline its proposals for farm relief.

Urges Judges to Be Lenient.

In addition to requesting that judges hold foreclosure actions in abeyance, the proclamation urges them to be as lenient as possible in execution of deficiency judgments to reduce pressure on the "honest debtor" class.

The text of Gov. Schmedeman's proclamation follows:

"Because of the existing economic emergency, I do hereby request the judiciary of the state of Wisconsin to hold in abeyance all foreclosure actions now pending and all judgments of foreclosure awaiting execution until the legislature of the state of Wisconsin, now in session, may have time to enact assembly bill entitled: 'A bill to repeal section 7, chapter 29, laws of the special session of the legislature 1931.'

"I further request that in all matters of foreclosure, particularly in the issuance of orders for sale and in the issuance of execution on deficiency judgments, the judiciary exercise all of its equitable and discretionary power to the end of alleviating for the honest debtor avoidable distress."

Indorsed By Leaders.

Special session laws to be repealed by the new statute are those which extended the redemption period from one to two years. In its place full powers of discretion on foreclosure actions would be given courts in addition to the three year stipulation.

Members of the holiday organization who indorsed the bill are Alvin A. Handrich, Manawa, state secretary of the association; W. C. Sullivan, Kaukauna; A. H. Christman, Menominee Falls; Carl Oman, Boscobel; Fritz Schultheiss, Prairie Farm, and Paul Weis, Barnum.

The two Dane county circuit judges indicated they would comply with the proclamation as far as possible, but pointed out that in some cases a long delay might result in considerable loss. It was reported that Milwaukee judges also agreed to comply.

A proposed milk strike by farmers in all parts of Wisconsin is to be withheld, according to Handrich, until the legislature has an opportunity to correct agricultural conditions.

"On account of pending legislation the committee considers it wise to postpone price fixing until a state agency is set up by the present administration and given an opportunity to correct the unfair condition that now prevails," Handrich said.

Police Cut Into His Dream Pastry.

The 10,000 pound cake with the steel framework which Harris Holmes, colored, proposed to have baked for the delectation of World's Fair visitors has already collapsed. Holmes, who used his dream cake as a bait to lure $1 bills from a number of young women seeking jobs as hostesses, has been arrested and charged with operating a confidence game.

Several days ago Holmes inserted in several newspapers, including THE TRIBUNE, advertisements to the effect that neat, refined hostesses were wanted for a World's Fair food service. Applicants were informed they must apply at 429 Diversey parkway between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Once there the young women were given sales talks by two of Holmes' assistants. They were informed that the United Anniversaries, Inc., was going to entertain the visitors to the fair and that it would have to have 2,500 hostesses, one to each precinct. They were to be paid $4 a day and 50 per cent commission on all the souvenirs they sold.

Then a picture of the cake with a drawing representing Mayor Cermak cutting off a slice with a knife about nine feet long was shown the applicants. Every hostess was to have her picture and a candle on the steel skeletoned, baked skyscraper. It was promised also that the mayor and Gov. Emmerson [the sales talkers were a little weak in chronology] would attend a banquet for the hostesses next month.

The $1 payment was required for the picture and the candle of the hostess. Once it was paid the applicant was granted an interview with Holmes, who promptly refunded 10 cents as the hostess' commission on a new hostess brought in.

An investigation having been made by the Chicago Better Business bureau and the advertising department of THE TRIBUNE, the bureau laid the case before Acting Captain William O'Brien of the Sheffield avenue police. With Sergts. Anthony Tempake and Charles Sweeney he went to Holmes' office, arrested the principal and his aids and seized their records.

The assistants, a man and a young woman, were released after they convinced the police they were victims like the others and hadn't even been paid for their work. Three of the dozen or more women who were being given high pressure sales talks at the time the raiders arrived signed complaints against Holmes. About six years ago he was arrested on a charge of operating a fake beauty contest swindle.

He Sees His Dead Bride from Window; Quarantined

Rockford, Minn., Jan. 13.—(AP)—The dead bride of George Moore, quarantined by scarlet fever, was carried past his window yesterday, fulfilling his wish to see her again despite inability to attend the funeral services. On Thanksgiving day Moore and Miss Emma Steinke were wed in a rural church near here and looked to the future happily. Yesterday funeral services for her were conducted from the same church. She died of influenza.

PASS FARM BILL, URGES ENVOY OF NEXT PRESIDENT

Morgenthau Brings Word to Senators.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Harbinger of the new administration and the "new deal," Henry Morgenthau Jr., New York's conservation commissioner, came to Washington today to give the Democrats in congress instructions concerning the desirability of getting the part farm program passed at this session.

HENRY MORGENTHAU JR.

Mr. Morgenthau has, in fact, come to be a chronic harbinger in his rôle as special envoy to instruct the boys now on the job as to what President Elect Roosevelt wants done in the way of farm legislation before he gets on the job.

What the governor wants done right now is for the senate to pass the domestic allotment plan which came over today from yesterday's successful passage by the house. He wants prompt action on the two bills recently introduced by Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas, senate Democratic leader.

Provides Bank Consolidation.

One of these bills would consolidate the federal land bank and joint stock land bank systems, give them 200 millions more of federal capital, provide them with a government guarantee for their bonds, and instruct them to rewrite farm mortgages at an interest rate of not more than 4½ per cent. The other bill would give the land banks new privileges concerning the valuation of real estate and the use of real estate in securing their bonds.

Thirdly, as explained by Envoy Morgenthau to the Democratic leaders in congress, something must be done in the matter of halting farm foreclosures. This will probably take the form of a moratorium on foreclosures susceptible to congressional legislation and—more important—the creation, perhaps in every rural county, of a conciliation agent whose duty it will be to try to bring debtor and creditor together in order that debts may be brought down to a figure that the farmer has some chance of paying.

Democrats Hold Conference.

This was the message which Mr. Morgenthau carried to a Democratic conference composed of Senators Robinson, Smith [S. C.], who will be the senate agricultural committee's next chairman; Wheeler [Mont.], Bankhead [Ala.], Harrison [Miss.], coming chairman of the senate finance committee; Hull [Tenn.], Fletcher [Fla.], Wagner [N. Y.], Barkley [Ky.], Speaker Garner, the Vice President elect; Representative Steagall [Ala.], chairman of the house banking and currency committee, and Representative Jones [Texas], chairman of the house agricultural committee.

They also talked of the recently introduced Hull bill, which would set up still another government farm credit agency, with a capital of a billion dollars of federal funds.

It was Mr. Morgenthau who came to Washington last December to tell what the President elect wanted in the domestic allotment bill, though as it turned out it might appear that it was not what Mr. Roosevelt wanted, but what the professional "farm leaders" wanted that finally got into the bill.

Cost More Than Billion.

That part of it has not seemed to bother Mr. Roosevelt any more than the fact that it will cost somebody in America more than a billion dollars to put the allotment plan into effect for a year, or that, while Mr. Roosevelt was "horrified" at a general sales tax, the pending measure will place a processing tax on food which will amount to 40 per cent in some cases.

What has bothered the President elect, however, Advance Agent Morgenthau informed his Democratic listeners, is the way the bill has been loaded down with butterfat, rice, and peanuts, in addition to wheat, hogs, cotton, and tobacco.

Commission Asked to Retire Statesmen from Public Office

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Of course this is no time to propose the creation of a new government bureau, but there is a great need for just one more board or commission, corresponding to the New York prize fight commission, with arbitrary power to retire statemen from public life when they begin to bumble in their speech and rock on their heels.

The prize fight commission performs a merciful function in this respect, quietly picking up the licenses of pugilists who manifest symptoms of the ailment known as fighters' dance and easing them into the less strenuous and less dangerous work of toting buckets for other fighters, refereeing, and peering through peepholes to scrutinize customers coming up the stairs at speakeasies.

Almost all who are thus retired holler persecution, but few men know when they have enough to drink, and similarly there is not one prize fighter in a thousand who knows when he is punch drunk, which is a harsh but fitting word for it.

And also similarly, there are many statesmen who stick to politics far beyond their prime to their own detriment and the detriment of the grand old game of fighting for the people's rights. I declare that there are some statesmen who become politically punch drunk, but never realize their condition and wind up broke, decrepit, and friendless in their home towns or haunt the halls of Washington where they once were mighty men starring in the main events.

Better to Be Ruled Off.

Often, at the big fights in the Garden, old champions who long to take the ring for just one more cheer before they die, crawl out of the shadows of the tunnel and make efforts to climb through the ropes to challenge the winner, and old politicians become victims of the same pathetic mental state.

It were better for many statesmen that they be arbitrarily ruled off, even though some little phase of their constitutional rights were violated, than that they be permitted to hang around beyond their day, losing their judgment and their sense and passing up opportunities to turn square and enter legitimate business until it is too late.

This is not an original observation of mine, but a thought which occurs to many of the statesmen themselves, although few of them act upon it. Like the lure of one more old fashioned to a never-go-home sitting the night away in a little place somewhere or the fascination of just one more fight to a stuttering relic of the prize fight trade, the temptation to run for office just once more lures them on and on to tragedy.

A lame duck statesmen of my acquaintance took his defeat to heart at first and moped for a week until he met a southern senator who congratulated him.

"I envy you," the southern statesman said. "You have been in the senate six years and six years are better than sixty. You have been a United States senator, if there is any glory in that, as, of course, we doubt, and nobody can ever take that away from you. I have been here for many years, but I have been no more a senator than you.

Advice to a Lame Duck.

"You go back to your law practice and resume making money, but I have been away from my home town so long that if I were to go back today nobody would know me and I could only hang out a shingle as a notary public up a flight of gritty stairs above the Bon Ton Shoe store and sit for customers at two bits each, payable in cash, eggs, garden truck, or hog side. Congratulations."

The southern statesman was exaggerating somewhat, for he has been a faithful ham-and-egger in politics and the game doubtless would take care of him a little better than that. The game would find him a place to snooze in the shade or minister to some barefoot republic off somewhere with a few thousand a year to live on and boys to fetch him juleps or a place on some commission to sit in a stuffy room and yawn and reach inside his shirt and scratch listening to college professors' views on the situation. Just any situation. These jobs and places on the federal bench are the political equivalents of the workless tasks which a grateful game provides for the broken down pugilist, timing knockdowns at the Elite A. C. in Gloversville or peering through the keyhole at the customers coming upstairs to the bar.

Don't Know When to Quit.

Do not challenge my assertion that statesmen do come down with a very definite form of the MUMBLES, which is another name for fighters' dance, because Washington is full of horrible examples of men who might have amounted to something if they had only known when to quit, but stayed on to become political rockers, rocking on their heels like old timers in the Garden on fight nights.

They are more noticeable in the Garden than in the lobby of the Chicago Stadium, but that is because the designers of the Stadium played the boys a cruel and cynical trick. They canted the Stadium lobby in a steep incline to the door, so that when the boys stand around and rock they rock themselves gradually down hill and presently out onto the sidewalk. The Garden lobby is a flat lobby, and so are the floors in Washington, so the boys do not rock themselves away.

Contrary to popular belief, there is very little money in either game, politics or prize fighting, for the average performer. The mediocre men in both games wind up broke, and it is the political leaders who never run for office who make the money out of politics, just as the managers and promoters who never put on a glove or grind a pebble of resin with their soles make the fortunes in the ring.

A political plucking board to retire statesmen in good time would save the statesmen many a heartache, and, by maintaining a higher degree of intelligence, enthusiasm, and idealism in public office, would confer benefit on the republic, too.

CHICAGOANS MAY BE CONFIRMED TO POSTS AS ENVOYS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Senate Democrats are ready to relax their rule against confirming Hoover appointments in two cases it was learned today.

One of these is the appointment of Nathan William MacChesney of Chicago to be minister to Canada. The other is that of F. Lammot Belin, now serving under a recess appointment as American ambassador to Poland.

Predictions that the Democrats would agree to these two confirmations was made by Senator J. Hamilton Lewis [Dem., Ill.], who was chief advocate of the MacChesney nomination before the senate foreign relations committee. The Illinois senator's prophecy was confirmed by Senator Joseph T. Robinson. If confirmed, Minister MacChesney and Ambassador Belin will, of course, be required to hand in their resignations on March 4.

McADOO FAVORS BRITISH, FRENCH LAND FOR DEBTS

Advises Accepting Soil Near U. S. Shores.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Senator Elect William G. McAdoo of California paused in Washington today on the way to a weekend conference with President Elect Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N. Y., on affairs of state.

Mr. McAdoo indicated that he would give the President elect the benefit of his views on the promotion of recovery from the depression and other problems that will confront the new administration. He believes that the crisis of the depression is far from past and that the worst is yet to come, unless a sound statesmanship averts it. He had a program of action in mind, but declined to reveal it. He did say, however, that he regarded the Reconstruction Finance corporation operations futile, because "there is not money enough available to liquefy a millionth part of our frozen assets."

If the President elect takes Mr. McAdoo's advice he will endeavor to procure the British and French possessions in this hemisphere in exchange for any further remission of their war debts owed the United States.

Recalls Rothermere Proposal.

"Lord Rothermere proposed in 1919," said Mr. McAdoo, "that Britain pay her debt in part by transfer of British possessions off our coasts to the United States. I thought there was virtue in the Rothermere suggestion, and in 1920 I expressed approval of it, even if we had to take over the British and French West Indies at a price far in excess of their value, not only because it would benefit these debtors financially, but it would bring under our flag islands which could be used with great effect against us as military and naval bases if we should ever be at war with either or both of these powers. While this appears a remote contingency today, I regard it our solemn duty to take thought of the possible contingencies of a hundred or more years hence.

"If they would transfer to us their West Indian possessions, together with British and French Guiana, we could afford to accept them in liquidation of a large part, perhaps as much as half, of their indebtedness.

Only War Value to Holders.

"I imagine that the value of the commerce of these islands is not great. I can conceive of no reason, other than sentiment, why either Great Britain or France should want to hold on to them unless they regard them as useful for military operations in case of war with us. If that is their reason for holding them, then the reason is all the stronger why we should want them transferred to us.

"Such a transfer would allay the irritation which the American people feel because Great Britain and France maintain, or can maintain, military bases on these islands, which are close to our shores, and which would put the United States at a considerable disadvantage if hostile operations should ever arise. Moreover, these islands are a part of the western hemisphere and come properly within the sphere of our influence."

ROOSEVELT AND SWANSON TALK FOREIGN POLICY

Committeeman Visits Senator Elect.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

Hyde Park, N. Y., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—President Elect Roosevelt today discussed his foreign affairs program with Senator Claude A. Swanson of Virginia, ranking Democratic member of the senate committee on foreign relations.

Both men were most close mouthed after their long conference, which was held at the Roosevelt New York house. But it was reported they discussed the manner in which Mr. Roosevelt will get his program launched in advance of his inauguration.

Mr. Roosevelt is known to be planning to have the Hoover administration give diplomatic authority to a few men of his own selection who will collect full data on the economic status of foreign nations with relation to tariffs, disarmament, and the war debts, and he laid his plan before Senator Swanson to gain the latter's counsel.

May Have Program Jan. 19.

Reports today had it that when the President elect visits Washington on Jan. 19, on his way down to Warm Springs, Ga., he will have outlined an early start on his foreign program, and may be able at that time to announce the details of the studies he desires made.

Mr. Roosevelt also was visited today by Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, one of his earliest Massachusetts supporters for the presidency. Mayor Curley discussed depression problems with the governor and the possibilities of getting rid of the dole system in Boston. President Elect Roosevelt commented that it was desirable to bend every effort toward getting people in jobs and ending the expenditure of relief funds.

Annual Party Tonight.

The President elect motored up to Hyde Park this evening for his usual week-end at his house at Krum Elbow on the Hudson. Tomorrow night he will be host at an annual reunion of newspaper men who accompanied him in 1920 during his campaign for the vice presidency. Every year this group meets for a party that has always lasted far into the morning.

Usually the party is held on Mr. Roosevelt's birthday, which is Jan. 30, but this year, because the President elect is to be in the south on that date, the party was moved ahead, and Mr. Roosevelt said today that he was making it a celebration also of the birthday of his personal aid, Louis M. Howe, which Mr. Howe observed today but did not celebrate.

Tax Warrant Sales Enable Harvey to Reopen Schools

The elementary schools of Harvey closed since Dec. 23 because of lack of funds, will be reopened on Jan. 30. The reopening is made possible by the sale of tax anticipation warrants by a citizens' committee, it was announced Thursday by Norman Gallett.

ment that British interests are threatened by the tense situation in the Shanhaikwan area. The interview was described as "most friendly." The British interests referred to are the Kailan mines at Chinwangtao, south of Shanhaikwan.

China Refuses to Negotiate.

It was also revealed that no progress has been made regarding the opening of negotiations with the Chinese over the Shanhaikwan incident. According to the Japanese spokesman, the Chinese government at Nanking yesterday rescinded its instructions to Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, overseer for North China, to negotiate with the Japanese.

Japan expects that when the league assembly meets Monday the discussion will come to a head almost immediately and that action for application of article 15 of the covenant will be inevitable.

Tokio expects Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the league, to inform the committee of nineteen that it is impossible to come to a satisfactory compromise. The committee is then expected to be asked to consider paragraph 4 of article 15, which provides for intervention by the league.

One Slight Ray of Hope.

One ray of hope in the whole question, although very faint, is a report from Geneva that a new formula is being drafted. Tokio, however, attaches little credence and no importance to this in the face of Sir Eric's pessimistic conversation recently with a member of the Japanese delegation, in which Sir Eric declared that the future is hopeless and a compromise is impossible.

Opinion is gaining in army circles that the procedure Japan should now take should be to follow Germany's precedence in staying in the league, but withdrawing from discussion of Manchuria, just as Germany withdrew last July from discussions on disarmament.

In any event, it is declared that Japan will insist to the last that interference by a third power in the difficulties between Japan and China cannot be permitted.

France Stands by Covenant.

PARIS, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Premier Joseph Paul-Boncour today outlined the government's policy on the Sino-Japanese controversy as resting, as did the government of former Premier Herriot, on the covenant of the league of nations, whose work he extolled.

"I am inspired by a desire to remain on friendly terms with Japan, knowing her rôle in the far east, and with China, with whose efforts to create a free institution we are acquainted," Paul-Boncour told the chamber of deputies.

Expressing disquietude over the situation, he declared: "My policy is the pact, nothing but the pact and all the pact."

The chamber agreed to postpone interpellations in view of the activities at Geneva, but there was a demand for extended debate later because of French interests in the far east.

OPEN NEWBERRY SAFETY VAULT, GET A SURPRISE

Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan last night obtained from Municipal Judges Scheffler and Brooks an order permitting him to open the safety deposit box of Ted Newberry, slain gangster, in the vaults of the Capitol building at State and Randolph streets.

Accompanied by Lieut. Edward [illegible] and his squad from the detective bureau, the assistant prosecutor went to the vaults. Once there, he found that the box, rented under the name of Edward Martin, could not be opened. Outside resources were called on and a steel driller was summoned. He drilled holes in it. When the box was open it was found empty.

Mr. Coghlan said that he had hoped to discover documents which would throw some light on gang activities in Chicago. Newberry, who was slain a week ago on a gangland ride, had wide connections with the various racketeering organizations.

WEBER PROPOSES CHANGES TO CUT SHELTER COSTS

Would Fingerprint Idle to Bar Floaters.

A fivefold plan for changes in the administration of relief to 21,000 idle men now in the Chicago shelters of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission was proposed yesterday in a report by County Commissioner Charles Weber, who has been conducting an investigation into the expenditures made by shelter officials.

Would Fingerprint Idle.

In brief the plan urges the following changes:

1. A detailed inquiry into the reputation and past of the shelter inmates and fingerprinting for positive identification.

2. Elimination of floaters, who are estimated to pass through the shelters at the rate of more than 100,000 in a year, by limiting relief for these men to 24 hours.

3. Consolidation of control of the various relief shelters which are receiving county funds but are directed by five different relief organizations.

4. Establishment of a standard wage scale and a standard personnel for the various shelters, including the abolition of the $4 "dole plan" in its present form.

5. Scattering of the younger and more radically inclined shelter residents among older men, instead of concentrating them in the Newberry shelter as at present.

Urges Appropriation Cut.

"If all these changes are carried out when the county board takes active charge of the relief shelters, along with direct control of the whole relief situation, I feel sure that a large percentage cut can be lopped from the shelter appropriations," said Commissioner Weber.

"These have been running about $200,000 a month as far as I have been able to learn from the few accounts and ledger books which have been turned over to me. These proposed changes will eliminate the pay roll padding which I feel sure has existed, the preferential arrangements as to food and quarters, and duplications in staffs."

Of the shelter investigation the report stated: "Casework at present consists of taking the man's history, and in writing letters to his relatives or former employers. The returns are negligible. Ninety per cent of the men will follow leads for their own betterment without casework supervision.

Would Put Idle to Work.

"Casework should be done by a staff of the shelter residents. All that is needed is to verify the fact that the applicant for relief is a Cook county resident. If he is he would be able to produce letters of identification which could be checked by the police department. Positive identification could be fixed by the fingerprinting arrangements."

Of floaters the report said: "These men should be eliminated from among permanent shelter residents. At present they come and go almost as they please. One meal and shelter for one night might be given in extremely cold weather. Fingerprinting would cut down this class of applicant."

At present, the report said, the 26 relief shelters in the city are under the control of the Salvation Army, the United Charities, the county department of public welfare, the Christian Industrial league, and the clearing house of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission.

Disagree on Management.

"They all have different ideas about how the shelters should be operated. This results in all grades of service and in the men making strenuous efforts to be assigned to the better shelters," the report stated.

In demanding a standard wage scale for various classes of work the report asserted: "The difference in wages paid in various shelters also leads to preferential evils. Examination of the pay rolls shows great differences in the salaries paid for identical work.

"The $4 weekly work-pay plan should be revised. It is reported that the administrative costs for each man who earns his $4 weekly amount to $1.40. There is, apparently, no reason for this enormous administrative cost."

A bulletin issued from the relief commission offices yesterday stated Lester Armour, vice president of Armour & Co., has resigned from the chairmanship of the relief committee on shelters. His post will be filled, according to the bulletin, by Preston A. Wells, who formerly was vice chairman of the committee.

At Mr. Armour's Lake Bluff home last evening it was learned that he had departed ten days ago to visit friends in Missouri. Mr. Wells could not be reached last evening.

DELAY ALIMONY SUIT BECAUSE IT'S FRIDAY, 13TH

Mrs. Mae Kaspar, 27 years old, 2646 South Millard avenue, appeared yesterday before Superior Judge Joseph Sabath seeking temporary alimony pending the hearing of her separate maintenance suit against William J. Kaspar, a florist. She told the judge that her husband had an income of $150 a week and asked that she be allowed $50 a week for the support of herself and her daughter, Audrey, 4 years old.

"But, judge," interrupted Kaspar, who had listened to his wife's recital, "I'm superstitious. Today's Friday the 13th. I don't want to go ahead with this hearing on a day like this."

"To tell the truth," added Mrs. Kaspar's attorney, Victor Frohlich, after glancing at the calendar near the judge's bench, "I'm just as willing as not to let it go over for another day, too."

"Well, so am I," replied Judge Sabath. "Let's try the case on the 19th of this month."

UNDAUNTED 13 LAUGH AT JINX ON FRIDAY, 13TH

Walk Under Ladder to Go to Luncheon.

From the time they entered the restaurant for luncheon by walking under a ladder until they dispersed amid the crash of breaking mirrors, they snapped their fingers at bad luck in every form. They spilled salt, opened umbrellas indoors, sat thirteen at a table, and lit three cigarets on a match.

Black Cat Skips Party.

Almost every omen of misfortune save a black cat figured in the festivities. As a matter of fact, a cat had been recruited for the occasion, but she sneaked out the door between the feet of an incoming member, jumped a fence, and headed up an alley. It was explained that even a black cat was reluctant to become a party to such proceedings, lest bad luck overtake her.

Sidney Strotz, president of the newly organized group, called upon Heman T. Powers, the secretary, to read a few of the communications which had been received from many parts of the country.

One of these came from a civil war veteran, who said he was 84 years old and had been defying popular superstitions all his life. He said that he had always asked for berth 13 in a sleeping car and room 1313 in a hotel, until both sleeping cars and hotels were remodeled to do away with these numbers.

Besides Mr. Strotz and Mr. Powers, the party consisted of Wallace Rice, Joseph Triner, Judge Robert Jerome Dunne, John Demeree, Maj. J. L. Houghteling, William Harshe, Donald Skinner, T. C. Rice-Wray, Nathaniel Leverone, Ralph Zimmerman, and Jack Childs.

The group calls itself the Anti-Superstition society, and is to meet on the second Friday of each month.

Mirror Smashing Ceremony.

The festivities were concluded with a ceremony in which Mr. Powers spilled salt and Mr. Triner smashed a mirror, while Mr. Strotz sat beneath an open umbrella burning a mystic object known as a Louisiana hoodoo.

Last night a group of scoffers at the Friday the 13th superstition, the 13 club of the Square post, American Legion, held a banquet in the Great Northern hotel. The table was in the shape of a coffin, and a black cat was its centerpiece.

Charles Brown, 55 years old, whose address, he told police, is wherever he happens to be, is a strong believer in the jinx of Friday the 13th. Early yesterday, the fateful day, he happened to be in the chicken coop of William Minor at the rear of 6259 Gunnison avenue. A squad from the Irving Park police station, summoned by Minor, found Brown stuffing chickens into a burlap bag. One of the policemen counted the chickens. There were thirteen in the bag. "Just my luck," said Brown. "I forgot what day it was or I never would have picked up that thirteenth chicken."

TOO MANY "13S" JAIL GAMBLER ON MURDER CHARGE

Being a professional gambler, Nick Kenenogloos looks upon numbers with a superstitious eye. To him some are lucky. Others are hoodoos. Among the jinx numbers is thirteen.

Yesterday Kenenogloos, who is 26 years old, and known also by the names of Petros and Miller, was arrested in New York City with a gun. The policemen arrested him, they explained, because he appeared nervous. Kenenogloos was nervous because of the day. It was Friday the 13th.

"I can't beat that number," he confessed. "I might as well tell you I'm wanted in Chicago for killing a cop."

The records confirmed this admission and today Chicago police will start for New York to bring Kenenogloos back. The killing is that of Policeman George Barker, who was shot to death resisting a robbery in a soft drink parlor at 1438 Madison street while a party was in progress there last year.

Even in that, Kenenogloos' jinx number followed him, for the killing occurred on March 13, and the party was in celebration of the thirteenth wedding anniversary of two of the guests.

Two Babies Are Born on Friday the 13th

Arrival of two Friday the 13th babies was reported yesterday. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tamburrino, 6415 North Hoyne avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Berlin. Mr. Berlin is a member of the crew of the Byrd expedition ship, City of New York, now on exhibition at the Michigan avenue bridge.

SCRATCHES HAND ON BRICK; DIES.

'ADVISER' SHIFTS CHARITY COAL TO NEW FIELD

Experts Hear Operator and Change Minds.

George Reed of the Peabody Coal company, the largest operators in the central Illinois fields, was called in yesterday to advise a committee of six experts on charity coal purchasing. The group met in the office of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission to draft new specifications for coal contracts covering 300,000 tons.

Before hearing Reed the experts talked as though they might agree on specifications that would allow all Illinois coal mine operators to compete for the charity business, according to Lieutenant Commander Edward H. Duane, U. S. N., former coal purchasing agent for the great lakes region, who was one of the experts. But when Reed left, four of the six experts signed specifications that would limit competition to the central Illinois fields, Commander Duane said.

Reed Only Coal Man Present.

The Peabody Coal company owns eleven mines in the central Illinois fields near Taylorville and Springfield. Reed was the only coal man allowed in the meeting of experts, over which Charles B. Goodspeed, assistant to the chairman of the relief commission, presided, Commander Duane declared. He said he and Andrew Murphy, publisher of the Black Diamond, a coal trade journal, refused to vote for the specifications.

Commissioner Duane said the specifications that would limit the bidding to central Illinois fields, where a comparatively inferior grade of fuel is obtained, were supported by Mr. Goodspeed, Reed of the Peabody Coal company, and Frank D. Reed, vice president of the Rock Island railroad, which serves the central Illinois fields. The Rock Island official was one of the six experts. Commissioner Duane said he supported a specification that would allow all Illinois mines to compete for the business, but that he walked out on the meeting when his attempts at a compromise failed. Mr. Murphy did the same, he said.

How Experts Were Named.

The six experts were appointed by Edward L. Ryerson Jr., chairman of the relief commission, who named Reed of the Rock Island, William Ruf, purchasing agent of the Cudahy Packing company, and H. H. Brooker, purchasing agent of the International Harvester company, and by President Emmett Whealan of the county board, who named Commissioner Duane, Mr. Murphy, and Joseph J. Bennett, purchasing agent for the Illinois Central railroad, which owns the Madison Coal corporation and hauls coal from both southern and central Illinois fields.

The specifications agreed upon by the four experts are to be sent to the county board. They are virtually the same as the specifications originally proposed by the commission, Commissioner Duane said. The county board threw them out and wrote its own specifications, which restricted bidding to the southern Illinois coal fields. Bids were taken but the commission protested that the coal would cost too much.

The public service committee of the county board will meet today to act on the bids received on the county's specifications. Those bids revealed evidence of collusion between coal mine operators and dealers. Of the 221 bids received many were not admissible. Fifty-three were for $5.46 a ton and 37 for $5.66 a ton. State's Attorney Courtney's investigation into the charity coal situation is expected to take in an investigation of this attempt at collusion and price fixing.

SCHOOL CONTEST YIELDS $5 FOR HUNGRY PUPILS

A contest held for a week in a room of the Kuffer school brought the Hungry School Children's fund $5 yesterday.

"We hope some one will get as much enjoyment out of this money as the pupils of room 210," wrote Jacob Fox in the letter accompanying the contribution. He explained that the money was raised by collections from each of the six rows of pupils in the room. A treasurer took the money each day, giving it to the teacher, and no one knew the total of each group until the end of the week.

Contributions took another jump yesterday, the total being $110.50. This pushed the fund over the $19,000 mark. This fund is feeding 8,000 children daily in 100 schools.

Acknowledgment of the day's gifts is made as follows:

D. F. KELLY ASKS CORPORATIONS TO AID RELIEF DRIVE

An appeal to corporations and citizens of Chicago to do their part in supporting the drive of the Emergency Welfare fund to raise $7,500,000 for the city's private charities was made yesterday by D. F. Kelly, president of The Fair. He spoke at a meeting of campaign chairmen in the Hotel La Salle.

"The corporations of Chicago must give to the charitable institutions even if they are not earning money at this time," Mr. Kelly said. "There is ever the threat of radical legislation in the present economic situation and our companies should realize that it may be better to strain resources at this time and show that we are able to carry our burdens than to await other developments. The corporations should give just as much this year as they did one and two years ago.

"I can't imagine Chicago appearing in Washington for relief, but it has been done. The people of this city want to give to the organizations that take care of the helpless. It's the poor man in the city who is helping the other fellow now and who is willing to help this drive."

The grand total was lifted to $4,501,850 yesterday, the goal set for this week, according to a report of campaign chairmen.

DR. EASTMAN WINS AN INJUNCTION IN LICENSE BATTLE

Dr. Lewis K. Eastman, head of the Keystone hospital, yesterday was granted a temporary injunction which restrains the department of education and registration from suspending his medical license for two years. The order was granted by Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher, who set Jan. 21 for the hearing of arguments by counsel for the physician and the state department. The court will decide at that time whether the injunction is to be made permanent or dissolved.

The injunction order restrains M. F. Walsh, director of the department, from acting on the suspension recommendation of the medical committee made public last Dec. 28, after a long hearing. Dr. Eastman was charged with malpractice and unethical conduct.

In his petition yesterday Dr. Eastman asserted that faulty evidence was presented to the committee, which is "unfamiliar with the rules of courts and legal procedure." Judge Fisher said he believed that the medical committee had examined evidence which was invalidated because of the statute of limitations.

PREPAREDNESS URGED TO REDUCE WAR MALADIES

Military preparedness in event of a future war would save the government millions of dollars in medical costs Col. James J. McKinley, chief surgeon of the 33d division, said yesterday in an address before the National Defense council of the Fourth division of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The meeting was held in the Hotel La Salle. At present, Col. McKinley said, the government is spending one billion dollars a year to care for veterans injured in the world war. Proper preparedness, he said, would reduce nervous cases by one-half in any future war, and it also would save $250,000,000 annually in medical care costs.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE GOVERNOR'S FIRST TEST.

The prompt action of Gov. Horner in bringing about disarmament and a truce between the rival factions in the coal fields is precisely the sort of thing which his supporters expected of him. He has not had to be reminded that his first duty as governor is to maintain law and order in the state. He has not had to be told that the existence of two private armies in the coal fields constitutes a menace to law and order and a bar to any settlement, peaceful or otherwise, of the dispute. His long practice as a judge has made him skillful in composing differences of opinion, and his reputation for fair dealing has led both sides to repose confidence in him. Fortunately, he seems to have been strengthened in his position by the reputation for fairness of the commanding officer of the National Guard on duty in the coal fields, for the two armies have agreed to turn over their arms to the militia.

As the governor himself was careful to point out, this truce is not equivalent to a settlement of the dispute, but it is the essential first step in that direction. Two unions are in conflict for control. Personal jealousies and private grievances have complicated what at first was a simple wage issue. However, the progress already made by the governor in pacification may be regarded as a hopeful sign.

REAR ADMIRAL BYRD'S PENSION.

The veterans' lobby has concentrated its fire upon Rear Admiral Byrd and his $4,200 a year retirement pay. Rear Admiral Byrd is leading the attack upon federal expenditures, amounting, it is said, to as much as $400,000,000 a year, for medical care and pensions to veterans who suffered no disability on account of their war services. It is said in reply that Byrd is himself a government pensioner and therefore it is with poor grace that he opposes grants to other pensioners. Senator Robinson of Indiana led the attack on the explorer the other day in the senate with the statement that before Byrd can properly open his mouth on the subject he must forego his own retirement pay.

The senator's barroom logic will convince those who wish to be convinced. He could have saved himself a good deal of breath if he had said merely, "You're another," and let it go at that.

However, as Senator Robinson has made Rear Admiral Byrd the issue rather than the $400,000,000 of unjustified public expenditure, it may serve some useful purpose to state the facts regarding the Byrd pension. A telegram to the Washington bureau of THE TRIBUNE requesting the information has elicited the following response, which may be taken as authoritative:

"Byrd entered the naval academy in 1908 and was retired for disability in March, 1916, due to an ankle injury first received in the gymnasium and later aggravated by a fall while on duty on the U. S. S. Wyoming. In May, 1916, he was restored to special active duty in naval aviation. The navy department explains he was unable to do full active duty such as standing watch, but it was decided he was fit for limited activity in the air corps. In a recent speech in the senate Senator Swanson, a friend of long standing, said he had helped Byrd get into aviation.

"Since 1916 Byrd has been on and off the special active list. He drew no active pay during his explorations, the navy says, but because he was retired for disability received in line of duty he has drawn retired pay consistent with his rank. This rank was raised by congress to commander; and in 1929, through a bill introduced by Senator Swanson, to rear admiral. The bill specified retirement pay and privileges commensurate with his rank and was approved in recognition of his antarctic expedition. No vote was taken on the bill in the senate. The presiding officer asked, 'Is there objection?' and, there being none from Senator Robinson or any other member, the bill passed.

"Since January, 1932, Byrd has had no status except that of retired rear admiral. His retirement pay is $4,200 yearly."

Objection might, perhaps, have been made to the action of congress. The recognition of the explorer's achievements might more properly have been a medal than promotion to higher command in the fighting service; but that mistake, if it was a mistake, has been made, and Senator Robinson and his colleagues bear the full responsibility for it.

It seems clear that there is not much in common between Rear Admiral Byrd's retirement pay and the abuses against which he has raised his voice. He was injured in line of duty, and the government, like any other employer, bears a liability for that injury. That is quite different from expecting the government to provide pensions and free medical care to several million men who left the army in perfect health and who suffered no injury whatsoever while in service.

It might be argued that the pension which Rear Admiral Byrd receives is excessive for a man of his years, attainments and disabilities, but if that is the fact, the fault can be laid directly at the door of congress. Congress did not have to make him a rear admiral. But it would be a strange logic, indeed, which would argue from the fact that one pensioner may be receiving a few hundred dollars a year more than he deserves to the conclusion that several hundred thousand others, with no comparable claim upon the government, should receive 400 million dollars to which they have no moral claim whatsoever.

CONCERNING INFLATION.

The advocates of inflation believe that declining prices have caused the depression and conclude that an inflation would raise prices and therefore end the depression. They may be right; but if they are they have some explaining to do.

Since the depression set in the amount of currency of all kinds circulating in the United States has been increased by 800 million dollars. This increase has not served to arrest the depression or to raise prices. The reply on the part of the currency inflationists might be that the increase wasn't large enough to accomplish anything; but, if that is true, then the whole argument based on the quantity theory of money collapses, for any measurable inflation ought to have its measurable consequence in raising the level of prices. If the addition of close to a billion dollars of currency, or about 16 per cent of the amount of money in circulation in 1929, cannot exert an appreciable effect on the price level, the question arises, What kind of an inflation would be required?

The currency inflation just referred to is not the only form of inflation that has been tried in recent years. For more than a year the federal reserve board has been busy buying government paper of one sort or another with the result that it has added 759 million dollars to its holdings of government paper within a year and the excess reserves of the member banks have been increased by some 400 million dollars. This may not be simon-pure inflation, but it comes pretty close to it, and its effects to date in ending the depression have been negligible.

A further inflationary measure was attempted in the Glass-Steagall act, which permitted the use of government paper as security for paper money up to 60 per cent of the amount issued. The benefits conferred by this measure seem to relate to the strengthening of the gold position of the country rather than to the influence of the price level as such.

Finally, there was the payment of close to a billion dollars in soldiers' bonuses. That, too, should have increased prices if the inflationary theory of Congressman Patman and others is sound, but it obviously did not raise prices, for the decline continued unabated. It can be argued, perhaps, that the decline would have been more rapid save for the payment of the bonus and the adoption of the other measures mentioned, but that is, at best, a feeble argument. It can be shown, on the contrary, that the decline of the price level in this country has been more rapid than in some countries which did not undertake our inflationary measures.

The inflationists may have another practical test of their theory if the domestic allotment or peanut bill for relieving the farmers manages to get by the senate and the present President or his successor. That measure provides for the issuance of a form of money to the farmers, but it is doubtful if any but the most radical inflationist would recommend this means of bringing about an increase in the country's money supply. Of all the officials of government, the secretary of agriculture seems to be least fitted for determining either the amount or the duration of an inflation. The peanut bill promises all the evils which most inflationists admit may be expected to flow from uncontrolled expansion of the currency.

Any analysis of the proposals for inflation will disclose the underlying theory that a rising price level makes prosperity. The opponents of inflation agree that rising prices commonly are associated with a rapid turnover of goods, but think the rapid turnover is the cause rather than the effect.

If the opponents are right, inflation of our currency would lead to the hoarding of goods rather than to more active turnover. Moreover, if the value of American money is altered, it is altogether likely that foreign nations, especially Germany, which appears at last to have turned the corner, will be obliged once more to go through the throes of trade and monetary dislocation; and the one genuinely hopeful factor in an otherwise gloomy economic picture will be blotted out.

In general, it can be said that there is no justification for taking what might be called a religious view of the money problem. There is nothing sacrosanct about the amount of gold in the dollar or about the number of dollar bills in circulation in the United States. The problem can and ought to be viewed rationally with an eye to the consequences of any inflationary plan which may be undertaken. From this viewpoint it can be said with great certainty that the consequences of the Patman bill and the peanut bill will be bad. Other proposals when made can be studied on their merits.

MAKING PROGRESS.

[Illinois State Register.]

The World's Fair, or "Century of Progress" exposition, will open in Chicago at 10 a. m. June 1.

There are those who have questioned the propriety of proceeding with the World's Fair at a time when so many people are unemployed and when there is such a drain upon the treasury to meet emergencies, but the sponsors of the Fair take the view that it will be a stimulant to business, a recognition of the basic principles of progress, and that to abandon it would have a very depressing and demoralizing effect.

The announcement is made that the Fair management has cash and government securities in the bank amounting to $1,400,000 and that the construction program is ahead of schedule, the status now being what was expected as of March 1.

Over 82 per cent of the gross area of exhibit buildings has been sold or set aside for specific purposes. The exhibit space contracted for by industry amounts to $4,755,000. The concessions contracted for involve an expenditure of $4,390,000. Water and sewage systems are almost completed, while electric facilities have been provided for 100 per cent. Paid admissions to the grounds from June 1 to Dec. 31 totaled 641,507.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

WE ASKED A CLERK in the magazine department of a bookstore yesterday if there was a magazine devoted to technocracy. "Oh, mercy!" she murmured, and slapped twelve all different publications down in front of us before you could say Julius Hiram Cæsar, and then she darted away and came back with five more. She would have dug up still more, but we looked as if we were going to faint and she desisted. We think the technocrats are plugging for a four hour work day so that people will have time to read all the magazines published about technocracy.

AND AGAIN PONDERING over the news item concerning the Russian prince who was shorn by the revolution of his palaces and high estates, and who was glad to get a job as a doorman in front of a department store in New York, but who has just been taken in matrimony by a rich American divorcée, we said how lucky he was; if he had stayed in Russia he might have been stood up in front of a stone wall and shot by a firing squad of the Reds. Marrying a rich widow may mean great happiness. But we knew a man once who married a rich divorcée and it turned out she wasn't so rich as he thought, and when she got the divorce they put him in jail because he couldn't pay the alimony. After all, as between paying alimony and being stood up by the Reds in front of a stone wall, we believe we would rather the firing squad and the stone wall. Anyhow, it would be over quicker.

THE DREAM WEAVER.

I knew a lady once
Who was most winsomely small.
With her whispery voice
She held my dreams in thrall.

All night she sat beside me
And with her dim white hands
She wove me wondrous dreams
In shining silver strands.

The dreams she wove were cobwebs
Laid gently on my bed,
And the moonlight shimmered through them
And danced on the gossamer thread.

Misty and pale with dreams,
I can see her sitting there,
With cobwebs all around her
And tangled in her hair.

I never saw her come,
And I never saw her go:
Only sitting quietly
And swaying to and fro,

With the moonlight shining through her.
It was more than I could bear,
And her fingers in the cobwebs

Add Most Embarrassing Moments.

Sir: Really it was dreadful. I had been working most frenziedly to convince all my friends that they must "Buy American." In order that I might make a little talk on the subject I invited quite a number of people to my home for a little supper. My guests were all at the table and I was doing some splendid propaganda work when my maid brought in—oh, I could have gone through the floor—Welsh rabbit; My dear, I almost fainted as the terrible truth flashed through my mind that the Welsh are subjects of Great Britain. Honest, you could have knocked me down with a feather. DESDEMONDA THE DESPERATE.

THE CAUSE OF BOILS.

WHEN boils come in crops there is no reason for charging the malady to impure blood. The blood rarely becomes impure in the sense that it serves as a breeding ground for bacteria to be distributed to the skin or to any other part of the body. When it does become impure the probability is that it will clean itself in short order.

The man with crops of boils cannot alibi the disorder on his blood. In the main, the fault is his own and it lies right out on the surface. If the writer remembers correctly, Job's visitation of boils was because of that prophet's shortcomings. That has been the way ever since the days of Job, at least.

One cause lies in the man's eating habits. Those subject to boils are generally heavy starch and sugar eaters. Some of them transgress enough to cause sugar to appear in the urine, whereupon they are called diabetics. Others transgress only far enough to keep the sugar content of the blood on too high a level.

Therefore, whenever a person is subject to boils he had better eat more meats, eggs, and fats and less bread, cereal, cake, desserts, and sweets of all kinds—liquid and solid.

The second great cause of repeated boils lies even closer under the sufferer's nose. It is the condition of the skin. Practically all boils are directly due to some one of the staphylococci. These cocci live on the skin and in the scurf thereof. They lie in the mouths of the sweat and grease glands and along the hair shafts. If the skin is kept dry these cocci die rapidly. If a dirty, greasy, or wet skin is scratched the cocci lying on the surface get into the deeper layers, and when they do they pitch in promptly to make a boil, a pimple, or a carbuncle.

A poultice, or fomentation, or anything else that keeps the skin warm and wet is just exactly what the cocci are looking for. If a man has a boil, followed by a crop of daughter boils around, he has no right to blame any one. It is reasonably certain he treated the mother boil by poultices and thus bred new cocci and helped them to get through the skin by maceration, softening and removing some of the protective layers thereof.

The cardinal rule in treating boils is to keep the skin dry and clean. A boil should not be opened until it is quite ripe. A premature incision is liable to spread the infection. Likewise squeezing may spread infection, particularly if the boil is located on the face above the corners of the mouth.

Vaccines are of some service in the treatment of boils. This is especially true of those called staphylococcus, bacteriophage, or those made on that principle. It may be that some drugs are of service. Yeast has enjoyed a great vogue at times. There are other remedies in which some have faith. But the two outstanding procedures are to keep the skin dry and clean and protected against scratching, and to lessen the consumption of carbohydrate foods.

FAT IN THE BLOOD.

Constant Reader writes: When blood is taken from my arm for a blood test it has quite a bit of fat in it. What causes this and how serious is it? The only symptoms I have are dizziness and a queer feeling in the head sometimes. I weigh 130 pounds, am 5 feet 3 inches tall and 30 years old.

REPLY.

There is an extensive medical literature on fat and near fat in the blood. Almost any well equipped laboratory can and does make tests for the fat content of the blood. I wonder how you know that your blood has fat in it? Your dizziness and queer feelings are probably not due to increased fat in your blood.

MILK LEG.

Mrs. C. B. writes: What causes milk leg?

REPLY.

Milk leg is the result of a mild phlebitis in some leg and pelvic veins. The phlebitis is due to a mild infection which reaches first the pelvic veins and, later, reaches those of the leg. It may involve the lymph channels also. It rarely results fatally, but it is liable to become semichronic and good circulation may not be established for several months or even years.

NOT SAME DISEASE.

Mrs. F. I. C. writes: 1. Is osteomyelitis the same disease as leucemia?

REPLY.

No. Osteomyelitis is inflammation of bone in the region of bone marrow. Leucemia is a disease of the blood spleen and lymph glands.

SENNA TEA.

Mrs. H. B. B. writes: Five years ago I had arthritis in my hands and I am a woman beyond 50 years of age. I took senna tea steadily for more than two years. I have had no arthritis since. I steeped 8 or 9 pods in a cup of hot water. I drank this dose every night. One can regulate the dose to fit the case.

RE-ENTRY PERMIT HELPS.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—[Friend of the People.]—Would a Canadian who entered this country in 1923 after paying the required head tax have any difficulty in getting back to the United States if he took a vacation at this time in Canada? There were no papers or receipts issued at that time to substantiate the payment of the head tax, and I am anxious to know whether any difficulty would be experienced on account of this fact. D. E. C.

You are advised that an alien who has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence and who is returning from a visit to Canada of less than six months may be admitted to the United States without documents of any kind. Such alien, of course, is subject to the same inspection as any other alien who might be applying for admission for the first time, except with respect to the requirements concerning document and the payment of head tax.

In the absence of any proof of previous lawful admission for permanent residence the returning resident may experience delay at the border, pending verification of the claimed previous admission. With a view to avoiding such possible delay, an alien may apply for re-entry permit approximately thirty days in advance of departure from the United States. C. A. PALMER, District Director of Immigration.

FENCES.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—The owner of the building next door to our house has just put up a new fence, being wire and having extremely sharp wire points on top. It is also low and we find it quite dangerous, especially in this kind of weather. The fence divides the yards and is about 70 feet long. The people who own the fence need not get near it at any time, as it is only on our side. I really think they could at least turn down these wire points. What can we do? A. G.

Sec. 4239 of the city code provides: "Spikes in railings and fences. No owner, lessee or person in possession of any building in this city shall erect or maintain or permit to be erected or maintained on or about the stairway in, or the entrance to, such building, or on or about its exterior building line, or upon any portion of the sidewalk adjacent to such building, any railing, fence, guard or protection of any kind, upon which such railing, fence, guard or other protection there shall be affixed or placed or in any manner attached so as to protrude therefrom any spike, nail or other pointed instrument of any kind or description, under a penalty of not less than $25 nor more than $50 for each offense; and each and every day any such person shall fail or neglect to remove such railing, fence, or other protection, any such spike, nail or other pointed instrument, after notice in writing from the commissioner of buildings so to do, shall constitute a separate and distinct offense."

We suggest that you ask them for permission to turn down the points or bend them away from your side.

WATER BILLS.

Phoenix, Ill., Jan. 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Will you please advise whether or not, according to the state law, a penalty can be charged or collected on overdue water bills due a village water department by a consumer? The village in question purchases water indirectly from the city of Chicago. If so, will you please quote that part of the state statute? C. S.

Presumably your water service was installed under a written contract. In general, your rights would depend on the wording of that contract.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 14, 1917.

EUREKA, Cal.—Shortly after 8 o'clock last night the last member of the crew of 439 on board the United States protected cruiser Milwaukee, which went ashore on the Samoa beach near here about 4 o'clock yesterday morning, had been transferred through a roaring surf in safety to the beach by means of a breeches buoy and two lifeboats. Only one man was hurt. Navy officers expressed the belief that the cruiser will be a total loss. The Milwaukee had been thrown by the breakers into water that was only 12 feet deep at low tide and was keeled over at an angle of 20 degrees.

CHICAGO.—State's Attorney Hoyne declared that Chicago "never was so rotten in its history." He said that big and petty graft permeated every angle of the city's politics and the police department. Every ward heeler, he affirmed, had a machine of his own, utilized for levying graft in every way possible. He announced that his investigation of the public scandal would be carried into every part of the city and would not be confined to the west side, which has been the storm center so far. He said that his vice investigation would crystallize tomorrow in the presentation of evidence before the grand jury against former Chief of Police Healey, Lieut. Martin White, and "the big three"—William E. Skidmore, Tom Costello, and "Mike de Pike" Heitler, so-called overlords of west side vice.

BERLIN.—By a successful attack of German troops north of the Slanic valley ground was gained. The enemy left in positions taken from him seven machine guns, seven mine throwers, and a large quantity of rifle ammunition and hand grenades. On both sides of the Oitzu valley strong hostile attacks failed. Great losses were inflicted on the adversary. At the junction of the Buzeu and Sereth the Bulgarians captured a monastery which was still being held by the Russians. Northwest of Braila Turkish troops stormed the town of Mihalea. Of the Russian garrison 400 men were captured, and the others, on attempting to escape, were drowned in the Sereth.

PETROGRAD.—In the Riga region, south of Lake Babit, the Germans in dense formation attacked Russian detachments east of the village of Kalnzem. The attack was beaten back. An enemy aerial squadron consisting of 13 airplanes dropped bombs on the station and town of Radzilov. Russian airplanes, having made reconnaissances behind the enemy, notwithstanding his heavy artillery fire, bombarded with machine gun fire the enemy's battery near the village of Krukiov, east of Zolotchev.

ROME.—Along the whole front there was the usual activity of artillery, which was especially intense at Giudicaria, in the Plava district, and on the northern edge of the Carso plateau. The activity of Italian patrols on the Carso resulted in taking some prisoners and a large number of cases of hand grenades abandoned by the enemy in a crater.

LONDON.—A raid on the Anatolian coast [Asia Minor] by a Russian squadron is reported in a Central News dispatch from Petrograd. The Russians sank 40 Turkish sailing vessels which were carrying food to Constantinople.

NEW YORK.—Panic today seized the inhabitants of the little town of Haskell, N. J., and by hundreds they crowded into every sort of vehicle to get away from the ruins of their homes, fearing a repetition of the explosion which last night [Jan. 12] blew up the Haskell plant of the Du Pont corporation. They filled to overflowing all of the trains bound for Jersey City and the jitneys operating between Haskell and Paterson were jammed. The loss of the Haskell plant was $2,000,000; that at the Kingsland plant of the Canadian Car and Foundry company was $12,000,000.

CHICAGO.—Files and records of the Chicago Butter and Egg board were seized by agents of the federal department of justice to discover whether the egg commissioners are responsible for price fixing, bringing eggs to 55 and 60 cents a dozen. In 1914 Judge Landis issued an injunction restraining the butter and egg board from working together to fix prices.

THE DECLINING DEATH RATE.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—I notice that Dr. Herman Bundesen takes credit for a reduction in the death rate by stating that the "reorganization of the board of health last spring aided in bringing about a lower death rate." How in the name of common sense the reorganizing of a health board in the spring could possibly have any influence on the mortality rate of the same year is hard to see.

Dr. Fishbein in an editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association of October, 1932, calls attention to the fact that a lower death rate can be accounted for in part by the decrease in fatal industrial accidents due to unemployment, that people with tuberculosis, heart disease, kidney disease, and high blood pressure may live longer in consequence of enforced rest due to unemployment, that traffic accidents may be fewer in consequence of the storage of large numbers of passenger and commercial cars and fewer new cars placed in service, that fewer car owners have money to spend on pleasure driving, and shrinkage of business reduces the need for commercial transportation.

It seems to me that this is a better and saner cause of reduction in the mortality rate for the year 1932.

RICHARD WAALKES, M. D.

CALL FOR INVENTORS.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—Two reports on the depression list the symptoms but without mentioning the disease, its cause or a remedy. They do, however, refer to the remarkable and apparently magical effects produced by invention, but fail to suggest that invention be applied to the present problem.

The disease is a congestion of the circulating medium in the hands of a few, and is characterized by an absence of the means available to terminate previous depressions by starting it into circulation. The disease results from using the economics of wild animals in a society where inventors live. The remedy is a problem for the invantor.

In this connection it may be observed that if a solution of this problem was so evident that it could be found by anything short of invention the depression would not now exist. The psychology of the situation is waiting for it to soak into the minds of the public that nothing known to economists, financiers, the government, socialists or communists will solve this problem.

Cutting down expenses, clipping the dollar, shortening the working hours, and unemployment insurance are examples of treating the symptoms and not the disease. Up to the present no professor or publicist seems to have got beyond the symptoms. And none of them seems to have any idea of what terminated previous depressions, or why the operations involved had that effect.

Why not call on inventors and give their proposals the same careful scrutiny that is given to mechanical inventions in the patent office?

THE BELGIAN DEFAULT.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—At a meeting held by the Belgian-American Business Men's association of Chicago on Sunday, Dec. 18, 1932, a resolution was adopted stating that the association is not in favor of the action taken by the Belgian government in defaulting on the payment of the interest due the United States government. We take this means of showing the American public that, although the biggest majority of the members of this association are Belgian born, they are now American citizens and do not believe, as before stated, in the tactics used by the Belgian government. EDWARD AERTS, Secretary.

CHANGING A NAME.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—Do Senator Pat Harrison et al. think that the commissions beloved by President Hoover and berated by so many other people will become more curative and palatable if they are dubbed clinics?

Is the era of new names for old follies—and wisdoms, if any—about to dawn? W. F. SHELDON

SHARE THE WORK.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—In the Voice of the People in last Sunday's TRIBUNE I read with considerable interest Mr. Shoemaker's letter criticizing the share the work movement as a variation of the dole system.

The writer stated that "our prosperity is tied up with the distribution of luxury goods," and that the share the work movement "places both workers sharing jobs on a spending for necessities only basis."

With 750,000 unemployed in Chicago alone, it is quite evident to me that until the necessities of life are available to this group through the medium of jobs and not from relief funds which really are a direct tax on each of us, there will be no real market for luxuries and therefore no prosperity for any of us. A return to normal conditions must rest on a base sufficiently broad to insure something more than a charity existence to those who, although qualified to work, are unable to find employment. The essentials of job sharing mean that both workers will be able to secure the necessities of life, although luxuries, admittedly, will have to come later.

But is it not better that two families have food and warmth rather than that one have the means to purchase nonessentials while his neighbor's children are cold and hungry?

There are cases, of course, where the hours of work and the rates of pay are so low that the worker does not receive a wage which permits him to maintain more than a decent standard of living. Share the work should not be applied under such conditions.

C. W. BERGQUIST.

THE CLEANUP CAMPAIGN.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—We live to learn. If all of us knew the locations of our 2,000 or more speakeasies, then we would be in a position to determine how effective or ineffective our mayor's cleanup campaign has been.

I would like to suggest to "A Citizen" that he take a short walk or ride along any business street in the city and count the number of stores conducting a business the nature of which must arouse our curiosity. He can point to every such store as a speakeasy and it is possible that he will never be wrong. If he should check up on these stores again in a month or two he will find them operating just the same, regardless of cleanup orders, unless perhaps the proprietor has overlooked paying his rent, has made the mistake of buying his wares from the wrong crowd, or some one with better connections has requested the location.

We shall always have our gambling houses and speakeasies, so let's not try to give our more innocent citizens the idea that such places cannot exist in our great city. J. T. K.

HORSE THIEVES.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Prior to the birth of the automobile, when men used horses as their means of travel, a horse thief was punished, upon discovery, by hanging by the neck until dead. The public did the hanging and the sheriff winked his eye at it. The reason was that the thief had stolen the owner's means of conveyance.

Today public sentiment toward a thief who steals a person's means of conveyance is almost opposite to what it was in the horse days. If public sentiment would change even a little bit we would have fewer automobile thefts. In the days of the horse the public had horse sense, but today we have no horses.

W. C. GREATMAN.

THE BEER BILL.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—There seems to be considerable room for doubt regarding President Hoover's attitude toward the beer bill. Personally I would be greatly disappointed in President Hoover if he condescended to affix his signature to such a disreputable appeal to depraved appetites and moral degeneracy as the present beer bill. I respectfully suggest to the editorial staff of THE TRIBUNE that the liquor question is going to be settled in only one way, and that is just the opposite to what you seem to have in mind. Great moral questions are never settled by the mob, or demagogues, or misguided wealth.

QUIRK AND AID REARRESTED IN HOODLUM DRIVE

CRIMINAL COURT.

Wilford Coriveau, Tony Digerolma, and Pasquale Zefferi, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary; Martin Henderson and John Johnson, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the Pontiac reformatory by Judge Michael Feinberg.

Vincent Fiatian and Harry Wykowski, larceny, sentenced to 2 years each in the Bridewell by Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

The harassment of hoodlums was continued by local police and federal authorities yesterday as part of the campaign to make Chicago an uneasy resting place for gangsters. A series of arrests and court arraignments caused a number of underworld figures to grumble last night.

Martin "Sonny Boy" Quirk, south side beer runner, and his aid, Fred Farley, were arrested by United States deputy marshals when they appeared in the Felony court to answer charges of conspiracy growing out of the alleged slugging of Patrick Joyce, restaurant owner at 6440 Cottage Grove avenue, because he would not purchase two barrels of beer.

Protests Arrest in Vain.

Quirk protested that he had been tried and found not guilty of the slugging by a jury a few days ago, but Assistant State's Attorney John L. Murphy explained that the jury case dealt with assault to kill, and the new charge was a count of conspiracy.

Judge Donald S. McKinlay continued the case to Jan. 20, and Deputy Marshals Erb Glasser and James O'Neil immediately arrested Quirk and Farley and took them to the federal building.

At a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Erwin K. Walker the two were charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. It was revealed that when the slugging of Joyce was narrated to government officials an investigation was conducted, which showed that Quirk and others had operated a liquor headquarters at 7130 Cyril avenue.

Commissioner Walker set bonds of $5,000 for each of the men and set a hearing of the charges for Jan. 27.

Gunners Refuse to Talk.

Sam Hunt, inventor of the use of the golf bag as a cover for a machine gun; Ralph Pierce, bodyguard to Murray Humphries, and Louis "Little New York" Campagnia were other hoodlums who were questioned at the federal building by U. S. District Attorney Daniel Anderson.

The three men refused to answer any questions and they were served with subpœnas to appear before the federal grand jury Feb. 2. The questioning was part of the new inquiry into the Capone syndicate operations, with a view to pressing indictments returned more than a year ago against sixty-nine defendants.

Late last night they were charged with carrying concealed weapons and disorderly conduct and released in bonds of $2,400 each.

6 Hoodlums Win Delays.

Six hoodlums arrested in a raid on an office in the La Salle-Wacker building by the mayor's squad, during which Frank Nitti, one of the leaders of the Capone gang, was shot and Detective Harry Lang was wounded, were granted another delay when they appeared in the South State street court on charges of vagrancy and disorderly conduct.

The continuance to Feb. 2 was granted at the request of police, who asked more time for investigation. Campagnia was one of the six and the others were John Pope, Thomas Hurt, Louis Massessa, Martin Sanders, and Joseph Parrello.

Albert Gambino, 22 years old, 3300 West Harrison street, was sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail for carrying a concealed weapon by Judge Frank M. Padden. The comparatively light sentence was requested by police because Gambino had given them information leading to the arrest of one of the slayers of Policeman James J. Caplis, who was killed during an attempted robbery in the Beach View Gardens Dec. 21, 1931.

RADICAL TRIES TO HIT WOMAN FOE OF REDS

An unidentified radical attempted last night to strike Mrs. Albert W. Dilling of Kenilworth, who has been helping to lead the fight on the north shore against communism and anti-Americanism. He was driven away by several friends of Mrs. Dilling.

The incident occurred outside the great hall of the First Methodist church in Evanston, following a meeting held there under the auspices of the Chicago civil liberties committee. Among the speakers were Dean Thomas F. Holgate of the mathematical department of Northwestern university; Carl Haessler of Ravinia, associated with the Federated Press, and Raymond Bragg, an executive member of the civil liberties organization.

Some 300 persons attended, among them thirty or more members of the American Legion and the Paul Revere society, the latter being a group organized to battle radicalism. The meeting was tame. When it broke up, Mrs. Dilling stepped outside. A young man approached her shouting, "Hurrah for soviet Russia!" She berated him and he lifted his hand to hit her. Several men standing by pushed him away.

QUIZ ON TARIFF DICKERING URGED BY CONGRESSMAN

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—A resolution calling on the tariff commission to report on the possibilities of a tariff bargaining policy was introduced by Senator Costigan of Colorado today. It was referred to the finance committee with a request for quick action. Senator Costigan said his resolution was designed primarily to assist President Elect Roosevelt.

"It is assumed," he said, "that the incoming administration will include in its legislative program reasonable efforts to promote advantageous and expanded trade between the United States and foreign countries."

Diplomat Pens Gleeful Book on Profession

Harold Nicolson Writes of Crisis in 1939.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Public Faces," by Harold Nicolson. [Houghton Mifflin company.]

IF it takes a thief to catch a thief it certainly takes a diplomat to spoof a diplomat. Only some one on the inside knows enough about the tricks to have an eye quicker than the sleight of hand. Harold Nicolson was practically born with the kingly diplomatic seal in his mouth, and, although he has become known to a wide audience as a writer, his mighty pen is still wielded officially as a vicar for his government. So when Mr. Nicolson writes about diplomacy he is writing with the same authority with which your cook discusses the ingredients of a soufflé au chocolat or your pedicurist talks to you about little Johnny's insides. The fact that he chooses to spoof his profession instead of to be solemn about it proves that Mr. Nicolson is gifted with a sparkling as well as a seeing eye.

HAROLD NICOLSON.

"Public Faces" is the record of the events which led up to the crisis of 1939, when the world seemed on the brink of war and was averted from such a catastrophe not by any of the popular machines of peace but by a grandiose display of power.

How easy it is for a world to be embroiled over possessions has been proved by history, but how fantastically a strip of land can govern the civilized world in the future Mr. Nicolson has a superb time in showing. He enjoys good speculating the way that less attractive people enjoy poor health—he luxuriates in it. All of the symptoms are declared, described, and gone into with relish and Mr. Nicolson delights you when he gives you a good clean laugh at the foibles and gullibilities of mankind and its machinations.

In "Public Faces" there is an island on which has been discovered a mineral which will make an alloy which will make rocket airplanes and which, alone of all the substances in the world, can be used for that atomic bomb that we've been meeting in literature and on the stage for the last few years in dramas of the future. England has the rights to mine Abu Saad in the Persian gulf from the sultan of Muscat.

When the world discovers that England has the material to manufacture the rocket airplane there is international buzzing, with the result that four powers,—Germany, France, Russia, and America unite to convince the shah of Persia that the rights are his to dispose of, not the rights of his vassal, and they will be happy to take over his holdings. There is more juggling, out of which diplomatic twiddling of the most delicate sort is necessary to bring the world to war. But clever diplomacy and chance unite to gain the result of international chaos, diplomacy and chance and the gesture of a soldier of the old school, who sends his rockets roaring over the capitals of the earth, and his atomic bomb into the middle of the Atlantic to wreck an American ship and start a tidal wave which kills 70,000 people on the Atlantic coast and changes permanently the climate of England.

Only by the undiplomatic publishing of the brutal truth is international war averted. An undersecretary gives out to the world the statement that it was in fact the atomic bomb which did all the damage, and England does, in truth, own the formula and the materials for its manufacture, and she will pledge herself not to use them [all this in very polite language] only if the other powers of the civilized world agree to scrap all of their defensive and offensive air business.

The intricacies of diplomatic relationships are gone into by Mr. Nicolson with such zestful glee that the reader is bound to be amused and delighted, even if those twists and turns are sometimes a little confusing to him, brought up, as most modern readers have been, to leave all that kind of thing to the specialists.

Mr. Nicolson and his brilliant wife, V. Sackville-West, arrived in New York last week and will come to Chicago in February to lecture.

There was published yesterday the novel which won the first Danish prize in the inter-Scandinavian novel contest. It is called "Susanne," is by Johannes Buchholtz, and is translated by Edwin Bjorkman. It is especially interesting to American readers because it gives a graphic picture of present day Denmark and a penetrating analysis of the young people of that land, about which there is no surfeit of novel writing. Its theme is the Cinderella theme, with modern variations, and that romance, according to experts, is the one universally appealing theme in the world.

Dr. Lloyd C. Douglas Resigns as Pastor of Church in Canada

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Dr. Lloyd C. Douglas today resigned as pastor of St. James United church here and in May will leave for the United States, where he will fulfill a lecture contract.

Born in Indiana, Dr. Douglas was ordained in 1902 and occupied the pulpit in various Congregational churches in the United States. He was at one time director of religious education at the University of Illinois and during the war was director of publicity for United States colleges and universities during the army welfare fund campaign.

He has been pastor of the church here since 1929.

Besides two successful novels, Dr. Douglas is the author of five volumes of religious essays. He has lectured extensively during the last two years on literary and religious topics before clubs and societies in Canada and the United States.

Author Offers Same Story in Different Ways

Theodora Benson Interests London Critic.

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—The two January novels about which their respective publishers are most enthusiastic are called "Façade," by Theodora Benson, and "The Phoenix and the Dove," by Cunliffe Owen. "Façade is the work of a young woman who must have written her first novel either in or just out of her teens. It was entitled "Salad Days," and was as fresh and lively as a schoolgirl's letter home. But Miss Benson now aims higher than that, and her last novel was a decided experiment in technique.

THEODORA BENSON.

She said to herself: "If these people in this story do certain things this will be what will happen. But they might quite as well do certain other things. What then?" Her novel was called "Which Way?" It was greatly enjoyed and, of course, highly praised. Now Miss Benson has written another novel, and again she has experimented in technique. She has told the same story in two different ways: First by means of gay dialogue; second in a more prosaic way by analysis.

Part I is called "Masked Ball"; Part II, "After Twelve." Part I shows the characters as they seem, as they behave, as they pretend to be; Part II shows them without the gilt and without the chatter.

Now Part I, which is in Miss Benson's natural vein, is delightfully natural and amusing. When one finds, in Part II, that one is reading over again the same story, but related from a different angle, one's first feeling is of perplexity. Then one realizes what Miss Benson's aim is. She writes about a kind of English society which has its convention of slang and gayety —a middle class that follows sports, dances, has more or less serious love affairs, and keeps, conversationally very "bright."

But, it appears, very few of these people are really happy, and when they are alone they are less bright than their talk. It is Miss Benson's object to show them, as it were, outside and in. Her outsides are the best. They are always entertaining. Her insides, probably owing to the fact that insides demand the insights of a master, are less effective. But what an ambitious and interesting scheme for a novel! To show first the façade and then to go behind the façade to the reality!

If Miss Benson's book falls short of success it deserves attention and respect. Her former freshness and liveliness are still there, unspoiled; and her seriousness, if not yet very profound, has great sincerity. She is both modest and ambitious. If encouraged, she may produce very excellent work indeed.

The second novel, "The Phoenix and the Dove," is by Cunliffe Owen, whose previous novel was a tale of the popes when they were forced to live at Avignon instead of in Rome. "The Phoenix and the Dove" is about that earl of Southampton who was Shakespeare's friend; and it tells the story of that friendship, of a rivalry in love between the poet and his patron, and of Queen Elizabeth's raddled affection for the young noble.

Mr. Owen is not a member of the "prithee" school. His tale is as modern in note as a skyscraper. He has courage and energy. But I do not think he will persuade many that his Shakespeare is a true portrait.

Among the New Books

FICTION.

The Prison Wall, by Ethel M. Dell [Putnam], encircles a boy who knows nothing of the shadows hovering over his life.

NONFICTION.

The German Phoenix, by Oswald Garrison Villard [Smith & Haas], traces the history and development of the German republic from its founding fourteen years ago to the present day.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Queen Elizabeth, by Mona Wilson [Appleton], presents in a small volume the exciting and significant life of England's greatest queen.

POETRY.

Blind, Helpless Author Offers View of Life

Dean Van Clute Presents Autobiography.

"Pour Wine for Us," by Dean Van Clute. [Stokes.]

DEAN VAN CLUTE, who has attracted a great deal of merited attention by his articles in the American Mercury lately, is stone blind and has been so paralyzed since his early adult life that except for his vocal cords he has been unable to move a muscle. For many years he has been a charity patient on Welfare island. "Pour Wine for Us" was written in collaboration with the author's brother, Walton Van Clute.

Though this book, by stretching the definition, could be called a novel, it is more accurately a tragic and beautiful record of a man's life, an autobiography but thinly disguised under fictional names.

Peter Holland, the first person narrator of the story, is the son of humble parents who follow a strict Puritan way of life and try to train their son to live a simple and godly life. Peter, however, thinks of nothing but living for the life of the senses, for gratification of desires no matter how petty or dangerous. He runs away from home at an early age, he lives indiscreetly, even wildly, and brings sorrow to his parents. When he is sixteen or seventeen he marries a girl who loves him and is to be the mother of his child. The child is born and the mother dies. Face to face with this tragedy a slow realization of his superficial and worthless life comes to him. As he is beginning to see things from a different angle he is suddenly stricken with a mysterious and incurable disease, acute arthritis, which is still baffling the scientists.

The story of the hero's struggle against pain, against the habit of drugs, the seeking for a better life in which the senses are automatically excluded, make up the rest of the book. He must from now on rely on his mind and spirit to give him the courage to live through the agony of empty years that await him.

Dean Van Clute has written a moving and poignant book, an autobiography terrible and touching in its implications. "Pour Wine for Us" may be a message to all those who despair of life. Blind, motionless, shackled by pain, Dean Van Clute has found happiness, a belief in the splendors of life that is neither sentimental nor illusionary, but very real and courageous.

WE suggest simply that you send the coupon below and get full information as to what the Book-of-the-Month Club does for book-readers. For instance, are you aware that as a member, you are not obliged to take the specific book-of-the-month chosen by the judges? You may buy it or not, as you please, after reading the judges' pre-publication report about it. Nor do you have to pay any fixed sum: You pay the regular retail price for such books as you decide to buy. What then is the advantage of joining?

There are many: first, book-dividends; for every dollar its members spend on books they receive back on the average over 50% in the form of free books. Second, without a penny of expense, through the reports of the judges you are kept completely informed about all the important new books, so that you can choose among them with discrimination, instead of having to rely upon advertising and hearsay. There are several other advantages, not readily measurable in money, that cannot be outlined here for lack of space. Surely, within the next year, the distinguished judges of the Club will choose as the book-of-the-month or recommend as alternates, at least a few books that you will be very anxious to read and which you will buy anyway. Why not—by joining the Club—make sure you get these instead of missing them, which so often happens; get the really substantial advantages the Club affords (such as the book-dividends mentioned, if nothing else), and at the same time get a copy of NINE PLAYS by Eugene O'Neill, free.

PICTURES OF STORYBOOK DAYS

An Interesting, New Game. Open FREE To Everyone!

Just "Put Together" the pictures and name them. A new "Put-Together" appears each day in the Daily Tribune. Hold all "Put-Togethers" until you have the complete set. Then send them in. For previous "Put-Togethers" get back copies from your newsdealer or the Tribune.

NO. 12—CHICAGO TRIBUNE "PUT-TOGETHERS"

THE RULES

Eligibility: Every man, woman, boy and girl is eligible except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. It costs nothing.

What to Do: "Put together" and name the pictures of storybook days printed in the Chicago Daily Tribune. A new picture will be printed each day for 42 consecutive days except Sundays. Each entry must consist of answers to the 42 pictures. Hold all pictures until you have the complete set. It is not necessary to buy the Chicago Tribune to compete. The pictures may be copied or traced. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at Public Libraries or at its offices free of charge. The pictures may be pasted on paper, cardboard, in scrap books or in any other form.

Radio Dramatizations: Each night W-G-N, the Chicago Tribune Radio Station, will broadcast a dramatization of the "PUT-TOGETHER" Picture to be printed in the Tribune the following day. Tune in. These dramatizations will help you.

Where to Send Entries: When you have the complete set of 42 pictures, mail them by First Class Mail, Postage Prepaid, to "Put-Togethers," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1718, Chicago, Illinois. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after Picture No. 42 has been printed. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Department.

The Judges: A committee of judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Entrants agree to accept their decision as final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

The Prizes: 430 Cash Prizes totaling $5,000.00 will be paid by the Chicago Tribune to the persons who send in the most nearly correct and neatest entries. (See prize list at right.) Elaborate entries are not necessary and will receive no greater consideration than simple ones.

CHEVROLET

Again the leader leads the way to economical transportation! Chevrolet announces a greatly improved line of six-cylinder trucks, featuring a new engine—a new rear axle—a new frame—many progressive changes in design and construction—and selling at greatly reduced prices that only the world's largest builder of cars and trucks could achieve!

These reductions apply on every one of the 28 body-types and place Chevrolet trucks in the most attractive price-position in their history. The 1½-ton 157-inch stake truck now sells for $70 less than last year. The 1½-ton Panel for $40 less. The Sedan Delivery for $30 less. Compare these prices, then compare what you get for these prices—and you won't be satisfied to accept any other low-priced truck but a Chevrolet for 1933.

All 1½-ton models are now powered by a remarkable new Special Truck Engine, with six cylinders. No more, no less. This is basically the same reliable power plant of last year—but Chevrolet has made it even smoother, more powerful, and more economical by the addition of 33 new improvements and refinements, such as: A crankshaft 20 per cent heavier than before. Larger, stronger connecting rods. Sturdier camshaft bearings. Improved lubrication. A new "Octane Selector." And many other new assurances of better performance, longer life, and lower running cost.

Chevrolet has also introduced an entirely new type of rear axle. It's bigger. It's more rugged. And it's capable of handling heavier loads. All because Chevrolet has given it the outstanding mechanical advantages of a four-pinion differential and a straddle-mounted pinion with bearing support on both sides. Furthermore, every important axle part has been increased in weight and strength.

In addition, the Chevrolet 131-inch truck now has a much stronger frame, with deeper, heavier side members. The 1½-ton models have a sturdier universal joint, as well as larger brakes, improved springs, and a new 15-gallon fuel tank. And every Chevrolet truck now presents a smarter, more impressive appearance: New radiator. New headlamps. New fenders. And, on many models, new body lines.

Nothing that Chevrolet has ever done before in trucks can equal the importance of this announcement: A stronger, more powerful, more durable six-cylinder line. Even more economical than last year. And selling at prices as low as $440.* That's value. That's leadership. That's news which no buyer of a low-priced truck can afford to disregard.

This is Chevrolet Truck Demonstration Week. And special arrangements have been made to give all truck-users a road demonstration of the improved Chevrolet six-cylinder truck. Take advantage of this opportunity to see and try the world's most economical haulage unit.

TWO ATTORNEYS ACCUSED OF PLOT IN TRUE BILLS

Attempts to "Fix" Cases Are Charged.

Investigation by State's Attorney Courtney of a recent practice of certain lawyers in the defense of clients by the use of coram nobis writs—reopening a case on the basis of new evidence—resulted yesterday in action by the grand jury. Two attorneys, Paul Pomeroy, formerly an assistant in the city prosecutor's office, and Ira B. Fehrman, were reported named in true bills charging conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Pomeroy is accused of trying to "fix" the case of Frank Chan, Chinese waiter at the Oriental Gardens, 39 West Randolph street, who was charged with assault by Gertrude Zerby, checkroom girl at the restaurant. Chan was fined $100 on Nov. 29 by Judge Freeman Fairbank. Subsequently Pomeroy filed a writ of coram nobis to reopen the case on the plea that a witness had been discovered who would disprove the testimony of Miss Zerby.

Accuse Defense Attorney.

Assistant State's Attorney John Leonard Murphy called in this witness, William Breihof, 901 Belmont avenue, a machinist, and the defendant, Chan, for questioning. Both admitted that Breihof had been hired to "beat the case," and asserted that the scheme had been engineered by Attorney Pomeroy, Prosecutor Murphy said. The two men, it is said, repeated the admission before the grand jury.

Investigation of Attorney Fehrman was begun on Saturday after Mrs. Rose Jalloway, 4923 Komensky avenue, wife of Stephen Jalloway, confessed participant in a $14,500 robbery in Georgia, told Prosecutor Murphy that she had paid Fehrman $150 on account to prevent her husband's return to Georgia. Extradition of Jalloway was ordered on Saturday by Judge Francis Allegretti. Attorney Fehrman had filed a coram nobis writ, promising to produce six witnesses to prove that Jalloway was in Chicago at the time the robbery occurred in Georgia, Dec. 16.

Witnesses Heard by Jury.

Prosecutor Murphy questioned the witnesses, all of whom testified before the grand jury. According to Mr. Murphy, Attorney Fehrman first met Jalloway when the latter was in the county jail awaiting the extradition proceedings. "We have evidence to prove that Fehrman offered to 'beat the case' against Jalloway for $600 and that Jalloway sent the lawyer to his wife for the money," said the prosecutor.

INSISTS BRITAIN IS STILL TRYING TO END IRISH ROW

LONDON, Jan. 13.—(AP)—J. H. Thomas, secretary for dominions, today denied that the British government was making no serious effort to settle the controversy with the Irish Free State because it hoped the De Valera government would be defeated at the polls Jan. 24.

Statements to this effect have been made in the course of the election campaign now going on in the Free State.

Thomas, in a speech delivered at Monmouthshire, also denied allegations that while he was at the Ottawa imperial economic conference last summer he predicted that there would be civil war in the Free State within two months.

PAY ROLLERS DEFY FRANCE; REFUSE TO TAKE PAY CUTS

Cabinet Periled in Budget Fight.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 13.—The efforts of "Father Gaspard," as the Parisians call Henry Cheron, minister of finance, to fill the $400,000,000 hole in the French budget seemed to be blocked tonight by the refusal of various organized interests to cooperate with the government.

Various unions of government employés—which are technically illegal—have virtually defied the government to carry out the pay cuts proposed by Cheron. Under the government of former Premier Edouard Herriot, the civil servants threatened to paralyze governmental service by literally enforcing all conflicting regulations on the books if their salaries were reduced.

Unions Defy Government.

Last night the general union of government employés issued a communique saying that "in view of their sovereign power of negotiation on equal terms with the state," they did not see fit to continue negotiations with the government.

Inasmuch as the powerful Socialist party is supporting the unions, the Joseph Paul-Boncour government is almost certain to fall next week unless a compromise can be reached.

War veterans, who also have been asked to make sacrifices on pensions and other benefits, show an equally intransigeant mood. Following the visit of a delegation of veterans to Cheron this morning, their national headquarters announced that they had summoned a meeting of the administrative council to take necessary measures to defend their rights "however grave the decisions called for."

Opposition on All Sides.

Cheron's plan of plugging up the deficit by $200,000,000 in economies and $200,000,000 in new taxes is meeting opposition on all sides. An association of small merchants called on Cheron today to protest against a proposed retroactive tax on earnings the last three years. The national association of taxpayers will call on Paul-Boncour tomorrow to protest against the proposed surtax on incomes.

With the Paul-Boncour government likely to fall and any new government which may be formed doomed to struggle with the same difficulties, the financial situation is far from rosy. While government bonds sagged and the market was weak, the dollar rose to 25.63, which is a record for several years.

The policeman reports that he has remarried and lives with his wife at 2519 North Oak Park avenue.

One Near Death, 16 Hurt Battling Fire in Omaha

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 13.—(AP)—One fire captain was near death and 16 other persons were recovering tonight from injuries received in a fire that destroyed the three story building occupied by the Browning, King & Co. clothing store here today and caused the death of Battalion Chief Homer S. Howes. Damage is estimated at $450,000.

UKRAINIANS HAIL TWO EXECUTED BOYS AS MARTYRS

Put to Death by Poland as Terrorists.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LWOW, Poland, Jan. 13.—Religious devotions swept Poland on the eve of the recent execution of two young Ukrainian nationalists, convicted by a court martial of murder. The youths went to the gallows for a crime committed in the name of patriotism. Churches throughout the nation were crowded with people praying for the youths hours before the two were hanged.

The executed pair were Dymitr Danilyszyn, 22, and Wasili Bilas, 21, who held up and robbed the Grodek Jagielonski postoffice in an attempt to secure funds for the Ukrainian Nationalist organization, the leaders of which live in Germany and Switzerland. A policeman was killed while they were attempting to escape. A third youth, Marjan Zurakowski, 26, was also sentenced to death, but he received an eleventh hour commutation. He is serving 15 years in prison.

Regarded as Heroes.

The Greek churches of Lwow were filled hours before the executions. The crowds were made up mostly of high school and university students. The same observance took place in every Ukrainian home, in the mansions of the wealthy, and in the outlying huts of the peasants. The boys were bandits in the eyes of the law, but to the 4,000,000 Ukrainians in Poland and other countries they were national heroes.

The new Polish court procedure has closed executions to everybody except a few officials. No newspaper men are officially admitted. The present case was the twenty-ninth Ukrainian political trial in Poland in a year.

When the judges signed the order for the execution of the trio the prosecuting attorney went at once to their cells. He found them at their last meal, a baked hen sent by their families. The boys were unperturbed. After the meal they talked and sang Ukrainian folk songs.

Spend Night with Priest.

Then the Ukrainian priest, Dr. Bohdan Lypski, arrived. He remained the entire night with them, praying and singing psalms in front of lighted candles. A few minutes before 5 o'clock on the following morning Bilas' peasant mother arrived to see her son for the last time.

Outside the prison a huge crowd had assembled. It was dispersed by police. At 6:30 a. m. Danilyszyn appeared in the courtyard with two officials. He walked leisurely to the gallows, raised his head for a long look, mounted the few steps alone, and in a few seconds was dead. A quarter of an hour later Bilas followed.

There was one episode in the case even more tragic to the boys than their execution. As they fled from the scene of the crime they were surrounded in the village of Woryn by an angry mob of Ukrainian peasants who, thinking they were thieves who had robbed the village cooperative store, beat the boys with sticks and stones. When police rescued them Danilyszyn, covered with blood, exclaimed: "We are dying for Ukrainia and you are killing us."

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Victor McLaglen, the man of hard boiled demeanor on the screen, took the oath of American citizenship in the federal court here today. The actor renounced allegiance to King George V. of England and said that while he fought four years for England in the world war, he was glad to be an American now.

TWO NEW YORK POLICEMEN HELD FOR KIDNAPING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Two policemen and three other men, one of them an ex-convict, were arrested today. They are charged with kidnaping Ernest Schoeing, alias Bernie Smith, a convicted bootlegger and briber, from the federal court building in Brooklyn on Dec. 27 last, holding him for $100,000 ransom that was not collected.

The policemen, who heard themselves denounced in the lineup at police headquarters as "worse than sewer rats," are Patrolmen John Nevins, 38, and Arthur E. Graef, 37. Both were arrested in their homes by Acting Captain Patrick McVeigh and ten detectives, who had been working on the case nearly two weeks.

Fights with Detectives.

Patrolman Graef put up a terrific fight, the detectives said, and submitted only after the arresting officers had informed him that they intended to take him "dead or alive."

Frank Miller, 35, arrested 20 times and convicted once; Max Geller, 22, and Leonard Gawelczyk, 33, who said he was a chauffeur, all of Manhattan, were the others charged with the kidnaping.

All five are accused of kidnaping Schoeing from the federal court building in Brooklyn a few minutes after he had appeared in court in connection with the case in which he was convicted. He then was at liberty on bail.

Schoeing, 45, was indicted on April 5 last on charges of conspiring to violate the prohibition law and for bribery. Schoeing was described by the government as "payoff" man for a big bootlegging gang in New Jersey. He was sentenced to fourteen years in prison.

Called Coast Guard Briber.

Schoeing called at the federal of bribing coast guardsmen at Blue Point, Belle Port, and Fire Island, paying them a total of $10,500. Some of the coast guardsmen also were indicted and convicted. Schoeing appealed his case, but the Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed the conviction.

Schoeing called at the federal building in connection with his case, having been at liberty in $10,000 bail pending his appeal. He later told the police he was approached by Nevins and Graef in the corridor outside the courtroom. They exhibited shields, said he was wanted in another case, and asked him to accompany them.

Driven to Garage.

Leaving the building, they got into an automobile driven by Miller, as Schoeing recalls it, and drove to a garage in Pacific street. They were at the garage until nightfall. Schoeing was given a pair of glasses, the lenses of which had been taped, and ordered to wear them. They got into the automobile and drove away.

They drove for some time, then the car came to a halt. Schoeing's captors hustled him into a house. There they kept him a prisoner until Jan. 10. On three occasions, he said, the cops—Nevins and Graef—forced him to write ransom letters to his wife demanding $100,000. Each time they wanted a letter they threatened him with revolvers, Schoeing said.

On Jan. 10, he said, the two policemen came to the house and said, "Release this fellow."

Schoeing was released Mrs. Schoeing had exhibited to detectives three ransom letters, each demanding $100,000 for her husband's release. She had made no effort to pay the money.

Irish Consul in Chicago to Set Up Consular Office

Matthew Murphy, consul for the Irish Free State in New York, arrived in Chicago yesterday to establish a consular office here. The new consulate will be in the Wrigley building. "Chicago is one of the finest cities in the world and you can expect a great crowd of real Irishmen here for the World's Fair," said Mr. Murphy.

See how much one box did for Mrs. Willis Swan of Milwaukee

"I ALWAYS wanted to know just how much work could be done with one big box of Rinso, so I kept track of what I did with the last box just to satisfy my curiosity. I did the dishes six times, the floors once and all this laundry work:

2 doilies	5 table-cloths	6 pairs pajamas
2 bedspreads	18 towels	4 aprons
3 bureau scarfs	15 dish towels	8 pairs socks
10 face cloths	24 handkerchiefs	3 pieces underwear
12 napkins	6 rag rugs	8 shirts
6 pillow cases	1 cotton blouse
6 sheets	4 house-dresses

Rinso is marvelous in tub or washer. Its thick suds soak out dirt—save scrubbing, boiling. Born in hardest water, a little Rinso gives a lot of creamy suds. Great for dishes. Get the BIG box.

Yellow Cab

Will Protect Visitors to the World's Fair

The World's Fair

is only a few months away when countless thousands of strangers from all parts of the world, will throng the streets of Chicago, its stores, boulevards, parks and suburbs.

You and I, and every other Chicagoan with a sense of pride, will want these visitors warmly welcomed, well cared for and thoroly protected from the moment they enter the city and all the time they are here.

BUT—if you fill the streets with rickety, unclean cabs and irresponsible, conscienceless drivers, strictly "on the make regardless of ways and means," what will happen to Chicago's guests? Your guess is as good as ours, but we think we know what will happen.

Yellow Cab with its established integrity, financial responsibility, modern equipment, trained drivers and perfect system of operation, is the only cab company qualified to properly serve and protect these guests from slick schemers who may otherwise be in force and alert during the Fair.

BARON SAYS HE MUST GET JOB OR AUCTION TITLE

Admits $250,000 Legacy Was Squandered.

New York, Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Baron Giorgio Mario Suriani of Naples, Italy, and more recently from Chicago, who inherited $250,000 two years ago, announced today in his room in the Hotel Claridge that he is broke and is looking for a job. Failing to get the job in the next few days he will sell the title at auction, he told reporters.

The baron is 32 years old and almost bald. He speaks English with a slight accent, having been in this country for a number of years. He said he would like "to work as a host in a hotel, or a night club, or some other place where a knowledge of foreign languages and social usuages would be appreciated."

Had a Good Time for Two Years.

Asked what happened to the $250,000 which the baron said his uncle left him, the reply was: "I had a good time during the last two years and paid about $100,000 of gambling debts." Continuing, he said: "I have had my fling and am ready to settle down now. I must find a job somewhere quickly if I am to eat and have a place to sleep. I am really serious about it this time. I have been broke before, but this time I want work and want to settle down."

The baron frankly said he did not know what the title would bring at auction in the event he put it up for sale. In January, 1928, the baron inserted an advertisement in a Boston newspaper offering to sell his title for $100,000. There were no bidders, but the baron said he received two offers of marriage, one from an elderly widow "who had $30,000,000."

"Old Women Live Forever."

"I refused to marry, because I knew she could not make me happy," he said. Then, as an afterthought, he added: "These old women live forever, so I thought it best to remain single."

In June, 1928, the baron was one of several hundred who competed for a $5,000 prize in a dance marathon in the Madison Square Garden. The following month it was announced he was to marry Miss Winifred Barry, actress, but the young woman declined to go through with the wedding, saying she learned after the license had been obtained that her would-be husband had tried to sell his title of nobility.

UNION N. BETHELL, TELEPHONE HIGH OFFICIAL, DIES

Montclair, N. J., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Union Noble Bethell, banker, lawyer and prominent figure in the telephone industry since 1889, died in Mountainside hospital today after a lingering illness. He was 75 years old.

Mr. Bethell was formerly vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, former president of the New York Telephone company, and an officer or director in other Bell companies throughout the United States.

During the war he was chairman of the United States telegraph and telephone administration. In 1909, the emperor of Japan decorated him with the imperial order of the rising sun.

Born in Newburg, Ind., Sept. 12, 1859, Mr. Bethell was graduated from Hanover college in 1879. He became a clerk in Washington, D. C., attended Columbia Law school, and was admitted to the bar in Washington in 1885. Three sons, Richard, Francis, and John, survive him.

Henry Neill, South Dakota Pioneer Legislator, Dies

Aberdeen, S. D., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Henry Neill, 83, pioneer educator, newspaper man and legislator, died at his home here last night of pneumonia. Neill came ot South Dakota in 1882. He was elected lieutenant governor by the "rump" legislature that met at Huron to demand South Dakota's statehood. Born in Scotland, Neill was educated in Portage, Wis., and Beloit college.

W. R. CARDY, 61, GLENCOE, DIES OF AUTO INJURY

William R. Cardy, 61 years old, 524 Vernon avenue, Glencoe, president of the printing company bearing his name at 213 Institute place, died last night in St. Francis hospital in Evanston of injuries suffered on Jan. 1 in an automobile accident. His wife, Bernadette, was slightly hurt. Mr. Cardy was a native of Chicago and since 1926 had been treasurer of the Illinois College of Chiropody. He was a Mason, Shriner, and Knight Templar and a member of the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Illinois Athletic association.

Cornelius Kasper, 10 years old, 4917 South Wood street, was killed and Joseph Sizowski, 11, of 4921 South Wood street, was seriously injured last evening when the truck on which they had stolen a ride was struck by another at 51st street and Ashland avenue. The injured boy was taken to the South Town hospital.

The two boys, with two other friends, had ridden several blocks on the truck, driven by William F. Horton, 1166 East 54th street. When Horton discovered their presence he stopped suddenly and ordered them away. The other two escaped, but Cornelius and Joseph were crushed before they could jump.

These deaths increased the 1933 Cook county automobile toll to 29.

Robert H. Sewall Jr., 49 years old, head of the detective agency bearing his name, was arrested and charged with speeding and leaving the scene of an accident yesterday after his car struck and overturned another machine at Sheridan road and Sunnyside avenue. An Evanston bailiff who saw the accident captured Sewall at Sheridan road and Lawrence avenue. He was held by Lincoln park police.

Policemen Hugo Olsen and Edward Pelch of the Warren avenue station were injured early today in a collision between their squad car and another automobile at Madison street and Washtenaw avenue. Olsen's shoulder was wrenched. Pelch was cut on the left hand. The other car was driven by Carman Mundo, 18 years old, 2717 Adams street.

BISHOP DIES AS DOCTORS WAIT TO EXAMINE HIM

St. Joseph, Mo., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Bishop Francis Gilfillan, in charge of the Catholic diocese of St. Joseph for nine years, was found dead today in his room at the St. Joseph cathedral rectory. He was 62 years old.

Although Bishop Gilfillan had been suffering from a cold for several days, his death was believed to have been caused by heart trouble.

He had lain down on a cot in his room when two physicians arrived to prescribe treatment for the cold, and as it was his custom to sleep for a short time each afternoon he was not disturbed. Priests later went to his room and found him dead. The physicians said he apparently had died about fifteen minutes earlier, while they were waiting in another room.

Bishop Gilfillan was born in Ireland. After coming to the United States he spent two years at the Catholic University of America in Washington and was ordained a priest in 1895.

BOYS HELD ON THEFT CHARGES.

A. F. Cobb, 18 years old, 11131 South Irving avenue, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bond of $2,000 by Judge Harold P. O'Connell on charges of stealing an automobile and a 50 gallon drum of alcohol. Mickey Myrda, 17, of 2454 Logan boulevard, was held in $3,000 bonds on a similar charge.

RUSSIAN PAPERS CHARGE HALF OF U. S. IS STARVING

Tell Soviets They Are Far Better Off.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Jan. 13.—Bitter attacks against the United States are being published in all the soviet newspapers. The Russians are being told that half the population of America is starving and that a revolution is near.

The same editions of Pravda and Izvestia, which seek to convince the bolsheviks that conditions in America are even worse than in Russia, also publish dispatches from New York correspondents relating the efforts being made to obtain recognition of the Moscow government at Washington, D. C.

Under the headline, "Mass Murder of Children in the United States," Pravda states:

"During 1932 Mr. Hoover met the American homeless with bombs. The United States government does not consider it necessary to care for the homeless, leaving this completely in the hands of private philanthropy. Mr. Hoover is not feeding the children because this is not profitable, it being more profitable to export condensed milk and other foods abroad to be sold at almost nothing in order to avoid decreased prices in the internal market.

"The hungering American children are allowed to die because the economic policies of Washington are more important than sentiment. There will be more homeless children in America, and there will be a systematical mass slaughter of children."

Alleging that idleness and the problem of homeless children have been completely liquidated in Russia despite official admissions of prevailing famine conditions and announcements that the state is cutting governmental staffs by one-third, Pravda claims that bolshevism has converted savage waifs into engineers and scientists.

COUNTY BOARD'S TAX SUIT ORDER ROILS COURTNEY

A resolution passed last week by the county board directing Edward M. Winston, special tax attorney, to withdraw from all his tax suits now pending in the Circuit and Superior courts, and instructing the state's attorney's office to take over the work, resulted in a heated clash between the commissioners and State's Attorney Courtney yesterday.

Appearing before the board, Mr. Courtney demanded that his office be allowed to take over the work of Attorney Winston, who had a contract to collect delinquent real estate taxes, and the work of Attorney Lee La Rochelle, who has a contract to collect delinquent personalty taxes. At the same time the state's attorney said he would oppose any action to bring about these changes unless he were granted funds to hire half a dozen assistants to take over the work.

The commissioners informed him that they already had canceled Winston's contract and that they would order him to withdraw immediately from the pending suits. They then demanded an opinion from the state's attorney on their right to terminate the La Rochelle contract, which runs until next June. They also told him to draw up his requirements for additional help and submit them to the board at a later heating.

The state's attorney shouted in anger. He protested that he was being placed in a "false position," and said the board was seeking to force more work upon him without intending to give him more help. Finally, calmed by the commissioners, he approved their vote ordering Winston to withdraw.

Lasky Marks Twenty Years of Film Work

Recall "Squawman" Made in Hollywood Barn.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 13.—Loretta Young, who was born the year "The Squawman" was filmed, was one of a group who joined Jesse Lasky, who produced that pioneer picture, in celebrating the twentieth anniversary of Lasky's entrance into films today. Disregarding the fact their party fell on Friday the thirteenth, Cecil B. De Mille, who directed this first film of Lasky's and who is still going strong; Sam Goldwyn, another early associate; Winfield Sheehan, production chief of the Fox studios, and others joined Lasky as guests at the party in honor of the occasion at the Café de Paris on the Fox lot.

Miss Young gave Lasky his "birthday" gift, consisting of a reel of film made up of excerpts of his screen hits in the 20 years since 1913. Lasky and De Mille started together in an old barn in the middle of an orange grove in the then isolated orchard hamlet of Hollywood. The late Dustin Farnum was their star in "The Squawman." Lasky followed this picture with "Brewster's Millions," with Edward Abeles as star and Oscar Apfel as director, and then came "The Master Mind," with Edmund Breese as star.

Lasky's latest film as head of his own production unit at Fox studio is called "Zoo in Budapest," and is a whimsical romance with the love story of Gene Raymond and Loretta Young sharing attention with the adventures of the animals in the story.

The happiest couple I have seen around any of the studios in weeks was raising Ned at M-G-M yesterday on the set where Buster Keaton, Phyllis Barry, John Miljan, and others are filming a story called "Beer." The happy couple consisted of Buster Keaton and his dad, old Joe Keaton, retired vaudeville veteran. Keaton's sister looked on as the two rollicked during lulls in the film story.

Buster started it with the old vaudeville trick of balancing a broom, upside down, on his toe and kicking it the length of the movie stage into his father's face. Only it didn't quite reach his father's face. The father reached forward at the moment of the impact as if he had been practicing it for weeks and grabbed the hurtling broom in midair. Then the pair built up a gag in which Buster chased his dad off the set.

The father ran, carrying the broom, but the broom wedged lengthwise in the doorway as he ran through the door and the gag ended with the dad bouncing back into the room, because of the firmness with which he held on to the wedged broom, to whack Buster a full wallop with the broom right in the face.

"He's losing his wallop," Buster laughed as he got off the floor where the blow had knocked him.

Then the pair of them set to work to see which could simulate the most natural fall over a rolling beer barrel. The barrel was supposed to convey them, sitting on the rolling barrel—if you don't think this is a hard stunt, take out life insurance and try it—right out the door of the room. When last seen the son and the parent were rolling and falling over barrels on the soft green lawn outside of the stage in which the forgotten movie story was supposed to be filmed, while Miss Barry, an English actress, who had just finished a lead rôle in a dramatic romance with Ronald Colman, looked on in wide eyed amazement that wasn't simulated a bit.

"I've had more fun working on this film with Keaton than I have had since my detachment of the marines celebrated the armistice in France," Miljan said. "Keaton would do anything to get a laugh, even break his neck. God forbid."

I don't know if any of those laugh routines with the broom and the beer barrel will figure in the completed picture "Beer" at all. Probably not. The elder Keaton isn't in the film cast. But if those gags are not included you will probably see others perhaps more silly and hazardous. "That's the way Keaton works the funny situations into all his pictures," the studio explains.

Universal has signed Ken Maynard to replace Tom Mix, resigned, to make six cowboy films.

Radio has definitely decided to go ahead and film "Little Women" with Katharine Hepburn as Jo, Anita Louise in the cast, George Cukor to direct, and two women writers, G. B. Stern and Jane Murfin, putting Louisa May Alcott's girl story into screen shape.

Maurice Chevalier has received a letter of objection from Marie Chevalier, who lives in Brooklyn, saying that she has been so annoyed at receiving mail intended for the actor she is seriously considering changing her name.

SPRING COATS FROM PARIS

By Bettina Bedwell

"Spring wraps the like of which have not been seen for some time are being offered by Paris," says Bettina Bedwell, Tribune Paris fashion correspondent, in the Sunday Tribune.

She describes in detail the new coats—and four of the most attractive of them are illustrated in three colors. Don't miss this last-minute news from Paris—in the Fashion Section of the Sunday Tribune.

Back to School Again

Miss Bobette Boysen is leaving today to return to her studies at Vassar after a gay holiday vacation at home and a not-so-gay extra vacation caused by a siege of chicken pox. She made her debut at a dinner dance given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis K. Boysen, on Dec. 26, and just before she was to leave on Jan. 3 to return to college, she "broke out" with chicken pox.

Helen Hayes Stars Again in Good Film

"The Son-Daughter" Tells Story of Chinese.

Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.
Directed by Clarence Brown.
Presented at the Chicago theater.

THE CAST.

Tom Lee ..... Ramon Navarro
Lien Wha ..... Helen Hayes
Dr. Dong Tong ..... Lewis Stone
Fen Sha ..... Warner Oland
Fang Fou Hy ..... Ralph Morgan
Toy Yah ..... Louise Closser Hale
Sin Kai ..... H. B. Warner

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!
With pract-i-cally no ado
She strangled Fen Sha
With his cue.

And still another laurel wreath for Helen Hayes! Sure and 'twas a great day for the cinema when she came into its life!

"The Son-Daughter," adapted from the Belasco play, permits Miss Hayes to show us how a Chinese maiden conducts herself under stress. This she does quite as convincingly as she depicted the American Leora in "Arrowsmith," French Madelon in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet," and Catherine Barclay the English nurse in "Farewell to Arms." The rôle is not so well suited to her as were the others mentioned, but she wrings from it every bit of fun, pathos, and drama that it holds. You see her as Lien Wha, daughter of a Chinese patriot, resident of San Francisco's Chinatown.

It becomes necessary for the doctor to sell his daughter to the highest bidder, a gambler of great wealth—and a loyalist. Lien Wha, who is in love with a prince, Tom Lee, sacrifices herself for the cause—as does her lover. And then Fen Sha, who has purchased her, does some killing . . .

Miss Hayes is fragile, appealing, whimsical, brilliant, delightful as Lien Wha. There are times when you yearn to stand up and wave a flag for her.

Ramon Navarro gives a charmingly sympathetic portrayal of the high born revolutionist, Tom Lee. Lewis Stone is splendid as Dr. Dong Tong; Louise Closser Hale does well as the heroine's chaperon, and Warner Oland in the rôle of the gambler is, as always, the perfect villain. You will approve of all the other players, too, I think.

The picture is well staged and photographed and has some notable scenes. You will remember longest those between Lien Wha and Tom Lee and the one where the girl is auctioned off to the highest bidder.

See you tomorrow!

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT? BY H. A. RIDLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his casebook covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try your wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read! Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

CLASS DAY.

"I had dinner with an old friend of mine last evening," said Prof. Fordney to his class at the university. "He related some of his interesting experiences as a young missionary in Africa and one incident impressed me as being peculiarly applicable to our purpose. As the criminal investigator is frequently called upon to meet odd and unusual circumstances and as his story illustrates the successful handling of a perplexing situation, I am going to give it to you as your problem for today. Listen.

"Three missionaries were taking three cannibals to missionary headquarters. By themselves, or with an equal number of whites, the cannibals were entirely tractable. At the slightest opportunity, however, the missionaries knew they would revert to cannibalism. Therefore, it was absolutely essential that at all times there should be no more cannibals than missionaries together.

"Preparing to cross a river, they found that their small boat would hold only two people. None of them could swim and while all the missionaries could row, only one of the cannibals could. What a dilemma!

"After some thought, one of the missionaries arrived at the manner of getting them all across without permitting there to be at any time more cannibals than missionaries on the same side of the river. O, yes, the cannibal who could row was named Whatso.

"Yes, you may use matches, pencils, or anything you like to represent the cannibals and missionaries. Hop to it fellows," concluded the professor with a smile.

HOW DID YOU GET THEM ACROSS?

[See solution on page 31.]

It was announced today that Miss Garden, for many years a star of Chicago opera, had signed a contract calling for four appearances a day on the theater circuit which includes the Capitol theater here. Miss Garden, it was announced, will sing principally classic folk songs.

She will make her first appearance in Washington Jan. 15 and will appear at the Capitol here the week of Jan. 27. Last month Miss Garden was scheduled to appear at the same house, but was forced to cancel her engagement because of an attack of bronchitis.

Miss Garden returned from Europe late in November to fulfill a contract with the Columbia Concerts corporation, which a year ago announced the opera singer had signed a three year contract. During the summer abroad she fulfilled an engagement with the Opera Comique in Paris.

Many Stylish Things Await Week-End Shopper.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Lots of new things for the week-end shopper . . . the most sudden and startling being the vivid Irish green handbags collected in a spectacular huddle in one shop. Grassy, green affairs that will almost knock your eye out . . . nothing demure about these new arrivals, they are large, capaciously interesting, and among them you will find some gay green felt creations that will splatter and splash up and down the boulevard with good eye filling results.

These green bags come in a dozen or so assorted shapes, some swanky squares with the inevitable and popular slabs of metal ready for your monogram, others have silvery round discs of metal that can go around unlettered and still be smart and snappy accents. Some are long oblongs about as flat as anything you have ever seen and still thick enough to boast about all the extra compartments, divisions, and pockets the shopping female needs for a good buying expedition.

You will find some tucked creations that look like quilted patterns, very effective and something different from the old flat surfaces.

Some other breezy new things are the very fresh and crisp organdy guimpes or blouses, depending upon what you think constitutes a blouse. You will see gay flippant things of green, yellow, and red plaid organdy, baby Scotch plaids that will win your heart . . . but the trick sleeves are what you will smile over. These perky short sleeves are nothing more or less than two circles sewed one to another at their outside circumference . . . the centers form the cuff and armhole respectively . . . the entire sleeve looking as much like an inflated life preserver as anything in organdy could. They are fetching little extras (the guimpes) that will do grand things for all the clever new suspender and jumper frocks that the gay young things about town are wearing.

Another guimpe that is almost a full fledged blouse is made of a particularly interesting large plaid silk with a background of leaf green, with criss-cross stripes of yellow, black and red. A wide organdy bow of black is tied across the chest with an excellent contrasting result. Other plaids on different colored backgrounds are available.

Are you shopping around for new turtle necked sweaters? There is a good collection of these smart new things, showing some new dusty pinks, some ravishing powder blues, and some butter yellows that ought to make every one sit up and take notice . . and while you shop for sweaters, do look at the newest skirts, the impeccably tailored separate skirts of oxford gray, tweed mixtures, some racy checks, and some rather robust plaids, all snappy new stuff for immediate wear.

Some exciting new sports type hats have been located . . . the brimmed hats that can be dipped and swirled and curved to suit the owner. These rather slouchy things, though a bit trimmer than the old fashioned model with a Garbo flop, are quite the smartest you can slap on your head.

One shop has the dashing turned down in front hat that looks suspiciously like it belonged to a man . . . if you are sure you like these extreme hats and know without any sickening doubt that you can wear them, these nonchalantly fashioned affairs are different enough to be extremely desirable for the lucky lass who can dare them, but caution is advised.

Carson Gallery Shows Works of Two Artists

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

An exhibition of importance has just opened. It consists of paintings by Francis Chapin and J. Theodore Johnson and may be seen in the Carson Pirie Scott gallery.

Francis Chapin is one of the most casual, debonnair and successful of the Chicago modernists. He is a magnet for luck—witness the prize of $750 given to him by the Art institute in the Chicago Artists' exhibition last Thursday. This prize picture, the "Pink House," cannot hold a candle to several of his canvases in the Carson gallery, so undoubtedly the museum itself would have been offered him on a gold platter had he accidentally submitted as strong a canvas as "The Green Roof," for example.

Chapin's "Roscoff Lighthouse," with its beauty of water and birdlike boats, makes one forgive him a good deal. If he would desist from leg pulling and turn serious, there is no telling how far he would go. Of course he would be repudiated by the "moderns." Those bright spirits, unburdened by standards of any sort, have already repudiated Theodore Johnson, who shares the exhibit with Mr. Chapin. In earlier days Mr. Johnson was himself a modern; his modernism was always, however, clear cut in line and glowing in color.

His recent paintings show a magnificent development of technique and craft. Many of his paintings are exquisite. His modelling is remarkable. The "Still Life Composition" and "Flowers, No. 1" illustrate the fine point to which his genius has attained.

The earlier "Italian Hills" gives promise of his ability as a colorist and is interesting in its planes and depth. The more recent work, however, has a mature consciousness of aim and purpose and a definite consciousness of the value of beauty, proportion and truth which are irresistible.

For a refreshing show we recommend this. It will continue through January.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Jan. 13.—A salute of 21 guns in front of the royal palace at 10:37 a. m. today notified Bulgarians that a royal baby girl had been born.

The mother, Queen Joanna, daughter of the king and queen of Italy, and the baby are reported doing well. The infant weighs eight pounds.

The population was aware that the happy event was drawing near and the salute of guns was a prearranged signal. People eagerly counted the shots and when there was a silence after the twenty-first they realized regretfully that no heir to the throne had been born, for his arrival would have been signaled by 101 guns.

Although a son had been hoped for, the arrival of the little princess caused great rejoicing. Instruction in the schools was immediately suspended and the children dismissed until Monday.

From thousands of windows flags appeared, transforming the city into a sea of color. Cheering crowds collected outside the palace. They were allowed to enter the royal gardens. King Boris III. appeared on the balcony, announced the birth of the princess, and thanked the people for their congratulations.

The child is to be brought up a Roman Catholic. This is in accordance with the promise given by King Boris to Pope Pius XI. as a condition to his marriage to the Italian princess that all their children be brought up as Catholics. King Boris is of the Greek Orthodox faith.

Had the child been a boy a serious conflict might have arisen between the pope and the state. Under the Bulgarian constitution not only the king but the heir to the throne must be Orthodox.

For three days the Bulgarian capital will be given to rejoicing. Today and tomorrow were proclaimed national holidays. Tonight the streets were brilliantly illuminated. Popular songs were sung in the royal gardens and people sang and danced on the lawns and in the streets.

Gifts for the princess already are arriving at the palace from all parts of Bulgaria and foreign countries. Some sets of baby clothes from the country districts are beautifully embroidered peasant dresses.

A Job a Day

Every little improvement we give our home right now helps us—and the other fellow, too.

Your house is no stronger than its supports! Examine the wooden columns in the basement which support your first floor girders and also carry part of weight of other floors and roof besides. See if there is any sign of decay around their base. This often happens in an aging house if cellar is damp or ventilation poor. If so, have new columns installed with cast iron bases or concrete blocks placed under them. These columns are very important and can become quite rotten and unsafe before their condition is discovered if no inspection is made.

Select Guides for Tours of Brewster Home

Public School Art Society to Get Proceeds.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE connoisseurs who are to be present at the special view of the art collection of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster next week to answer questions about the collection are being assembled by Mrs. Clay Judson, the former Sylvia Shaw, who is an artist as well as a connoisseur of art. She is well known as a sculptor and pieces illustrating her talent are in many of the loveliest of our north shore gardens for she rather specializes in fountains and other garden appurtenances.

Assisting her in asking some of their friends who are competent to answer questions about the Brewster collection to serve as guides is Mrs. John A. Holabird, wife of the architect. The Brewsters' daughter, Mrs. Duncan Hodges, and Mrs. Shreve Badger and Mrs. Pauling Donnelley, have agreed to be on hand the first morning, next Friday, and Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson and Mrs. J. Paul Welling for that afternoon.

On next Saturday morning Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Philip Maher, and Mrs. Walter Paepcke will be there and Mrs. C. Barney Goodspeed and Mrs. James Weber Linn will spend that afternoon answering questions. Miss Lucy Silke, head of the art department of the public schools, and some of her associates will be there Sunday morning and that afternoon Miss Theodora Shaw and Miss Peggy Hambleton will be on hand.

House to Be Opened at 11.

The house is to be open from 11 in the morning until 6 in the evening on those three days, and there is no doubt but that the Chicago Public School Art society, which is to benefit by the entrance fees, will receive a goodly sum, for every one interested in art who has not heretofore seen the Brewsters' charming house at 2704 Lake View avenue will want to make it a point to take advantage of this unusual opportunity of seeing a rare collection in such a setting.

To view works of art in museums or galleries is pleasant and not unusual, but to see the Brewsters' really fine collection in their house emphasizes the decorative effect of the collection and is a privilege not always available to those who are not personal friends of private collectors.

The house itself is a treasure, small but perfect in every detail, and it would be worth the price of admission, $1.50, just to see it! David Adler built it for Abram Poole, and it is one of the most charming and distinctive of society's town houses.

The art collection, composed largely of the work of the French artists of the 19th and 20th centuries, contains oil and water color paintings, many drawings and prints, and small bronzes.

SOMETHING OUGHT TO BE DONE ABOUT THIS

BARTER AND SAIL

By HENRY C. ROWLAND

SYNOPSIS.

Capt. Hiram White sails his four master ship, the Abigail White, in search of a ship filled with pearl oysters, sunk by a French captain before the world war in a lagoon in a South Sea island. Arlette Mordecai, the French captain's granddaughter, has brought him complete instructions for finding the ship. Arlette is accompanied by an English woman of title, known as Ladybird. In his crew are Adam Eden, an unemployed engineer, an unemployed French chauffeur named Raoul, Roberta Millbank, and Peter Cavan. Roberta's father died after his bank failed and Peter was his trusted employé. Benny, a cook, hires up for his keep. Ladybird, who is a naval officer's daughter, is made mate. Henery Shepard, backer of the venture, fills the boat with a cargo of his own choosing and makes profitable trades at ports en route to the island where the sunken treasure craft is located. Capt. Hiram, Adam, and Peter take turns diving for the oysters. They have them all aboard when they are beset by a ruffianly crew of a strange yacht, headed by Capt. Derring, who turns out to be Ladybird's husband and aware of the sunken treasure. He demands the oysters and the diving rig. Peter, knowing the oysters contain no pearls and that the girls must be protected, advises giving them up, which Roberta interprets as yellowness. Capt. Hiram agrees with Peter. Derring boards the four master and orders his yacht to tow it out to sea, where the shell is transferred. Then Derring starts trouble and is thrown overboard. Before he can reach his boat he is attacked and killed by a shark. The crew again study Mordecai's directions and discover a secret code and that the pearls taken from the oysters are hidden in a cookstove on the sunken boat. But now they have no diving rig. They return to the lagoon and manage to raise the ship's bow where the cookhouse is located. There is danger of the cookstove breaking loose. Diving seems their only chance. Roberta, the only expert swimmer aboard, dives and gets the pearls.

INSTALLMENT XLVIII.

WEDDING BELLS.

The captain smiled. "Raoul came to me after supper when I had been saying how our fortunes were all on the up and up, and stated that he was the only one who hadn't directly contributed to our success. I told him to slide his hatch."

"We can afford to count Raoul in," Peter said.

"Well, it isn't going to matter so much because it is plain enough that he and Arlette are only waiting to get ashore to marry. According to my way of thinking we ought to tear up our agreement and share and share alike."

"Would Ladybird agree to that?"

A voice from the companionway said: "I wouldn't have a week ago, skipper, but I feel like joining Benny in chanting the Psalms of David."

She walked over to where they stood, laid her hand on the captain's shoulder, then rested her cheek against her hand.

"There's only one thing I want particularly now, Peter. Maybe you can guess what that is."

"I'd say it was mutual, Ladybird."

"Yes, and not unique aboard. Are you quite blind, Peter? Or is it only that you can't see?"

He said sadly: "You don't understand, Ladybird. Things are going to be different for some of us after we get ashore."

"This isn't sea love, old banker. It's lasted too long. Sea love is an acute febrile condition that runs its course in a month or sooner and is completely cured by the shade of the first big green tree."

"If you're talking about Miss Bobbs——"

"What's that about 'Miss Bobbs'?" said a lilting voice, and Roberta came out.

"Can't you make him chuck that 'Miss' overboard now that he's got a stake to start a bank?" Ladybird asked.

Roberta said calmly: "I doubt it. Even after we're married."

"O, come, Miss Bobbs——"

"Come where? Up for'ard? Very well."

The captain took the wheel that Peter was holding as the vessel lounged along. Roberta tucked her arm in Peter's and they walked away forward and down the ladder and along the deck.

"Just one little girl," Peter mused. "And bigger than the whole ship. Just one little pearl and worth a dozen ships. Just one little finger of this one little girl and worth more than all the pearls in all the ships in the Pacific."

She went on mockingly: "Just one big pearl on one little finger of the one girl and we'll be all set, Peter."

"For what?" he asked to make her say it.

"For the big spring thaw," said Roberta. "All the assets melting out again. Peter, I know just how you felt. As if there always had to be a gulf between us. But there's no longer any gulf. The deep sea has flowed into it and filled it up."

The big four master sailed in between the heads to the beautiful little landlocked harbor of Pango-Pango, which she pretty well filled up.

Another conference was held to discuss ways and means.

Capt. Hiram said in his forthright way: "For reasons that are plain enough we better not say anything at all about calling at the atoll. Best we can do is to take the first mail ship for San Francisco and put the pearls in a safe place, just declaring them for the customs."

"They'll want to know where we got them," Peter said.

"They can see the data Mr. Mordecai furnished. But I'll hold back the bearings. They might lead to complications."

Ladybird said: "The customs assay office expert can weigh and measure the pearls, and divide them as nearly as possible into equal shares. Then we can number these lots and draw for them."

This impressed the others as liberal of Ladybird, who had been the only one to show avarice. But she seemed to be cured of that.

"Eight lots," Henery said. "I've said right along that all I want is to prove my barter theory. And that stands."

There was a chorus of protest. But Henery stood firm. Then Raoul refused a full share. He said in his gay voice: "If when the lots are made you have left over two or three pearls that do not balance the shares then I shall be glad to have them for a wedding ring. I do not put up any stake. I do not find any clew to the poele. I do not feed any scoundrel to the sharks. I do not dive to bottom and come up with treasure. All I do is to get mostly in the way and win the heart of a lovely lady who is rich enough for us both."

The captain said: "Well, it looks like this was one exception to prove the rule that treasure hunts have to end up in all hands falling out. There are several reasons, but thinking it over carefully I'd say that Henery is the one we've got to thank the most."

The others looked surprised, Henery the most of all. "Why the nation—me?"

"Because you put the whole voyage on a different basis from the very start. You made it a trade and not a treasure hunting one. We stuck on that line and made the treasure a side issue right up to the time we got it. Then by a curious dispensation everybody gave something we couldn't have succeeded without."

"Bobbs most of all," said Ladybird.

Before this point could be stressed Capt. Hiram went on: "Henery and Benny want to stop on aboard as shipkeepers until Ladybird and I come back from San Francisco. Then we plan to continue our voyage home."

Adam said: "May I continue to sail with you, sir? Now that they've got the old globe sort of shrunk down with airplanes and all, I'd like to make sure that in spite of everything she's just as big as she ever was. And a tour master's a good place to find out about that. Especially this one."

"I still figure to do some more tradin'," Henery said. "What I want most of all is to sail this schooner back where we started with a profitable cargo that's got nothing to do with pearls. I aim to make the folks at home admit my luck ain't entirely the fool sort."

"What about you others?" asked the captain.

"Raoul and I are going to be married here before starting for San Francisco," said Arlette. "Then we shall go from there to Paris and have a pretty apartment on the Champs de Mars, and Raoul may demonstrate automobiles."

If there is any question pertaining to beauty and personal hygiene upon which you wish advice, write to Antoinette Donnelly, The Chicago Tribune. Enclose stamped addressed envelope for personal reply.

ANNE: RED, ROUGHENED hands can be made white and soft with applications of equal parts of glycerin and camphor water. Please send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for my booklet on hands, giving manicure instructions.

J. H.: A GIRL OF 30, 5 FEET 5 inches, should weigh about 128 pounds, the normal weight for a girl of the same age, 5 feet 7 inches is about 136 pounds.

C. R.: A NORMAL, OVAL FACE requires the deep portion of rouge at about the center of the cheek. Blend upward toward the ear, up toward the eyes.

Jane Johns Tells Girls How to Be Popular.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Any girl who hopes some day to be loved by some one and to find security and happiness through love, must have three things—personal charm, the promise of love, and a flair for living."

So, we learn from one Jane Johns, author of "The Girls Men Mary" [E. P. Dutton & Co.]. Girls may be nice, says Jane Johns, without having any charm. They may be lovely in appearance—but without the slightest promise of love to give. They may have charm and sex appeal without the necessary flair for living, otherwise known as enthusiasm.

You girl readers might chart yourselves according to the above named assets. And see if you can't do something about the lacking one, or ones.

If you're without enthusiasms you're bound to be somewhat of a flat tire, a dead weight or, as Miss Johns puts it, "a sail without any wind in it." You have no magnetism. You might be quite pretty and charming at a first meeting, but if you can't muster up some flair you're likely to bore before long.

About personal charm—it isn't merely being as charming of appearance as clothes and modern beautifying methods allow, but there must be that charm of friendliness and warmth—giving to others. Being interested in others, "finding out" the other person, bringing him out and making him radiate under your charm spell.

The promise of love is a certain warmth that indicates a hidden flame. It isn't being free with kisses or other manhandling concessions. It's rather, as Miss Johns suggests: "Here I am and there you are. How thrilling!" It's an intangible something that suggests you are capable of a deep love.

The flair for living is self explanatory. But you haven't it if you feel negative and drab, if you have no eagerness, if you're sour, cynical or painfully self-conscious. If you think the world is wonderful, people are wonderful and it's wonderful to be alive, you have it and you'll be thought wonderful for feeling that way.

A FRIEND IN NEED

If you are in need, perhaps I can help you. If you have household articles or clothing you can no longer use, please tell me. I can place such things with needy families. Address Sally Joy Brown, The Tribune, Chicago.

Family Is Destitute.

"I am a musician and have been out of work so long my family and I have reached a destitute condition. I'd be willing to do anything, no matter how menial, but I just can't get a thing. My wife needs winter clothing, size 34 or 36, and a pair of shoes, size 5 or 5½. I need an overcoat, suit and underwear, size 40, and a pair of shoes, size 9. The children are girls, 14 months and 3 years of age. Anything you can do to help us get wearing apparel will be greatly appreciated.

"G. S."

Although this man is in such desperate circumstances himself, he has been devoting his time, when not looking for work, to helping others. He is most deserving, and any help given him or his family will be gratefully received.

BY MARY MEADE.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a new Saturday morning radio feature—will be presented weekly by Miss Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 9:45 a. m. today, for Miss Meade's first market chat.

No time for kitchen gossip this morning. Too many letters wanting answers, and since Saturday features the week's question clinic, we'll give our attention to them without delay.

The first question comes from Mrs. T. M. Jr., who writes: "What makes fondant grow soft? Mine was cooked to 238 degrees F., worked till creamy, and then stored. A few days afterwards it had become so soft that even in patties it wouldn't dry out."

This mean little trick of fondant, Mrs. M., is due to what the chemists called hydrolysis. And here's the way they explain it: When mild acids [cream of tartar contains such an acid] are cooked with sugar into a crystallized or candy state, the candy thickens much as if no acid were present. But then, just as soon as the fondant is cooled and stored in an air tight place, the acid starts to work, breaking down the complex sugar crystals, or "inverting" them, as we say, into simpler sugars with smaller crystals.

This is all well and good if the acid acts only enough to give us small crystals, but if there is so much cream of tartar in our recipe that it goes on "hydrolizing" or breaking down the sugar until it is too soft to mold, then we are out of luck—and our recipe is in error. A certain amount of cream of tartar is needed to keep fondant white, especially if you are using "hard" water such as we have here in Chicago, but too much will make it impossible to store.

Brisk, active boiling instead of long, slow cooking seems to lessen softening during storage. I am sending you a recipe for fondant, Mrs. M., which should store satisfactorily.

Next, two questions from Mrs. L. J. K.: "Why does pie crust shrink up into a thick piece after I put it in the oven? Also, why does my cake break away from the sides when finished baking?"

About the pie crust: Shrinking crusts usually happen when the dough has been worked too much on the board, over developing the gluten which is the "pulling" part of the flour, so that it shrinks back when heated. It may also be caused by stretching the pie crust over the pan. This also shrinks back when the heat takes away the moisture. We sometimes stretch the pastry without knowing it by holding up the pie and whacking off the overhang. The weight of it stretches the pie paste at the edge of the pan and induces shrinking.

As for cake shrinking from the pan when it is through baking—if you mean nothing more serious than your letter indicates—rest easy on that score. Drawing away from the pan sides is one of the tests of whether or not a cake is done. All well behaved cakes act this way.

The next question comes from Miss M. M., who wants a ginger snap crust to go under and around her egg nog pie. This crust is also delicious used with any sort of a custard or a cream pie:

1-3 cup butter.
1 tablespoon granulated sugar.

Roll the ginger snaps until fine, then blend thoroughly with the softened butter. Add the sugar and pat the mixture firmly against the bottom and sides of a buttered pan. Bake ten minutes in a hot oven [425 degrees F.]. Cool before pouring in the desired filling.

And finally from Mrs. T. R.: "Is there any way of making good bread from soft wheat flour? We have to use it at our house and I have had very poor luck with it in bread making."

Yes, contrary to the general belief, quite good bread can be made from soft wheat flour. The trick lies in using more flour and a somewhat larger proportion of yeast and of sugar to expedite the raising. It has also been found that the sponge method is the best to use in making bread with soft wheat flour, and that the dough should be allowed to rise until just a little less than doubled in bulk, and then baked immediately. Such dough will be good, but somewhat more sticky less light, and more sensitive to handling than dough made from strong hard wheat flour. Use approximately one tablespoon of sugar and one-half ounce [one yeast cake] for every pound of bread to be made.

GASOLINE ALLEY—RECOVERY DOUBTFUL

WOMAN'S AND MISSES' DRESS.

This good looking dress is made with a Cossack front and the snug fitting hip yoke is cut to give the new peplum effect, while the sleeves with large puffs and close fitting lower parts are up to the minute in style. Black rough crêpe combined with strawberry red silk crêpe is an interesting suggestion.

The pattern, No. 3261, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 4 yards of 39 inch material with ½ yard 39 inch contrasting.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Michael M. Van Beuren will pass most of February in California with their niece, Mrs. Strauss, and Lieut. Elliot B. Strauss, U. S. N., who is stationed there.

Lord Decies entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Central Park Casino. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Griswold Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Julius W. Noyes, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Tod, Mr. and Mrs. Courtlandt D. Moss, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford N. Carver, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Kingdon Gould, Mr. and Mrs. James Blanchard Clews, the Hon. Moya Beresford, Mrs. Edwin Gould, Mrs. R. Stuyvesant Pierrepont, Mrs. John Aspegren, Mrs. Charles A. Van Rensselaer, and Mrs. Edward Cooper Hewitt.

On board the Grace liner Santa Rosa arriving today were Mr. and Mrs. Adolph B. Spreckels. Mrs. Spreckels was Mrs. Lois Quantain Clarke De Ruyter.

ken arm that resulted from an auto accident. Mr. Pike went to Detroit a few days ago to accompany his wife home.

No doubt Mrs. Pike will drive out to Lake Forest as soon as possible after her arrival to see her close friend, Mrs. Robert G. McGann, who's been in the Alice Home hospital ever since she fell and broke her hip in the early part of December.

Mrs. McGann has not been making the progress that her doctors and family had hoped she would and it is unlikely that she will be able to make her annual trip to California this year. She had planned to go west with Mr. McGann in December and had her trunks packed and train tickets bought for the very day on which she met with the unfortunate accident.

Miss Dorothy Schmidt, who is so very busy these days with her job as chairman of the Junior League's A Century of Progress committee, will be going to Cleveland the end of the month as one of three representatives of the Chicago league at the Children's Theater conference to be held there Jan. 31 to Feb. 3.

Who the other two will be is not decided definitely yet, but they probably will be some of those most interested in the work of the Chicago Junior League's Children's theater, which is to produce plays on the Enchanted island at A Century of Progress three times a week during May, June, July and October.

Miss Schmidt and Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr. are planning to go out on the south side next Tuesday to see, with the idea that they may be suitable for use in the Children's theater at the Fair, some puppets that have been made by a resident of the Shoreland hotel, Miss Morrise Wagner.

The puppets are like old 17th century ones and are worked by hand, not by strings as are marionettes. Miss Wagner uses a room in the basement of the hotel as her workroom and some of the old refrigerators as a storage place for the puppets and the costumes and scenery.

Mrs. Alexander on World Tour.

Mrs. H. G. B. Alexander of 1500 Lake Shore drive will leave Chicago today for a cruise which will take her around the world. Next Saturday she will sail from San Pedro, Cal., on the Carinthia and she will have seen all those glamorous places which stir the wanderlust in stay at homes before sailing back to New York next May.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. McCutcheon Stevenson of New York sailed yesterday to spend the winter in Hamilton, Bermuda. Before her marriage last March Mrs. Stevenson was Miss Virginia Doering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Doering Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Graham are giving a dinner party tonight at the Saddle and Cycle club for Miss Roberta Harvey and her fiancé, Royal Vilas, whose wedding is to be solemnized on Jan. 28 at the residence of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Harvey, of 340 Barry avenue.

An engagement announcement being made today in Seattle of interest here is that of Miss Laurie Burnaby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Bunaby of that city, formerly of Evanston, to Henry T. Vance of New York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis T Vance of Racine, Wis.

Miss Burnaby attended the Roycemore school in Evanston and then went to Sarah Lawrence college in Bronxville, N. Y., graduating from there last June. She is a provisional member of the Seattle Junior league. Her fiancé is a graduate of the Wharton school of finance at the University of Pennsylvania, class of 1927. The marriage is planned for the early spring, and Mr. Vance and his bride will live in New York.

All Tickets for Concert Sold.

Unlike most affairs to which tickets are sold a "S. R. O." sign could be used at the musical Rudolph Reuter will give tomorrow night at the Kellogg Fairbanks' residence on North State street, for all the tickets have been disposed of and none will be on sale at the door.

Mrs. Fairbank and some of her friends planned the musical and there were many who thought well of the plan, apparently, for the tickets went like "hot cakes" and several of society's well known hostesses took advantage of the chance to plan dinner parties before. Some of them are Mrs. Waller Borden, Mrs. William A. Nitze, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, Mrs. Walter Paepcke, Miss Dorothy Schmidt, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. C. Barney Goodspeed, Mrs. Otto L. Schmidt, and Mrs. Harry Kempner.

From London comes the news that two ex-Chicagoans, Gordon Selfridge and Lady Dennistoun Burney [Gladys High] are in the center of London's latest architectural controversy. Carlton House terrace—to remain or to be rebuilt, that is the question. It is one of the major issues of the day with parliament and all the leading periodicals discussing it, our correspondent writes.

Ranged on one side are the antiquarians, lovers of old London, the publicists, writers, artists, and architects, and on the other is the figure of commerce, with the commissioner of crown lands.

At present Carlton House terrace is a row of very fine houses designed and executed by Nash as homes of the leading folk of his day with money and leisure and servants galore. It is in the same graceful manner as the old Regent street, and the furor about Carlton House terrace's demolition is almost as great as was that about Regent street.

Mr. Selfridge occupies No. 5 in the terrace with his family, his son-in-law, Prince Serge Wiasemsky, and Princess Wiasemsky and their little daughter, Princess Tatiana, and frequently the four De Sibours are there: Mr. Selfridge's two other daughters who married two brothers.

Sir Dennistoun and Lady Burney occupy another palace in the terrace; Benjamin Guinness owns two of them, divided between himself and the families of his son, Leel Guinness, and his daughter; the duchess of Roxburghe and the German embassy occupy other palaces.

As a residential block the terrace pays little into the treasury of the crown lands, nothing compared to what would accrue were an office building, the designs of which already have been drawn, built there in place of the residences.

Mrs. Jacob Baur will introduce David Seabury this morning, at the Town Hall lecture at the Drake hotel, when he will talk on "Our Undiscovered Resources." Emerson house receives a part of the proceeds of these lectures.

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Smart Parisian society is thrilled over the striped evening frock this season. It isn't an ordinary striped dress, but is made of fine crêpe silk with a raised stripe of velvet. Sometimes the stripes are the same color as the frock, and often they contrast.

A white crêpe frock with black velvet striped pattern is being worn by some of the most fashionable women in Paris. The dressmakers work the stripes into the most amusing patterns, as in the Mainbocher frock shown today, which is being worn by such women as the Vicomtesse de Noailles and Mrs. Harrison Williams.

The fitted bodice of this dress has a V at the center front, in which the stripes are worked in a chevron pattern. The sides and the back of the bodice have the stripe pattern running diagonally. At the front of the skirt a yoke descends from the hipline at the center seam to almost the knees in side points. Below this yoke the skirt is full and worked in chevron stripes, in front, while at the back two wide panels make the skirt, with their stripes running diagonally to meet at the center.

Two Festival Contestants Appear in Operetta Cast

Two young Chicagoans who first attracted the attention of the musical world by their performances in THE TRIBUNE'S Chicagoland Music Festival will be members of the cast of the opera "Robin Hood," to be presented at the Civic Opera house tomorrow night by the Chicago Operetta company. They are Annette Thorne, who was second in the soprano contest at the festival, and William Dalton, winner of the west side contest for tenors.

Book List Is Prepared for Foster Parents

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

People who are going to adopt a little boy or girl—not a baby—frequently have had little or nothing to do with children. They love them, but feel suddenly quite at sea as to how to manage them.

Also, young women who are marrying a widower with children—prospective stepmothers, we might call them—often take over their important duties without the faintest understanding of what children are like.

They need to know three things. First, in a general way, how a child grows and develops bodily, mentally and emotionally. Next, they need to fit into this a general knowledge of what he requires to foster that growth. And third, they need to know how to give him the right surroundings and management so that he may be at each stage, from year to year, a well rounded young personality.

Since all this wealth of knowledge can't be put into a single letter or booklet, I decided to do with this subject as with yesterday's—to deal with it by arranging a reading set. This will contain suggestions for reading and also my own booklets, which latter deal rather fully with a few of the problems of inexperienced people who suddenly become parents of young children—not babies.

This set will need nine cents worth of postage and a large envelope. We have so many sorts of requests that if you will only call this "The Sudden Parents' Booklet Set" I shall know what you mean. This name may sound facetious, but it is descriptive.

The easiest way to keep a toilet clean

Easy? It's almost like magic! No scrubbing or scouring. No smelly disinfectants. Sani-Flush keeps the toilet as bright and pure as a china plate. Sani-Flush cleans the hidden trap that no brush can reach.

Sprinkle a little of this powder in the toilet bowl (follow directions on can)—then flush. Streaks and stains vanish. Odors go. Germs are killed. The porcelain glistens as never before! And Sani-Flush can't harm plumbing.

Get Set: Go!

Stationary running. Get yourself set for a run. Then go, keeping within a small radius, but with a running motion. Gradually bring the knees higher and higher. Add a hula wriggle of the body as you get on with the exercise.

Still Running Good Exercise for Legs, Ankles

Go Through the Motions in Your Room.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

How long is it since you ran a block?

How long is it since you ran the length of a room without panting?

Can you run a hundred yards without caving in? How far can you run?

Do you ever see those youngsters in trunks, or abbreviated skirts covering the ground in quick time, giving their bodies a funny looking wiggle as they run?

I'm not going to ask you to don trunks or abbreviated skirts for an outdoor exposition—yet. We may get around to that later. But I do want you to try this running exercise illustrated today. It's a grand leg reducer, thigh and lightfoot aid. And you don't have to cover any ground, at all. It's stationary running.

You get yourself all set for the run and then go, keeping within the smallest radius you can, but in running motion. Gradually bring the knees higher and higher as you run. Stop immediately you get out of breath. Let yourself go perfectly limp—and start again, adding the body wiggle as you get into good running form.

It's just a hula shake and more shake, with a waist turn thrown in. But you'll get an immense lot of good out of the running without the wiggle. If the busts are heavy, better strap them up with a tight brassiere. And run lightly! See how little noise you can make—not how much. You can't stand more than a minute or two of this in the beginning. But, beside doing swell things for the circulation, this takes the weight off thighs and legs and ankles.

The popular demand surely keeps on calling for weight off the legs and ankles, regardless of the lengthened skirts. If anything, the ankle needs to be more finely trimmed.

Always, there is the good old reliable leg and ankle reducer to be included in leg reducing practice. Simply rise up and down on the toes, stretching the leg muscles. But it must be done fifty times a day, at least, to produce a neater leg silhouette.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover was the guest of honor this afternoon at a private exhibition in the national gallery of art of paintings of the Argentine painter Cesaro Bernaldo de Quiros. The Argentine ambassador, Felipe A. Espil, received the guests, assisted by the artist and the secretary of the Smithsonian institute, Dr. Charles G. Abbot.

The President received this noon the charge d'affaires of Switzerland, Louis H. Michell, who presented to him the scientist, Prof. August E. Piccard, who is here for a short visit.

It is understood here that the home of the late Mrs. Richard Townsend on Massachusetts avenue is being put in readiness for occupancy by President Elect and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who are expected to spend considerable time here before the inauguration on March 4.

Lady Lindsay, wife of the British ambassador, occupied a box this afternoon in the National theater at John Masefield's readings of his poems. The poet laureate of England arrived here last evening. Lady Lindsay had among her guests Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Mrs. C. W. Torr, wife of the first secretary of the embassy; Lady Elizabeth Lindsay, niece of the ambassador, and Miss Irene Boyle, secretary to Lady Lindsay.

MILLER DEFEATS PAUL; WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

GORMAN REPLACES IVERSON AS HAWKS' MANAGER

FORMER OTTAWA PILOT ALSO IS MADE DIRECTOR

Takes Charge Today for Ranger Game.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Thomas Patrick Gorman, veteran hockey and race track official, was appointed managing director of the Chicago Blackhawks yesterday. The appointment, announced by Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, owner of the Hawks, had the effect of dismissing Coach Emil Iverson and the appointment further will serve to relieve Maj. McLaughlin of advisory duties pertaining to team play. William Tobin will continue as business manager.

The changes became effective with the announcement, though the team did not return from a depressing road jaunt until late last night, about 12 hours after the new boss had been named. Mr. Gorman will assume active charge at 2 o'clock this afternoon when the squad appears at the Stadium to practice for tomorrow night's game with the New York Rangers. The new director said, however, that he expects to make no radical changes and none at all until after he has seen the several alignments work in the game tomorrow night.

Managed Senators to Title.

Gorman, whose home is in Ottawa, Canada, gained his greatest fame as a hockey manager as head of the Ottawa Senators in the years when that organization virtually ruled major league hockey. He was manager of the Senators from 1918 to 1924, inclusive, and during that span the team won the Stanley cup, emblematic of the world championship, in 1919, 1920, 1921, and 1923. During the time they did not win the cup they were in the playoffs each spring.

In January, 1925, Gorman signed with the late Tex Rickard to introduce professional major league hockey in the United States and in December of that year the New York Americans made their first appearance, setting an all time record for receipts at one hockey game—upwards of $50,000.

Directs Race Track.

Gorman remained with the Americans till 1929 and since has been devoting his time to horse racing—as secretary of the Quebec Jockey club and assistant general manager at Agua Caliente, Mexico. He was en route to Mexico when Maj. McLaughlin summoned him, with the result that a three year contract was signed forthwith.

It was said that Iverson will be paid the equivalent of his salary for the remaining half of the season and in addition a "good will" bonus.

Nothing has been said by Blackhawk officials about the reason for displacing Iverson in midseason, but it was said to be rather apparent that the reason could be found in the failure of the Hawks as a road team. The Hawks have won only two games on enemy rinks and these when specific instructions were taken to Montreal and Toronto by Business Manager William Tobin. These were the only road games in which Iverson was not in full charge of the team.

Rangers Are Test.

In contrast with their poor showing afield, the Hawks, under the eye of the man who signs their pay checks, have lost only two of the games played on Chicago ice.

The new boss will have an opportunity to get into the thick of things with the appearance of the Rangers tomorrow night. The Rangers are in a first place tie with the Detroit Red Wings in the American division of the league and technically are the leaders inasmuch as they have played three fewer games than the Red Wings, despite their commanding position in the league, though, the Rangers have failed to conquer the Hawks this year.

In New York on Nov. 24 the teams played to a 1 to 1 tie and in Chicago on Dec. 4 the Hawks were returned the victors in a rousing affair, 4 to 3. The Rangers haven't been shut out since March 31, 1931. On that date, in the Stanley cup series, and two nights earlier in the regular season the Hawks goosegged them and they since have played seventy-five games without suffering a zero.

THE GUMPS—BAD NEWS FOR A WEAK HEART

"LIKE OLD TIMES, MAJOR"

Three Unbeaten Quintets Will Head Big 10 Schedule Tonight

The full five game program for the Western conference basketball teams tonight probably will produce one change in the standings of the leaders. The three undefeated leaders, Illinois, Wisconsin and Ohio State, all may add another victory to each of their records, but the margin of their indicated success is so slight that one or more upsets is possible.

Illinois, which defeated Michigan last Monday, 22 to 17, at Champaign, plays the return engagement tonight at Ann Arbor. The Wolverines, with the advantage of their home court, may trip up the Illini. However, Illinois' defense, its forte, may offset the effectiveness of the Wolverines in their own fieldhouse. Ohio State, whose only game resulted in a 35 to 28 conquest of Indiana, meets Minnesota, defeated by Purdue, 42 to 32. The Buckeyes loom as the dark horse of the Big Ten race, and if they wallop the Gophers tonight they will prove their merit definitely.

Badgers Invade Indiana.

Wisconsin plays at Indiana. The Badgers, while defeating Chicago, 26 to 17, and Iowa, 21 to 19, haven't been impressive. For one thing, Iowa also was beaten by Michigan, while a more direct comparison shows that Indiana defeated Chicago, 34 to 21. Of the three leaders, Wisconsin is the most vulnerable in tonight's games.

Local interest centers on Northwestern's trip to the Chicago fieldhouse. Victors over Purdue last Monday, 35 to 28, the Wildcats are favorites to beat the Maroons. Coach Nels Norgren has shifted the Chicago lineup again in hope of securing more effectiveness on attack. Harold Wegner, until now a guard, has been moved to forward, where he will pair with Evans. This has created a place for Pat Page Jr. at guard. Page has played consistently on defense, and he is one of the best long distance shooters on the squad. Porter will hold down the other guard position, while Keith Parsons will jump at center.

Northwestern will use the same lineup that has started every game this season with the exception of Al Kawal, who will replace Marvin Moonshower at guard. Moonshower injured a leg muscle in the first half of the Purdue game and Kawal finished the game. Apparently he has overcome his tendency to foul unnecessarily, for in more than 25 minutes Monday night he was not penalized. For that matter Northwestern drew only six penalties against Purdue, three of them by Johnson, the center.

N. U. Quintet Favorite.

Northwestern, undoubtedly, is a better team than Chicago. The danger which Coach Lonborg has pointed out, is that the Wildcats will take tonight's game for granted, in which case Chicago might spring the record surprise of the year. Chicago led Indiana in the first minutes of the second half, indicating that the Maroons may yet develop into a fair basketball team.

Purdue, the defending champion, meets Iowa at Lafayette tonight to complete the schedule. Purdue whipped Minnesota and then lost to Purdue. The Boilermakers should not have difficulty winning from the Hawkeyes. It will be interesting to see, however, if Purdue's defense has improved, for it may be taken for granted that its offense seldom will oe held to less than 30 points, as it was by Northwestern.

The Chicago-Northwestern lineup follows:

NORTHWESTERN.		CHICAGO.
Brewer	L. F.	Evans
Reiff	L. F.	Wegner
Johnson	C.	Parsons
Kawal	R. G.	Page
Culver	L. G.	Porter

WOOD, RUNYAN TIE FOR 54 HOLE LEAD AT AGUA CALIENTE

Diegel, Horton Smith Are Also in Running.

Wood shot a 71, and it was his uncanny putting which threw Mangrum so badly off his game that he took 80 strokes to negotiate the long 18 hole course, where he clipped three from par for a 69 on the first day and played an even 72 yesterday.

Diegel Ties for Second.

Leo Diegel, Agua Caliente professional, and John Perelli, a young pro from Beverly Hills, Cal., clubbed their way to second place in the standings with totals of 218. Horton Smith of Oak Park, Ill., and Al Espinosa of Akron, O., had 219 for the third bracket.

Most of the drama of the day was found in the play of the threesome composed of Wood, Mangrum, and Horton Smith.

Mangrum had led the pack two days, and went into the third round with a total of 141, five strokes ahead of Wood and six ahead of Smith.

Wood got a birdie four on the first hole, played the second and third in par, took birdie threes on the fourth and fifth, and played the sixth, seventh, and eighth in par. When he sank his 20 foot putt on the eighth he was all even with Mangrum.

Mangrum Regains Lead.

Mangrum regained the lead on the ninth, when Wood went one over par as a result of missing a six foot putt, and on the tenth it appeared that the strain was beginning to show on Wood as well. He hooked his drive into a trap and his recovery shot was not good.

Wood sank a good putt and was one over par on the four par hole. Mangrum could not take advantage of his opportunity and also took a five. From there on he was wild. Smith regained the six strokes which he was down to Mangrum and two more as well.

Runyan, the young professional from White Plains, N. Y., played spotted golf. He made three birdies and took five bogies for a total of 74.

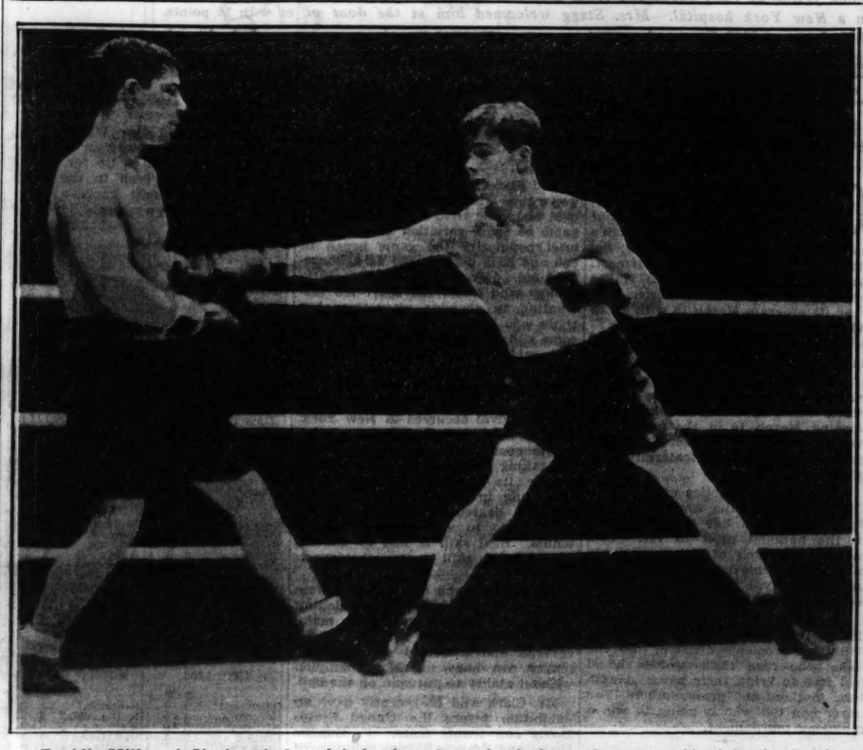

The best scores made today were a pair of 70s, one by MacDonald Smith and the other by Johnny Dawson, Chicago amateur. Dawson's score gave him a 54 hole total of 221, a three stroke advantage over Nell White of Los Angeles, who stood second among the simon pures.

DETHRONING A CHAMPION

Helen Jacobs, Vines Top U.S. Net Rankings

New York, Jan. 13.—[Special.]—The 1932 official rankings of the United States Lawn Tennis association will bear little resemblance to the honor roll for last year. Recommendations made by the ranking committee today show George Lott of Chicago, who occupied position No. 2 in 1931, dropped to No. 11, while seven of the other first ten occupy new berths.

The lists, to be passed on by the national convention of the U. S. L. T. A. next month, are headed by the Californians, H. Ellsworth Vines Jr. in the men's division, and Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal., in the women's. Vines, the American champion, held the same honor last year, but this is Miss Jacobs' first appearance in the lead.

Wilmer Allison, a semi-finalist in the 1932 Davis cup matches with France, ranked No. 9 last year, was rewarded with elevation to the No. 2 post, while Clifford Sutter, formerly No. 6, is placed third. Sydney B. Wood, moved up from No. 7, is fourth; Francis X. Shields, dropped from No. 3, is fifth; Lester Stoefen, advanced from No. 15, is sixth; Gregory S. Mangin, advanced from No. 11, is seventh; Keith Gledhill holds his old place at No. 8; John Van Ryn, erstwhile No. 8, has fallen to No. 9, and David N. Jones, who was No. 18 in 1931, completes the roster of the favored ten.

Frank Parker of Milwaukee won top ranking among the nation's junior players, and Clifford Sutter of New Orleans occupies the same position in the college division.

John Hope Doeg, 1930 men's champion and one of the upper ten in 1931, was not ranked this year, while Berkeley Bell was dropped from No. 10 to No. 18.

Mrs. Moody Unranked.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, national women's champion, who was honored with No. 1 for the seventh time last year, was not ranked because of "insufficient data." This is believed to have been the result of her extended stay in Europe.

Other women stars were ranked as follows:

Mrs. L. A. Harper, No. 2; Caroline Babcock No. 3; Mrs. Marjorie Morrill Painter, No. 4; Josephine Cruickshank, No. 5; Virginia Hillcary, No. 6; Alice Marble, No. 7; Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn, No. 8; Virginia Rice, No. 9, and Marjorie Sachs, No. 10.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: With visions of the coming World Fair soon to be opened in Chicago and with memories of the World Fair of 1893 it may be interesting to know that the first in this country was held in New York City.

This exhibition was housed in a large building of stately and handsome architecture, especially built, with glass and iron the predominant materials. It was called the Crystal Palace. It was opened to the public July 14, 1853, with elaborate ceremonies by President Franklin Pierce.

This building was reopened the two following summers and thereafter used for other exhibitions, during one of which it was destroyed by fire Oct. 15, 1858.

On Feb. 7, 1893, the Calumet club, 20th street and Michigan avenue, was destroyed by fire. It was a very cold night and the ice formations from the water playing on the burning building made a wonderful picture. An oil painting of Gen. Grant and a rare violin were a few of the things saved.

N. K. Fairbank was president at the time, with W. W. Kimball treasure., and Mr. Breese chairman of the house committee. Among the active members were George M. Pullman, Marshall Field, J. W. Doane, Arthur Caton, H. J. MacFarland, E. W. Brewster, and Ferdinand Peck. Among resident members were J. B. Goodman, William Munroe, Frank O. Lowden, J. C. Whitney, and Thomas Jenkins.

Bookkeeper Thomas Redfield dropped dead while watching the fire. Head waiter at the time was Gabe Bilderbeck, who became known to many Chicagoans as catering manager of Rector's and the College Inn. F. H.

Consolation.

I sometimes pass the looking glass
To sympathize with my reflection;
There's just a trace of human face—
The rest seems like a comic section.

However, I control a sigh
And truly find due consolation;
For though my face will not erase,

Silver Football for Newman.

THE TRIBUNE'S ninth annual silver football, actual size, is scheduled to be presented tonight to Harry Newman as the Big Ten player most valuable to his team during the 1932 season. The presentation will take place between halves of the Michigan-Illinois basketball contest.

In the same celebration will be awarded to Michigan as the outstanding eleven of the season just ended the Dickinson Rating trophy. This is the award which brought peevish guffaws from Southern California after the latter had beaten Notre Dame and overwhelmed Pittsburgh, to which Prof. Dickinson's unruffled rejoinder was that the rating was based on games during the regular season and not on post-season combats.

BOBBY JONES IS HOST TO FRIENDS AT DREAM COURSE

Augusta, Ga., Jan. 13.—(AP)—The "perfect course" of Bobby Jones' dreams was opened today by more than 100 of his friends, some figures in the business world and others golfers of note.

Many joined Jones earlier in the week to test the National Golf club course, but a special train today brought scores of northern and eastern sportsmen who were attracted by Bobby's promise of a golfer's paradise.

Bobby didn't play today but lounged around the veranda to welcome his guests. The clubhouse is an old concrete plantation home—Berckman's Manor—built in the late '50s. It has been made into a golfer's den with few alterations.

Jess Sweetser and Francis Ouimet and a few of the others who have played golf in many countries recognized the similarity of some of the holes on Bobby's course with those they had played with Jones in other lands.

OHIO SOUTHPAW RALLIES IN LAST ROUNDS OF FIGHT

Small Crowd Sees Title Change Hands.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Tommy Paul's brief reign as king of the featherweight boxers came to an abrupt end last night when Freddie Miller, a 21 year old left handed newsboy from Cincinnati, whipped him in a 10 round bout at Chicago Stadium.

Miller was all but knocked out and hurled from the ring by the champion's vicious right and left handed attack in the third round. Then he rallied. In the closing rounds he hurled one attack after another, which bewildered the champion and nearly swept him off his feet.

A terrific left hook with which Miller beat a tatoo on Paul's head, face and chin opened ugly cuts on the side of the champion's nose and over his left eye as early as the fifth round. The doom of the champion became apparent then, although he fought back so gamely at intervals it appeared he might pull the fight out of the fire.

Only 6,804 See Fight.

But from the beginning of the seventh round on Miller was all over the champion, whaling away with punches that would have knocked an ordinary fighter into a coma. In the tenth round he pushed and knocked the champion all over the ring, had him nearly knocked out into the laps of the spectators, and was still blasting away at the final bell.

When Miller's hand was lifted in victory and as a signal that a new champion was crowned, he became the 19th titleholder among the featherweights since 1889.

Some of those old time battles for the featherweight championship might have been packed with more blood and thunder. Most of them were witnessed by larger crowds, for only 6,804 passed the turnstiles last night.

Until Miller staged his sensational rally toward the end, this had been an evenly matched struggle. These are fights that are the least colorful. A fight crowd is forever looking for an overwhelming victory or an ignominious defeat.

This wasn't that sort of melee. A well balanced pair of little boxing men were whaling away at each other. However, there was no doubt about the outcome.

Miller Weathers Attack.

The champion's best round was the third. After a minute of fighting he knocked Miller half through the ropes and as the Cincinnati kid shook himself and bounced back, Paul cut loose with a left that sank deep into the challenger's stomach.

If Paul had a knockout punch in his system, this should have been the one. Yet Miller hardly blinked an eye at the fresh attack and was fighting back so strongly a minute later that Paul didn't seem to know what had happened.

Paul tried to take things a bit easy in the fourth and while he was loafing Miller landed a right to the stomach which all but sent the champion through the ropes. The challenger had started to carry the fight to the champion and in the next round he continued the attack when cuts on the nose and over the eye began to bother Paul so much his backers and admirers became concerned.

There wasn't much action in the sixth round, but at the start of the seventh Miller had his long, awkward left scoring to perfection. Only a lucky punch could save Paul now. He tried desperately in the eighth and ninth rounds, but always missed the mark by the narrowest of margins. A counter-punch from that pain dealing left of Miller's always flew back, landing where it would do damage.

Both Finish Fighting.

The tenth round was overwhelmingly Miller's. His left to the chin connected time after time. Each time it landed Paul's head flew back. But the Italian kid was too game to give up the struggle. He hurled another barrage of rights and lefts at Miller, which were met with a clever defense.

And so ended the fight which determined a new champion, with both boys on their feet, but with the champion bleeding and bruised and beaten, and his more youthful challenger looking as fresh as he did when they went into action.

Whipping Paul was no new assignment for Miller. This was their fourth meeting. It was the third time Miller had punched out a victory over the Italian kid from Buffalo.

Paul is one of the tragedies of boxing. He won the championship in a tournament at Detroit last spring. He has never been able to capitalize on it.

He couldn't have made much out of this one, for the total receipts were only $10,734.60. Paul is reported to have received about $5,000.

Another Paul Loses.

Davey Day, a former Golden Gloves fighter, whipped Tony Paul, brother of the world's featherweight champion, in the four round opener.. Day led from start to finish.

Many hard punches were landed in the third bout, which brought Varias Milling of the Philippine Islands into action against Johnny Pena of New York. It was called a draw.

Paul Dazzo, another Golden Gloves graduate, won from Johnny Mitchell of Detroit in a fast eight round bout. It was a slugging match all the way.

BEN JEBY STOPS BATTAGLIA FOR NEW YORK TITLE

New York, Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Ben Jeby, born Benjamin Morris Jebalotsky, on New York's lower east side, is the world's middleweight champion as far as New York is concerned. He won this distinction tonight in Madison Square Garden, where, before about 6,000 fans, he scored a technical knockout over Frank Battaglia, Canadian challenger for the crown, in the twelfth round. The bout was a climax to the state athletic commission's elimination tournament to produce a successor to Mickey Walker.

Referee Jack Britton gave Jeby the title when he stopped the battle after the twelfth round had gone 1 minute 46 seconds. Battaglia had been floored twice. He was down for a count of nine in the second round under a left hook to the body and he was hammered down again in the eleventh round for another nine count.

MIDGETS, WATCH SENIORS TRAIN, CHAMP ADVISES

Silver Skates Contestants Must Heed Weight.

This is the fourth of a series of articles on ice skating by Irving Jaffee, holder of three Olympic championships and the world's professional title, designed to aid all entrants in The Tribune's Silver Skates Derbies, to be held at Garfield park Jan. 21 and 22. Jaffee won the New York Daily News' Senior Silver Skates in 1926, the Olympic 5,000 meters title in 1928, the Olympic 5,000 and 10,000 meter races in 1932, and the world's professional championship two weeks ago. He also holds the world's amateur record for the mile. Readers wishing to obtain any information on ice skating should send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Irving Jaffee, Chicago Tribune Sports Department, Tribune Tower.

BY IRVING JAFFEE.

Keeping step with condition by continuing training, even during mild weather, is one of the problems that may confront boys and girls who will race in THE TRIBUNE'S Silver Skates Derbies at Garfield park Jan. 21 and 22. Yesterday I outlined a program from rising time until luncheon for keeping in condition when no ice is available. Today we'll complete that schedule—from luncheon to bed time.

For lunch I would eat lightly, abstaining from all sweets, pastries, and all food hard to digest. Those who are susceptible to weight increases should be careful of fattening foods. It is just as dangerous for your speed and condition to weigh too much as it is to be underweight.

Boys and girls should find out from their family doctors or some school physical authority what their normal weight should be, then strive to stay as close to that as possible.

After completing the day's work at my place of business I again would get off a few stations before reaching home and take a brisk walk.

Skate After Dinner.

At night after dinner I would look for outdoor ice to train on whenever available. In weather such as we are experiencing now I found it difficult to have many such opportunities to skate. Therefore I would go to an artificial rink. Naturally the indoor rinks are much smaller, so I would always think of watching my stride, stroke, rhythm, and form.

Needless to mention, we all know what a good night's sleep does for an athlete and I for one always hit the hay not later than 11 p. m., usually earlier.

Boys under 12 who are entered in the midget class should make sure that they listen to some one older than themselves so they can be properly advised by an experienced person on how to care for themselves.

They should skate as much as they can and imitate the senior boys.

LIST OF STARS GROWS

Silver Skates, the awards in the men's senior and girls' senior races at Garfield park a week from Sunday have attracted the best fields of contestants since Ross Robinson came from Toronto, Canada, in 1927 to win the championship, and Elizabeth Blaisdell of Cleveland defeated the Chicago girls in 1928. Proof of this was offered yesterday when entries were received from Buffalo, N. Y., and St. Louis, Mo.

Kitty Klein, 214 Millicent avenue, Buffalo N. Y., a national champion last year, has entered the girls' senior Silver Skates race. The three contestants from St. Louis also have records which should cause Chicago's skaters to take notice. Edward Ottsen secretary of the Missouri Skating association, has filed the names of these senior men:

Paul Staff Enters Team of 28.

Forty-eight skaters, entered in all seven of THE TRIBUNE Derbies, will represent Fulton playground of the board of education system, according to John M. Stoffey, instructor. There are 17 girls in the senior division.

Moran Playground Again Enters.

As usual, the Moran playground, 6727 South Racine avenue, will be represented in the Silver Skates tournament. John J. Fohey is the park director. The Vandal Athletic club, 801 South Kedvale, has entered a team of 11 in the men's senior race. Buck McIntyre, one of the best skaters on the west side, is the captain. The entry was filed by Thomas Brown, manager.

William Mayhercy, instructor at the Avondale playground, has sent in the names of 42 boys and girls for the seven Derbies. The largest group of the Avondale team consists of 14 boys, 16 and 17 years of age, who will compete in the intermediate class.

SKATERS DECIDE STATE TITLES AT PORTAGE PARK

The Illinois state speed ice skating championship meet and the Northwest Skating club's 41st annual Derby, which were postponed last Sunday due to mild weather, will be held tomorrow afternoon at Portage park, Irving Park boulevard and Long avenue. Championship events will be held in the senior men's, women's, and boys' intermediate divisions.

In addition to the championship events there will be seven races for class skaters. Outstanding contenders for the state title who have entered in the senior men's division are Eddie Murphy, O'Neil Farrell, Connie Ewert, Herb Knudsen, Ray Wondra, and Dick McCarter.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

CHICAGO, which this year will be the site of some of the biggest events in sport—national open golf, national women's golf, international Golden Gloves, national A. A. U. track and field meet, American Derby, the Classic stakes and possibly a world's series—will open its program March 10 with guess what.

The national ping-pong championship.

The finest collection of ping-pong players ever assembled in the United States will compete in a tournament opening March 10 in the grand ball room of the Palmer house. It will be conducted by the Interfraternity club of Chicago.

Following the practice of the U. S. Golf association, the American Ping-Pong association has limited entries in the national meet to 128. This means that each of the contestants must have achieved some distinction in his locality. There will be no palookas at the Palmer house.

There will be men's singles and doubles and for the first time there will be a women's division. So the folks who read these words should feel free to bring their wives, daughters, mothers and grandmothers. You never can tell who is going to win a pingpong tournament.

Coleman Clark of Chicago, national champion, estimates that more than a million persons are now playing ping-pong in their homes. He thinks the game is enjoying its greatest popularity in Chicago. Mr. Clark recently took part in an exhibition match at a State street store. More than 800, the capacity of the hall, were in attendance. He is unable to accommodate the requests for matches. He points to this as evidence of the increasing interest in the sport.

Ping-pong was introduced in the United States a generation ago. There was a time when nearly every woman, man and child tried their hand at the game or some variation of it. After brief popularity the game began to ebb and soon disappeared as a household fad. Here and there were little groups who found the sport too fascinating to abandon altogether, but those who had watched similar games come and go shrugged their shoulders and said "Well, that's the end of that."

The game remained stationary for many years, but about six years ago a real revival occurred in New York. Teams were organized and tournaments conducted. Folks everywhere are taking up the game because they realize its competitive possibilities. Ping-pong in its developed state requires a degree of physical exertion comparable to squash, handball, or tennis. Real skill is just as difficult to acquire as skill in any other sport.

The players who now top the game are mainly responsible for developing a technique that is expected to make the sport permanent. They have discovered and perfected spin and no player can hope to be a champion without ability to put spin on the ball.

Mr. Clark said he recently gave an exhibition before the United States Davis cup tennis team. F. Eugene Dixon and Francis Shields volunteered to return some of his cut shots. More often than not the balls flew off their rackets at ridiculous angles.

As in the gay nineties, it still is fashionable to play ping-pong, but it no longer is looked upon as a girls' game and never to be indulged in outside the parlor or with coats off.

If you don't think it is possible to work up a good perspiration, call us up some evening and we'll ask the boss to let us off an hour for a demonstration that will be convincing.

All Entrants on Hand for Title Cue Play

The ten players who will compete in the world's championship three cushion billiard tournament which opens Monday night at the 131 South Wabash Avenue Recreation all have reported to the headquarters of the National Billiard association in Chicago. A meeting of the officials of the association and the players, as well as the official referee, Charles McElligott, was held yesterday to go over the tournament rules.

The tournament, which opens on Monday night, will last for eighteen days, with one game on the opening night and three games daily thereafter. Two will be played in the afternoon, starting at 1:30, and one in the evening at 8:15. Only one game will be played on Sunday nights, the final game of the tournament being scheduled for Feb. 2. The schedule calls for 45 games, each at 50 points. Last year, with twelve players entered, the tournament schedule called for 66 games.

Tiff Denton of Kansas City Mo., and Clarence Jackson of Detroit were the last two players to make their appearance. Denton is the southern sectional winner, and Jackson represents the northern section.

Jay Bozeman of Vallejo, Cal., made the trip from the west coast by airplane to arrive in time to participate in a four handed tournament with Augie Kieckhefer, the defending champion; Frank Scoville of Buffalo, N. Y., and Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago, 1931 titleholder.

FOUR POLO TEAMS PLAY TONIGHT IN TITLE TOURNEY

Four teams will play tonight in the championship tournament at the 124th Field Artillery armory, Cottage Grove avenue and 52d street, under auspices of the Metropolitan Indoor Polo league. The opening match will bring together the South Shore Cardinals and Fort Sheridan in the junior division. This will be followed by the Chicago Riding club-North Shore Polo and Hunt club duel in the senior bracket.

ENGLISH BATTERS SCORE 315 RUNS BEFORE LUNCH

ADELAIDE, Australia, Jan. 14.—[Saturday.]—(AP)—Successfully challenging the best efforts of the Australian bowlers, Edward Paynter and Hedley Verity had carried England's score to 315 runs when lunch was taken today in the third cricket test match.

The young English batsmen had added 87 runs in their eighth wicket partnership. When stumps were drawn last night the score stood at 236 for seven wickets.

ST. MEL LIGHTS WIN, 28-21, OVER ST. IGNATIUS FIVE

Heavies Lose, 30 to 26, in Double Header.

St. Mel and St. Ignatius lightweight and heavyweight basketball teams divided a double header in the west section of the Chicago Catholic High School league last night at St. Ignatius' gymnasium. St. Mel won the lightweight contest, 28 to 21, while the St. Ignatius heavies, led by Crannal, triumphed, 30 to 26.

Mount Carmel, defending league lightweight champion, continued its drive toward the south division title by defeating Leo, 35 to 29, on the Mount Carmel floor. Leo, however, triumphed in the heavyweight game, 30 to 28.

West Chicago Heavies Win.

Gledding's long shot in the final minutes enabled the West Chicago heavyweights to defeat Maine, 22 to 21, in a west suburban league game at Des Plaines. Maine overwhelmed West Chicago's lightweights, 22 to 9.

Oak Park's heavyweights took undisputed possession of first place in the suburban league by defeating Evanston, 18 to 14, at Oak Park's fieldhouse. It was Oak Park's third consecutive victory.

Lake View's heavyweights scored their fourth consecutive victory in the north section of the Chicago Public High School league by defeating Roosevelt, 49 to 18, on the Lake View court. Swanberg, forward, led the Lake View attack, scoring 21 points. Weinhouse was Roosevelt's high scorer with 10 points.

Lake View Leads in Scoring.

Lake View's 49 points brought its total to 159 for the season. It now leads all teams in the league in scoring, with an average of almost 40 points per game.

Senn triumphed over Waller, 30 to 17, for its second victory on the Senn floor and went into a tie for second place with Lane Tech in the north division heavyweight race.

BUTLER FACES NOTRE DAME IN 19TH MEETING

Notre Dame, Ind., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—One of the oldest rivalries in middle western basketball history will be renewed here tomorrow night when Butler invades the Notre Dame fieldhouse. There is a nine to nine tie between the Bulldogs and Irish in the all time standings.

The series between Butler and Notre Dame started in 1909. Butler is the favorite to win because of superior weight and height, the two factors which helped Marquette so greatly in its first victory over Notre Dame in 13 starts.

Alva Christensen and Mary L. De Give entered the vast territory of Soviet Russia last summer and—sometimes with and usually without the permission of officials—toured for fourteen weeks.

Before they were finally seized by the secret police, these American girls had a variety of experiences unknown to the usual tourist.

"We crash the gates of forbidden Turkestan," writes Miss Christensen, who tells the story of their amazing journey. "We sold our flivver; we refused to spend American dollars; we took in a pistol, possession of which is sometimes a capital crime; and we actually smuggled Soviet money into Soviet realm."

Their absorbing story will be told in ten articles written exclusively for the Chicago Tribune. Read the first one tomorrow in the Chicago Sunday Tribune.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

DE PAUL DEFEATS WESTERN STATE QUINTET, 36 TO 32

Chicago Team Achieves 7th Straight Victory.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

De Paul university scored its seventh consecutive victory last night by whipping the previously undefeated basketball team from Western State Teachers' college, Kalamazoo, Mich., 36 to 32, in an overtime game before a crowd which jammed the De Paul auditorium. The regulation periods ended with the teams tied at 30 to 30, only because the Teachers put on a rally which, in one minute and 15 seconds, counted three field goals.

In the overtime De Paul shot to the front almost as quickly as Western State previously had tied the score. Tony Lauritus' long shot broke the deadlock. It was followed in that first minute of play by an under the goal basket by Pete Barskis. Then De Paul made the most of its advantage in the remaining four minutes. Lauritus scored on a perfect shot back over his head, after which Donald Hanna, the best marksman of the visitors, dropped in two free throws on Jim Doody's foul.

Teams Among Best.

Western State, twice conqueror of the University of Michigan, probably is the best basketball team to visit Chicago this season. Certainly the game between the undefeated rivals left little to be desired in competition or in the caliber of the play. Both quintets handled the ball with precision, reminiscent of the professional style of game, but lacking, however, the frequent fouls which characterize that style.

De Paul won because of its general superiority in height, which, however, was not in evidence at the center jump, and because all of its team could hit the basket when points were needed. Either quintet last night could have given any Western conference team all the lessons in basketball it could have assimilated in one evening.

Rally Gets Under Way.

Western State led, 13 to 10, at the end of the first half. That first period was exciting, with the lead changing hands four times. But the second twenty minute session, which was marked by the Teachers' two great rallies, had the crowd in an uproar. De Paul started with a rush to lead, 14 to 13. Then the Teachers scored on Harold Leiphan's one hand toss, after which De Paul built up an advantage of 20 to 15 on two goals from the side by Jim Gorsky and an under the backboard shot by Jim Doody.

At this stage Bill Perigo, Teachers' center, took command, with the net result that the teams were tied at 24 points. Again De Paul went to the fore. Gorsky's fourth field goal of the second half, followed by Bill Shay's two free throws and Lauritus' dribble in shot, set up a 30 to 24 lead. There remained only 15 seconds more than a minute to play. Coach James Kelly replaced the two forwards and State also made several substitutions.

Regulars Go Back.

Western State took the tipoff and Hanna cut loose from midcourt for a field goal. Then Lawrence Heckathorn, a substitute guard, pulled away from two men to drop the ball through the loop from 10 feet out. To cap the rally, Hanna took the next center ball and scored a second midcourt shot in the final two seconds of play.

De Paul's regulars came back for the overtime. The Teachers apparently had used up their reserve energy, for they were outplayed in the extra minutes.

Western State tonight will meet Loyola university at Loyola gymnasium. The De Paul-Western State Teachers' box score follows:

1500 Amateur Boxers Will Be Classified

The boxing committee of the Central A. A. U. yesterday voted to classify approximately 1,500 boxers who are registered with the amateur association. Three classifications will be made in each of the eight weight divisions. Class A will embrace only boys in the championship list, average boxers will be rated in class B, and boys below average ability will be in class C.

Frankie Sanello, Central A. A. U. flyweight champion, regained his amateur standing yesterday. . . The Peoria Journal-Transcript will offer its annual Golden Gloves tournament on Feb. 6, 7 and 14, winners of which will compete in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's Tournament of Champions.

The Catholic Youth Organization has entered 16 boys in the annual Illinois Athletic club amateur boxing championships which will be held at the club gymnasium, 112 South Michigan avenue, next Wednesday and Thursday nights. Gene Klopack heavyweight; Harry Booker, feather weight; Mickey Callahan, Charles Wozniak and Frank Ketter are included in the C. Y. O. representatives. The tournament is limited to 16 boxers in each of the eight weight classes. Entries will close Monday.

Ten boxing and wrestling matches have been arranged for the show sponsored by Carmel of St. Clara parish at Coulon gymnasium, 1154 East 63d street, Monday night. Proceeds of the show will go to promote athletics.

Boxers of the Division street Y. M. C. A. will meet a team from the Irving Park branch at the Division association Tuesday. Four of the ten matches scheduled follow: Clem Pietre vs. Marty Callahan; Harry Gold vs. Mike Osher; Jack Coleman vs. Joe Jawgiel, and Dave Kinnaman vs. Irving Anderson.

FOOLING THE WEATHER MAN

Michigan snow, six carloads of it, arrived at Fox River Grove yesterday for the twenty-sixth annual tournament of the Norge Ski club at nearby Cary, Ill., tomorrow. The snow was ordered shipped from Escanaba when it became evident that none could be expected from the usual source.

Conservation Head to Face Difficult Task

BY BOB BECKER.

When the new director of conservation for the state of Illinois, an appointee of the Horner administration, takes charge of the department and formulates plans for its operation and improvement, he not only will be given one of the greatest opportunities any new director ever received, but also will find that he has no easy job. This year he may face the task of making a good showing and pleasing hundreds of thousands of outdoor fans on a subnormal income.

However, there is plenty to be done to make Illinois a state progressive in providing ample opportunities for outdoor recreation.

Commission Administration Needed.

If one were to ask any number of Illinois outdoorsmen who are familiar with conservation policies and accomplishments of other states and the special needs of this state, they would be quite certain to stress one or more of the following items as needing immediate attention if the Illinois conservation department is to forge ahead:

First is the remodeling of the structure of the conservation department. Right now Illinois needs a commission form of administration in the conservation department as nearly "politics proof" as possible. Michigan gives us an excellent example of this type of administration. It has a seven member commission. Their terms of office are overlapping, so that at all times the personnel of the board has a number of experienced men in it.

This commission appoints a director of conservation, a salaried official. However, no commissioner gets a salary. Along with this need for a commission form of conservation department which should be brought about by law, Illinois needs trained men at the head of departments charged with the responsibility of increasing fish production and solving important wild game problems. This is nothing new. It has been tried and proved and is the system now used in many states.

Urges Department Division.

For example, Wisconsin has a division of fisheries which includes some 25 hatcheries. With an experienced, trained man at the head of this division Wisconsin expects in a normal year around 300,000,000 fingerlings and fry for its fishing waters.

If Illinois could have a conservation department out of reach of politics with, for example, a division of fisheries, a division of game, a division of law enforcement, a division of state forests and state parks, and a division of education, all headed by competent, trained men, even with a restricted budget such a department could take long steps toward an improved state-wide program.

Pack Michigan Snow on Slide for Ski Meet

Snow, imported from Escanaba, Mich., was packed on the steel slide and hill at Cary, Ill., yesterday for the 26th annual ski tournament of the Norge Ski club tomorrow, which will start at 1:30 o'clock. Workmen will continue to prepare the slide today and several skiers, who already have arrived for the tournament, will engage in several practice jumps.

Miss Johanna Kolstad, world's woman skiing champion, who arrived in Chicago Thursday night from Norway, also will practice today. It will be her first jump from a steel slide. Miss Kolstad, who left Norway following a ruling that barred mixed competition, has jumped more than 180 feet from natural hills.

Leading the field of skiers in the championship competition is Casper Oimen, who has won the central championship for six consecutive years.

Three members of the United States Olympic team, who competed in the winter games at Lake Placid, N. Y., last winter, will be in the meet. They are Lemoine Batson, Norge Ski club; Lloyd Ellington, Madison, Wis., and Ray Mikkelson, Auburn, Cal.

The Norge Ski club will have another outstanding performer in Guttorm Paulsen, who won the Oconomowoc, Wis., tournament last Sunday.

Motorists can reach the scene of the tournament by taking any street west to River road, then north to Des Plaines, to the Northwest highway [route 19] and proceed north to Cary. Special trains will be run by the Northwestern railroad, leaving the Madison street station at 7:55 a. m. and 10:05 a. m.

Tiger Joe Randall Stops Pee Wee Jarrell in Eighth

150 Wrestlers Compete Today in N. W. Parks Meet

More than 150 wrestlers, ranging from 125 pounders to the heavyweight class, have entered the first annual wrestling tournament of the northwest park district to be held this afternoon at Kelvyn park, 4438 Wrightwood avenue. The meet starts at 2 o'clock. Wrestlers will report at 12:30 o'clock to be weighed in.

Army, Navy Meet on Philadelphia Gridiron Nov. 25

West Point, N. Y., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Maj. Philip B. Fleming, retiring graduate manager of athletics at the United States Military academy, announced today that the 1933 Army-Navy football game will be played on Franklin field, Philadelphia, Nov. 25. The announcement ended reports that the academies would play their annual game at Chicago as a feature of A Century of Progress.

Under an agreement, it was Army's turn to select the site of the game, and the offer from the University of Pennsylvania was immediately accepted. Both academies were pleased with the conduct of the 1932 game at Franklin field, Maj. Fleming said. Army defeated Navy at Philadelphia last fall, 21 to 0.

CARROLL FIVE CONQUERS LAKE FOREST, 32 TO 26

Waukesha, Wis., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—John Breen, star center, led Carroll to a 32 to 26 victory over the Lake Forest quintet tonight. Carroll led at the half, 19 to 14. Breen scored 16 points.

Zanier kept Lake Forest in the running by making 7 points in the first half and five in the second. The score was tied four times, but Carroll's superior guarding late in the game added to the shooting of Johnson and Breen, kept the Pioneers in the lead. Carroll's freshman team defeated the Lake Forest frosh, 34 to 27. Lineup:

THREE RECORDS CRACKED BY PREP SWIM QUALIFIERS

The Qualifiers

The number of swimmers each high school qualified in the University of Chicago interscholastic swimming meet yesterday were:

Maine	7	Hyde Park	3
Rockford	6	Lane	2
Englewood	4	Austin	1
Evanston	4	Senn	1
Roosevelt	4	Calumet City	1
Schurz	4	University High	1
Tilden	4

Three records were broken as 30 high school swimming teams of Chicagoland opened the ninth annual University of Chicago interscholastic swimming meet yesterday at the Maroon pool. Maine Township High school of Des Plaines, Ill., led the qualifiers, placing seven swimmers in the finals, which are scheduled for today.

Harry Rieke, member of the defending championship Schurz team, shattered the record for the 100 yard back stroke, covering the distance in 1:05.5. The former record was 1:05.7, established by Bowman, Evanston, two years ago.

Rockford Breaks Relay Mark.

The second mark to fall was the 160 yard relay, when the Rockford team of Mike Martinka, Jack Holmes, John Hallden and Ray Walters swam the distance in 1:19.2. The old record was 1:19.5, made by Maine, in 1931.

Walters, one of the six men who will represent Rockford in the finals today, also was given credit for breaking the third record in the preliminaries yesterday, but it is doubtful if the new mark will be accepted because of discrepancies in the watches of timers.

Walters, competing in the 40 yard swim, together with some of the leading short distance swimmers in the Chicago district, was caught by one watch at :18.4. The former record of :18.7 for this event was established by Arthur Highland, Schurz, in 1930.

Five Qualify Four Swimmers.

Behind Maine and Rockford were Englewood, Schurz, Roosevelt, Evanston and Tilden Tech, each with four qualifiers. Hyde Park will be represented by three men, while Lane Tech will have two. Austin, Senn, Calumet City, and University High each will have one.

CARNERA, SCHAAF SIGN FOR BOUT AT GARDEN FEB. 10

New York, Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight boxer, and Ernie Schaaf, Boston, have signed contracts to meet in a 15 round bout at Madison Square Garden Feb. 10, officials announced today. The winner of the match, Garden officials said, will meet Jack Sharkey for the world's heavyweight championship in June.

Schaaf, who plans to break his managerial contract with Sharkey soon, knocked out Stanley Poreda of Jersey City recently. Terms for the match were not announced.

Babe Makes Pro Debut; Helps Brooklyn Five Win

New York, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Mildred Babe Didrikson made her pro debut in New York tonight, leading the Brooklyn Yankees' girls basketball team to a 19 to 16 victory over the Long Island Ducklings. The Babe, a rough and aggressive player, scored four field goals and a free throw for a total of nine points.

LARGE SUPPLIES REVERSE TREND OF HOG PRICES

All Classes of Cattle Show Gains for Week.

The largest Friday hog receipts since last January abruptly reversed the trend of prices yesterday, but good action featured the trade, with large local packers putting up the largest droves in several weeks. Opening rounds were draggy and a sharply lower and unsatisfactory clearance seemed imminent when discouraging reports came in from the wholesale trade. However, Armour, Swift, and Wilson bought willingly after prices had receded 10@15c, and before noon the supply had been well picked over.

The top price declined 10c to $3.25, while the general average lost 15c, going down to $3.00. Three big packers handled 17,000 good to choice grades of 210@270 lb butchers at $2.85@3.15. Small packers and city butcher buyers accounted for 10,000, while eastern order buyers came in for 6,000.

Cattle Prices Higher.

Yesterday's meager supply of 1,500 cattle cleared quickly at fully steady to strong prices, but the brisk call for the plainer kinds that has featured the trade on several sessions lately was not in evidence. With the exception of calves, all classes of cattle show gains for the week, despite the mixed trends at times in the last few days. The relatively high level of the plainer grades of light steers and heifers as compared to 1,400@1,600 lb cattle is expected to swing more orders into the market for prime beef steers next week.

The discrepancy in demand is illustrated in a comparison of the classes of animals quated at $4.50@5.00 on recent sessions. While this range of prices bought a class of light cattle carrying only fair beef, the 1,400@1,600 lb averages at the same prices per cwt were long fed and well fattened, yielding high quality beef. Nothing in yesterday's run was good enough to bring more than $5.00. The bulk of the run was plain quality that sold at $4.00@5.00.

Sheep receipts increased yesterday and forced lambs down mostly 15@25c. Fed westerns to city butchers cashed at $6.35, while packers and shippers bought at $6.25 and below. Prime 95 lb natives sold up to $6.15. Aged sheep were firm, with 370 fed western ewes bringing $2.85, highest of the week for this class. Yearlings were steady. Mixed yearling ewes and wethers brought $5.25. The lamb market the last few days has fluctuated rather severely and is closing 25c lower than a week ago.

TECHNOCRACY'S APOSTLE CAN FIND NO HOPE IN WORLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 13.—Four hundred of New York's capitalists, bankers, industrialists, economists, and artists heard Howard Scott, chief exponent of "technocracy," explain that movement at a dinner given by the Society of Arts and Sciences tonight.

Scott predicted that if the present trends continued social conditions would grow worse in this country, that unemployment would increase to 20 million with 18 months. He said there would be danger of the greatest social disturbance the United States had ever experienced. He said attempts to balance the budget and economize would only mean more unemployment and less purchasing power and that politicians would resort to inflation and debt moratoriums.

Technocracy in Politics.

He asserted politicians would try to use technocracy "as one of the propositions that will necessitate an institutional Fascism, proposed under the guise of dictatorial prerequisities of the incoming President."

The speaker declared there was no hope in either the price system or the Democratic political system to solve the economic problems of the present time."

His audience sat in dead silence gazing at Scott, and when he ended the applause was moderate. The response, when questions were called for, was only five slips, none of them signed. Scott disposed of them in a summary fashion, returning in each to the idea that "we don't have to answer our critics; time will tell."

Others Challenge Statements.

Frank A. Vanderlip, who also spoke, said that when technocracy caught the attention of the world last August he had made contact with Scott and his associates at Columbia university and had come to the conclusion that they had done the world a service in calling attention to the great increase in technological improvements. He left the subject with the doubt whether the social theory of the technocrats had preceded their figures or resulted from them. "I reserve judgment," he said.

Lionel Edie, former professor of finance at the University of Chicago, said that the energy system, which technocracy would substitute for the price system, was itself a price system using ergs and joules instead of gold. He challenged the accuracy of Scott's figures in general and asked why they were not published so that steel figures might be examined by the steel corporation, telephone figures examined by the telephone company, and so on.

FOURTH DIRECTOR QUITS MISSOURI STATE COMPANY

St. Louis, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Word was received today of the resignation of Harry S. Tressel of Chicago as a director of the Missouri State Life Insurance company. It is effective immediately. He is the fourth director to resign within a month. The others quit in protest against the $800,000 loan made by the company to finance the purchase of Insurance Equities corporation and obtain control of the Kentucky Home Life Insurance company of Louisville, which owns 29.5 per cent of the Missouri State Life stock. Vacancies on the board are to be filled Tuesday.

Tressel Explains Action.

In explaining his action here last night Tressel said:

"My resignation is the natural sequence to my protest against the $800,000 loan made to Insurance Equities corporation by Missouri State Life a few weeks ago."

Trade Reviews Say Business Continues to Make Advances

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 13.—The trade reviews of the week agree that recuperation is continuing in the opening weeks of the new year, and, while there seems to be a stalemate as far as constructive legislation is concerned, underlying business conditions are better.

The volume of business reported in the last three weeks indicates that business records are narrowing the gap between current figures and those of a year ago, and there has been improvement in the bond and stock markets.

A fly in the ointment of improvement, however, is found in an increase in commercial failures, of which sixty-seven were bank failures. Of the latter, it is said that the majority are dying "natural" deaths, owing to shrinkage of deposits and unprofitable operation. Average deposits of the closing banks were only $392,865.

Business Gaining.

"Trade reports and the usual weekly statistical releases are indefinite in the light they cast upon business developments of the last period. Freight car loadings, electric power production, coal output, and bank clearings have all been more or less distorted by the holidays. The use of a longer period of comparison, e. g., the last three weeks, indicates that the volume of business has maintained its gradual improvement over the levels of the preceding year, and is steadily reducing the gap between the two years.

"A distinct change in the tactics of merchandising has become apparent during the last two months and is now approaching the point of extended test. The new policy includes the retention of the old price appeal, but adds to it a radical departure in style for the purpose of creating in the minds of the consumer an 'obsolescence consciousness.'"

Manufacturing Higher.

Dun's review says:

"Although manufacturing plants continue mainly on part time schedules, industrial operations, as a whole, are slightly higher than they were a week ago.

"Increases in activity have been most marked by those manufacturers whose products go into direct consumption, such as textiles, wearing apparel, shoes, foodstuffs, and many specialties.

"In addition, reports from various quarters show that orders received by those trades identified with the manufacture of cartons, boxes, industrial printing, and paper indicate that a wider use is anticipated for such supplies."

W. A. HARRIMAN WILL INSPECT ILLINOIS CENTRAL

Asserts Trucks Will Stay as Rivals.

Trucks using the public highways are here to stay as competitors of the railroads, but this competition should be put on a basis fairer to the roads.

This statement was made last night by W. A. Harriman, chairman of the executive committee of the Illinois Central and chairman of the board of the Union Pacific. He is in Chicago preparatory to tour of inspection of the Illinois Central, with L. A. Downs, president of that road. He is accompanied by F. W. Charske, a member of the executive committee of the Union Pacific.

Work Out Own Troubles.

Undoubtedly the roads will work out methods whereby they will be able to meet the trucks on their own ground, he added.

"My main business is banking," Mr. Harriman said, "but now I am giving some attention to the railroads in which I am interested."

Mr. Harriman was asked about the financial position of the railroads generally, particularly with respect to gossip that several roads are headed toward receivership.

Roads' Finances Satisfactory.

"I can't say much about the general railroad situation," he stated, "but I do know that the finances of the Illinois Central and Union Pacific are satisfactory."

Mr. Harriman said he is continuing on the board of directors of the Aviation corporation, but his interest in aviation is incidental.

"The aviation business is young. However, the increased business obtained by aviation lines in passengers, mail, and express shows the public interest in that form of transportation."

SEVERAL FIRMS DOWNSTATE TO REOPEN PLANTS

Quincy, Ill., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—The idle are being put to work in various cities in the Quincy area. It is reported that some of the factories here will start part time in the near future.

At Hannibal, Mo., the Universal Atlas Cement plant will start Feb. 1 with 300 men and will increase to 400 by March 1.

Keokuk, Ia., has opened a new shoe factory employing 80 to 100 and will increase to 250. Schramm & Schmieg of Burlington, Ia., will reopen their overall factory Monday with 40 workers.

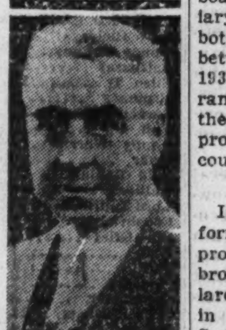

The button factory at Oquawka, Ill., will reopen next Monday, employing 30 to 40 cutters, sorters and graders.

Price of Heavier Oils Cut in the New York District

Increasingly keen competition in fuel oil has led to price slashing in the New York metropolitan district and some outside markets, the trade hears. The weakness appears to be chiefly in the heavy oils. Offerings of some grades at 2¼ cents a gallon, tank wagon, are attracting few buyers.

HILLMAN FOOD STORES TO CELEBRATE START OF 34TH YEAR MONDAY

Hillman's Food stores will enter their thirty-fourth year of business in Chicago with a continuing record of steadily increasing business, Martin H. Burns, president, said yesterday.

MARTIN H. BURNS.

"On Monday," he said, "Hillman's will celebrate the thirty-fourth anniversary of the founding of this business. Despite conditions we are enjoying increasing business. We have gone ahead with our progrom of expansion and during the last year have opened two new stores, one in the loop and one in Oak Park.

"On the eve of our anniversary we are looking forward to increasing business over last year, just as we did in 1932 over 1931."

CURB ON STOCK SALES OFFERED IN WISCONSIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 13.—Complete revision of Wisconsin's laws concerning regulation of securities sales and strengthening of virtually all phases of authority vested in the securities division of the state public service commission is incorporated in a bill introduced in the legislature today by Assemblyman Jerome Fox, Chilton.

The reforms are those recommended by Gov. A. G. Schmedeman in his message to the legislature.

Under the new provisions all securities regardless of the exchanges on which they are listed, would be subject to blue sky regulation and listing with the state for investigation.

Exchange Officials Silent.

Officials of the Chicago Stock exchange declined to make any comment yesterday on the recommendation of Gov. Schmedeman of Wisconsin that the exemption now enjoyed by exchange securities in that state be removed. The proposal was no surprise here.

Several months ago the Wisconsin commission removed the Chicago exchange exemption, but the order was later rescinded.

Libby-McNeill Board Is Reduced to 9 Members

At the annual meeting of stockholders of Libby, McNeill & Libby held in Portland, Me., approval was given to a reduction in the number of directors to nine from eleven, thus eliminating the positions formerly held by Edward F. Swift, deceased, and Louis F. Swift, resigned. Nine incumbent directors were reëlected. At the subsequent meeting of directors D. E. Hillyer, secretary of the company, was elected to additional post of treasurer, succeeding Henry W. Hardy, retired.

Risk Companies Not Lending.

Insurance companies, the largest investors in individual loans, have been out of the market for more than a year. However, renewals are being considered on existing loans held by them. We recently completed a survey of inquiry among all the large insurance companies regarding their attitude on the loan situation in Chicago. We were unable to locate one company making new loans.

Here are transcripts of the letters we received from insurance company officials:

"At present the funds of our company are being used to take care of policy owners' loans and we are not investing in new mortgage loans for the time being."

"We do not think it wise to express an opinion as to when we will again be in the market for loans on real estate in Chicago, but we may say we hope to be within six months."

"We are not making mortgage loans of any kind in Chicago or Illinois, or anywhere else for that matter, for the time being."

"From present indications it is probable that we will be again in the market for a limited volume of mortgage loans withing the next six months."

"If general conditions do not very materially improve, I do not think we will be in a position to consider any propositions for loans on property in your city."

This news, together with the well known fact that banks in Chicago are not making loans on real estate, makes the mortgage loan financing situation in Chicago a very serious problem.

The gates of opportunity are wide open for the organization of a large reputable mortgage loan institution to make conservative loans at this time and build a solid foundation for a profitable business and at the same time supply a great economic need.

Bungalow Owner Puzzled.

TO THE EDITOR: In January, 1929, I purchased a modest six room brick bungalow for $8,200, paying $1,200 cash. Today I owe $5,100 and would like to know if the property is worth the amount of the incumbrance. I have a steady job and taxes and interest are paid to date.—D. McA.

ANSWER: The home owner's primary object should be that of survival with utter disregard for current values. Remember, your home is just as livable today as it was three years ago when presumably it was worth at least one-third more. From the standpoint of use your property has the same value it had in 1929, although today that value is represented by a different figure. This department cannot furnish appraisals on real estate.

BUTTER PRICES DECLINE

Heavy liquidation was on in butter futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday with losses of ⅝@⅞c sustained in the various deliveries. Fresh egg deliveries closed unchanged to ⅝c lower. January refrigerators broke $240 per car.

A bearish monthly storage report brought out much of the heavy selling in butter. Short covering was about the only support. Nervousness was increased by a daily storage report showing less butter out than last year. Continued weak spot market prices and fairly heavy receipts weakened egg futures. Selling was active in fresh firsts, although fair new support developed in the February delivery.

Sales: Butter, 156 cars; eggs, 42 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 5 cars. Prices follow:

Receiver of Middle West Subsidiary Sues.

Alleging fraud and dishonesty against Samuel and Martin J. Insull, Eugene V. R. Thayer, receiver for the Mississippi Valley Utilities Investment company, defunct subsidiary of the Middle West Utilities company, filed suit in federal court yesterday against the New Amsterdam Casualty company of New York, underwriters of a $100,000 indemnity bond covering the Insulls and all other officers and employés of Middle West.

The bill of complaint, drawn up by the law firm of Winston, Strawn and Shaw and approved by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley, sets forth that the Insull brothers, "acting in connivance with each other and with other employés wrongfully and dishonestly permitted funds to be diverted and used to buy highly speculative stocks for the account of Martin Insull."

Claim Three Times Bond.

The bill fixes the amount of the diverted funds at $395,000 and demands that the indemnity company reimburse the Mississippi Valley company to the extent of $300,000. A so-called automatic reinsurance clause in the indemnity bond, providing that after any defalcation the bond automatically remains in force, enables the receiver to claim three times the amount of the bond.

Samuel Insull was chairman of the board of Middle West and the subsidiary, while Martin was president of both companies. On four occasions between April 24, 1931, and Feb. 10, 1932, Martin Insull withdrew sums ranging from $10,00 to $225,000 from the treasury of Mississippi Valley to protect his personal brokerage accounts, the bill alleges.

Basis of Indictments.

It was on the same allegations that former State's Attorney John Swanson procured the indictment of the Insull brothers last October on charges of larceny and embezzlement, resulting in an unsuccessful fight to extradite Samuel Insull from Greece. An extradition case against Martin Insull, now residing at Orillia, Ont., is still pending in the Ontario court.

A charge raised by Samuel Ettleson, former corporation counsel, that Samuel Insull "framed" the receivership of his various companies and still dominates those receiverships will be aired next Monday before Garfield Charles, referee in bankruptcy in the case of Insull Utility Investments, Inc.

Mr. Ettelson objected to selection of Calvin Fentress, receiver for Insull Utility Investments, as trustee in bankruptcy for the company. The referee held up the appointment to give Mr. Ettelson opportunity to prove his case.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Continued warm weather is affecting the egg market as production is increasing rapidly, especially in the southwest. Prices yesterday were off 1@1½c with a slow demand for the heavy offerings. Receipts, 8,486 cases. Butter was steady to ½c lower, the latter on centralized. Receipts, 8,918 tubs. Live leghorn hens and spring chickens were up ½c with other poultry unchanged. Receipts, 1 car and 28 trucks. Potatoes weaker for Idahoes and dull on white stock. Receipts, 59 cars with 155 cars on team track.

CROP EXPERT EXPLAINS GAINS IN WHEAT PRICE

Farmers Exaggerate Planted Acreage.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

NAT C. MURRAY.

In endeavoring to account for increased optimism and the price advance, nobody has offered a more convincing line of argument than Nat C. Murray, veteran crop observer.

Mr. Murray goes back to war times and draws on his years of experience as head of the crop reporting division of the United States department of agriculture. He arrives at the conclusion that the talk about the domestic allotment plan of farm relief has had quite a little to do with the movement of prices.

Farmers Exaggerate Acreage.

His theory is that farmers throughout the country, but especially in the northwest where the domestic allotment dream was first dreamed, have been exaggerating their acreage figures during the last year for the purpose of getting themselves bigger allotments of acreage if the plan is enacted by congress.

"Normally," says Mr. Murray, "the government crop estimates run pretty close to the estimates made by private estimators like myself. Last year, however, the government figures turned out to be more than ten per cent too high. The government estimate on July 1 was 22,169,000 acres. My own estimate was 19,889,000 and those of other private firms were about that figure. Between these two there could be a difference of about 25 million bushels of wheat.

"Government figures are arrived at by estimating the total for each state on the basis of sample farms. Private estimates are usually based on information supplied by mills and country elevators.

Farmers Protect Themselves.

"Up in Montana and the Dakotas, where the domestic allotment plan was born, there is the greatest discrepancy between government and private estimates.

"I cannot prove it, but I am convinced that a perfectly natural thing is happening. It is simply that many farmers are seeking to insure themselves against the allotment bill in case it should become a law. If wheat acreages are going to be limited by law the farmer wants a big allotment."

This seizing of opportunity by the forelock practiced on a broad scale Mr. Murray believes, has already resulted in a big overestimate by the department of agriculture, and he thinks that the discrepancy between reported and actual acreage this year will probably be even greater.

Western Crops Poor.

Kansas, which normally has more than a quarter of the nation's winter wheat acreage, this year is expected to have the smallest crop since 1925.

Two estimates, based upon an analysis of weather and yields in previous years, have been made. One forecasts a total winter wheat crop of 79 million bushels and the other predicts 75 million bushels. Last year's crop was 105 million bushels, and in 1931 the crop was 231 million bushels.

Kansas has had floods when it most needed dry weather and drought when it needed rain. October, November and December were the driest in years. Frigid weather has aided in the destruction of winter wheat.

Other wheat states have been suffering from drought. A rainless ribbon of dried up wheat fields varying from 100 to 200 miles in width stretches from well down in the Texas panhandle northward into Canada, transversing parts of Oklahoma, Colorado, Nebraska, and Kansas and the Dakotas.

Wheat Surplus Shrinks.

Many crop experts, including Nat Murray, have been warning the trade that the big wheat surplus that has been talked about so much may be smaller than is generally suspected.

Buyers for big wheat consuming industries are paying a five cent premium over the futures basis for cash wheat and, even so, they report it hard to get. Ordinarily, futures are figured to sell at a price which takes into consideration carrying charges of about 1½ cents per month.

Two theories have been advanced to explain the difficulty in buying cash wheat. One is that farmers who hold wheat won't sell at present low prices. The other is that there isn't as much wheat back in the country as the trade has been figuring on.

Northwest Bancorporation Earns $2.75 on Its Shares

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Net operating earnings of $2.75 per share in 1932 compared with $3.43 in 1931 were announced today by the Northwest Bancorporation. That represented earnings of $4,448,363 for 1932 after deducting an amount representing the interest of minority stockholders and before making certain charge-offs. The 1932 total was $4,741,825. E. W. Decker of Minneapolis was re-elected president by the directors.

Ways in Which U. S. Currency Can Be Inflated

This is the second of four articles dealing with proposals for currency inflation and tariff revision. This article explains the chief proposals and purposes of inflation of money and credit. The third article will appear tomorrow.

BY SCRUTATOR.

The preceding article listed the chief measures pending in congress looking toward inflation, either directly or indirectly. This brings up the general methods by which inflation may be accomplished.

The direct means of bringing about inflation would be to devalue the dollar by changing its gold content, or by returning to bimetalism and issuing currency based on silver, or by issuing greenbacks. These proposals call for increasing our currency to more or less degree. But inflation also could be accomplished by indirect means affecting credit such as continuance of an unbalanced government budget, excess governmental expenditures financed by long term loans, and currency and credit policies of the federal reserve system.

Might Pay More for Gold.

Proponents of the plan for changing the gold content of the dollar suggest that the present law under which an ounce of gold is exchangeable for $20.67 in currency be changed to make gold exchangeable for a larger amount of currency, say $30. That would amount, roughly, to a 50 per cent inflation. Another method of proclaiming that the dollar is based on a lesser amount of gold than at present would accomplish the same result.

Advocates of bimetalism urge a return to the use of silver as a base for currency, either in definite amounts over a period of time or free coinage in some fixed ratio to gold such as 40 to 1. Thus, as much currency would be issued in exchange for 40 ounces of silver as for an ounce of gold. Advocates of bimetalism suggest an international conference at which all nations might agree to using silver at a fixed ratio to gold as a currency base.

Urge Fiat Money.

Proponents of issuing currency on some other basis than gold or silver ... a return to the "greenback" era that was in effect during our civil w... Such currency is variously termed "fiat money," or "printing press" currency.

All of these proposals have for their object the increasing of our money units in relation to the amount of our stock of gold. As the currency was cheapened in relation to gold, it also would be cheapened in relation to commodities. Thus, commodity prices would tend to rise to the degree that the currency was inflated.

The indirect way of accomplishing inflation is through expansion of the use of credit. For example, if the government persistently fails to balance its budget it eventually will have to resort to some form of dilution of its monetary system in order to make payment for the difference between its income and its outgo. Capital expenditures which produce benefits that enable the taxpayers to defray such outlays are justifiable, but excessive or wasteful expenditures mean eventual resort to monetary inflation.

Inflation Through Credit.

The federal reserve system has the power, to a certain degree, to inflate or contract the supply of currency and credit. The reserve banks, through their "open market" policy, buy and sell government bonds. They may issue currency to the extent that it is backed by 40 per cent in gold and 60 per cent in bonds or obligations of member banks eligible for rediscount.

When the reserve banks buy bonds they force currency into the money market, raise the price of the bonds, and so decrease interest yields. The bulk of such bonds are bought from banks, which find it less profitable to hold them. But these banks, in return, have their cash augmented and and so are under pressure to seek ways to employ it. This has a tendency to inflate credit. When the reserve banks sell bonds the series of operations is reversed.

Who Were the Best Customers of the Steel Industry in 1932?

Allotment Bill Perils Farmer, Say Packers

BY PAUL POTTER.

Chicago's long standing reputation as the focal point of American farm commodity prices is being threatened in one of the sections of the farm relief measure that passed the house of representatives in Washington Thursday and is now before the senate.

Attention to the loss of a daily cash market for all the hogs the midwest produces, in particular, was called in a statement issued yesterday by W. W. Woods, president of the Institute of American Meat Packers. The bill, which started out in the house agricultural committee as the "domestic allotment plan," since has become the "national emergency act" and seeks to place an artificial price level on hogs and, indirectly, upon corn.

Would Cut Hog Sales.

"If the bill, with its tax of millions of dollars on hogs, became a law," states the institute, "the packing industry could no longer buy all the hogs that the producers wish to sell, but would be forced to reduce their purchase sharply.

"Terminal markets would be blocked with hogs that could not be sold and a huge surplus of hogs would pile up in the country with amazing rapidity. The hogs, for which there would be no market, would continue to put on weight, and would further increase the production of pork instead of curtailing it."

Instead of helping the producer, the packers maintain, the bill would injure him. By fixing an arbitrary price and requiring the processor to pay a tax equal to the difference between the fixed price and the actual market price, pork consumption would drop. With buying at a low ebb the number of hogs that could be marketed at the higher levels would be so small as to cause the demoralization of the hog industry.

Tax of 50 to 100 Per Cent.

The bill proposes the establishment of an ultimate top price for hogs which would bring about a sales tax on pork to the consumer of from 50 to 100 per cent of present retail prices, the institute finds.

The charges of the packers, outlined in a bulletin, are being broadcast through the midwest with a call for farmers and others interested in the issues the new relief bill brings out to protest to congressmen "against the imposition of such a tax." The institute takes the position that the legislation will harm both producers and packers if enacted into law.

THE BLACKSTONE BANKRUPTCY SUIT GOES TO REFEREE

The Blackstone hotel bankruptcy case was referred to a referee by Federal Judge George A. Carpenter yesterday.

At the same time attorneys for the Continental Illinois National bank, holder of a chattel mortgage on the hotel's personal property and good will, and for the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, which owns the first mortgage on the building and real estate, were seeking to compromise on a sale price for the personal property.

The life insurance company entered the only bid, $100,000, at the receiver's sale. The bid was refused by the bank.

Another American May Head World Bank at Basel

BASEL, Switzerland, Jan. 13.—(AP)—In quarters close to the Bank for International Settlements it was reported today that Gates W. McGarrah will retire as president of that bank next May when his three year term ends. Leon Fraser, another American, now vice president, may be his successor. The bank directors are to meet next Monday.

BRITISH RAILS BOARD SPLITS SIX WAYS OVER WAGE CUT PROPOSAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The deadlock arising from the dispute over the British railroad men's wages and the crisis through which the industry is passing has been made more confusing by the findings of the national railway board issued tonight. No solution of the problem is in sight and at the moment it appears that conciliation machinery for settlement of the trouble has broken down completely.

The railroad companies want an all around reduction of 10 per cent in wages and salaries, subject to a new minimum wage of $9.50 [at par] weekly.

Tonight's findings show an acute division among the 17 members of the board. No fewer than six separate reports have been issued, indicating hopeless differences of opinion.

Representatives of the railway users are divided among themselves, issuing two reports.

Other members, representing British industries and chambers of commerce, indorse the companies' proposals, meanwhile suggesting that granting of the companies' claim would not help very much, but at least would do something to improve their credit and facilities.

Sir Harold Morris, independent chairman, presents his own set of findings, which are not indorsed by any other member of the board and which are unacceptable alike to the unions and companies. The chairman finds in favor of a certain measure of reduction.

FLUCTUATIONS IN STERLING MARKS EXCHANGE TRADE

New York, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Wide fluctuations in the British pound sterling and a sharp slump of Danish crowns were the features of the foreign exchange market today.

While the pound lost more than a cent in London before the local market opened, it was only moderately off here and managed to close unchanged at $3.35½ for cables.

There was little support for the French franc which sagged ⅛ of a point to a cable rate of 3.90¼ cents, just under the gold import point.

STOCK PRICES WEAKER; TRADE MOVES SLOWER

Mild Rally Arises Near Close.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 13.—The share market looked rather seedy at the close of today's trading session. Heaviness in wheat, a moderate decline in bonds, and the discouraging trend of affairs at Washington had further dampened speculative enthusiasm and kept the balance of power on the buying side most of the day. There was a modest rally toward the close, however, and final prices graded no worse than irregular.

The turnover at about 700,000 shares was a good quarter million below that of yesterday.

Confidence Unshaken.

Brokers insisted, however, that popular confidence in a spring business upturn of some kind was still unshaken and that a renewal of the so-called "New Year's advance" may yet develop if the Washington tinkers and the commodity market powers will only give the market a chance. Judging from the comment to be heard around commission houses, the street has little hope of any constructive legislation at the present session and is staking its hopes chiefly on a minimum of the other kind.

The farm bonus bill had been pretty generally anticipated and was only partly responsible for today's setback. Just now concern in stock trading circles is centering more and more on the growing agitation for currency inflation.

Tobacco Bright Spot.

Tobacco shares provide about the only bright spot in today's dealings on the exchange. Talk is that business has been looking up rather smartly for the cigaret manufacturers lately, unofficial estimates on production foreshadowing an increase of 2½ per cent in the December output as compared with that of the corresponding month last year. American Tobacco issues were in the van of the group movement, both the common and the "B" stock moving against the trend for gains of nearly 2 points. The Liggett & Myers issues and Reynolds B were almost as prominent.

Preferred issues were mostly higher, with gains of from 2 to 5 points conspicuous, but the list of beneficiaries in this division to move any distance was smaller than recently.

Gold Stocks Under Pressure.

Gold stocks were under more or less pressure throughout the day, Homestake Mining losing more than 3 points and Alaska Juneau nearly a point. The group was unable to participate to any extent whatever in the late afternoon upturn.

The rails made a show of strength in the early dealings, but were unable to hold the pace. Losses were chiefly fractional, however. The carloadings report, due tomorrow, is expected to show a total of around 436,000 cars, or an increase of about 30,000 over the total of the preceding week.

The break in wheat had little effect on the farm implement issues, Case and International Harvester both improving their previous closing levels to some slight extent.

Federal Home Loan Banks to Sell Bonds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—Federal home loan banks soon will be in the market with their bonds, Franklin W. Fort, chairman of the home loan bank board, made that announcement today.

The bond issues will be determined upon by the individual banks, subject to the approval of the board. Simultaneous issues by two banks will carry the same interest rate, but beyond this decision no definite consideration has been given to matters such as interest rates and maturities, he said. Market conditions will have to determine these details.

Basis for Bond Issues.

Each bank may issue $100 of bonds for every $190 of collateral which it holds, Mr. Fort explained. He added that in his opinion the bonds of those banks were excellent securities and well supported. He pointed out that the banks lend only up to 60 per cent of the unpaid principal of the mortgage which the borrower offers as collateral.

Because the home loan board does not know exactly how much money the banks have lent, Mr. Fort was unable to estimate the aggregate which the several bond issues would reach. The board is said to have approved loans amounting to $35,000,000 out of applications totaling $50,000,000 which the banks have forwarded to the board.

Loans in Big Demand.

At many of the banks the applications for loans already amount to as much as the capitalization of the bank. At the Indianapolis bank applications exceed the $3,000,000 capitalization of that institution. To meet these demands, bonds will be floated.

GROCERY CHAIN REPORTS FIRST GAIN SINCE 1929

National Tea Shows 4 Week Advance.

For the first time since the market crash of 1929, the National Tea company reports an increase in sales for one four-week period over the like period in a preceding year. Sales for the four weeks ending Dec. 31, 1932, totaled $5,349,542, as compared with $5,245,357 in the same period 1931—a gain of $104,185, or 2 per cent.

Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company sales for the five weeks ending Dec. 31 were $79,615,596, and compared with $91,309,637 in the like period of 1931, a decrease of $11,694,041, or 12.81 per cent.

Tonnage Drop Smaller.

The percentage of decline in tonnage volume was much smaller, reflecting the drop in prices of foodstuffs which has occurred in the year closed. Tonnage totaled 493,470 in the 1932 period compared with 516,165 in the 1931, a decline in merchandise sold of 17,695 tons, or 3.43 per cent.

Average weekly sales in December were $18,923,119, compared with $18,261,927, a decrease of $2,338,808.

Drop of 14.14 Per Cent.

This total, compiled from monthly reports, compares with sales of $1,019,030,178 in 1931, the decrease in the last year being equivalent to 14.14 per cent. The peak of sales was reached in the fiscal year ended Feb. 28, 1931, when the total was $1,065,806,855.

The estimate tonnage sales last year, however, showed a decrease of but 4.20 per cent in comparison with 1931, the totals being 5,309,045 and 5,542,053 tons respectively.

STANLEY FIELD IS CHOSEN HEAD OF CONTINENTAL

City's Biggest Bank Elects Officers.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Stanley Field, nephew of the founder of Marshall Field & Co. and a leading figure in Chicago's business and civic life for a quarter of a century, yesterday was chosen chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company.

Mr. Field succeeds George M. Reynolds, who retired last week after more than half a century of active banking. Mr. Field's selection was made by the directors of the bank yesterday after the annual meeting of stockholders. James R. Leavell and other officers of the bank were re-elected. At the meeting of stockholders the present directors were reëlected. Mr. Reynolds continues as a director.

Entered Banking in 1913.

Mr. Field's selection as chief executive of the largest bank in the country outside of New York City climaxes a banking career which began in 1913 when he was made a director of the Illinois Trust company.

Mr. Field, along with Mr. Leavell, Continental's president, has been the directing force in the bank's management for several months. It was under their direction that the Continental became a national bank late last year.

Mr. Field has been chairman of the bank's executive committee since March last year. He assumed that position when George M. Reynolds resigned to resume the position of board chairman from which his brother, Arthur Reynolds, had retired. Prior to that time Mr. Field was a director and chairman of the advisory committee. It is only in the last two years, however, that he has come to the front as an active figure in the bank's management.

Negotiated Merger.

Mr. Field's most important banking had been as a principal negotiator in 1929 of the merger of the Continental National bank and the Illinois Merchants Trust company. That consolidation was Chicago's most important financial union. He was one of the small group of influential men who brought about the merger on March 18, 1929. Mr. Field had had similar experience in 1918 when he played an active part in the negotiations which led to the consolidation of the Illinois Trust with the Merchants Loan and Trust company, a consolidation which subsequently included the Corn Exchange National bank under the title of the Illinois Merchants Trust company.

As head of the building committee of the merged banks he was largely responsible for the erection of the Illinois Merchants bank building, which now houses the Continental Illinois National.

Started with Marshall Field.

Mr. Field's earlier business career was with Marshall Field & Co. He came to this country in 1893 from Manchester, where he was born in 1875. He became a messenger boy in his uncle's business organization. He worked his way up through the whole-

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Passage of the domestic allotment bill for farm relief by the house of representatives failed to stimulate buying yesterday of wheat or other agricultural commodities mentioned in the measure. Traders who analyzed the bill asserted the only affect it might have would be to intensify the tendency of farmers to withhold cash wheat from the market. However, now that the bill has gone to the senate it created an atmosphere of uncertainty in the trade and led to scattered selling by longs.

At no time yesterday were wheat prices more than a fraction above the finish of the previous day, despite bullish crop reports from the American southwest and Pacific northwest, and an active oriental demand for grain. Selling of futures in the local market against purchases at Winnipeg tended to increase pressure and rallies were relatively feeble. Closing trades were at net losses of ½@⅞c, with May finishing at 48⅝c; July, 47⅞@48c, and September, 48⅞@48⅞c.

Argentina Pressing Sales.

Movement of the new Argentine wheat crop is increasing and Liverpool reported that country as pressing the grain for sale. Under normal conditions the market is more or less affected during the month of January by the liberal shipments of new crop grain from the southern hemisphere. Some of the local operators are disposed to go slow on the bull side until the pressure of the after harvest movement in Australia and Argentina snows signs of decreasing.

The orient bought 500,000 bu Australian wheat Friday and bids at the Pacific coast for Manitobas were said to be close in line with sellers' views. Liverpool showed relative strength and closed ¼@⅜c per bu lower.

Winnipeg wheat market failed to show the weakness so much in evidence in Chicago and closed ⅛@⅜c lower, houses with Chicago connections being reported on the buying side. Buenos Aires was ⅛@¼c lower for the day.

More Interest in Corn.

Open interest in corn, as indicated by reports from the Grain Futures administration, is now the largest since April 23, 1931. At the close of business on Thursday the open interest in all futures showed an aggregate of 51,877,000 bu, an increase of 27,817,000 bu as compared with the total open on July 1, 1932.

In the last few days commission houses have been fair buyers of futures and have offset to a large extent the increase in country offerings of cash grain to arrive. Weakness in wheat led to selling at the last yesterday with net losses of ⅜c. May finished at 27½c, July, 28⅞c, and September, 30@30⅛c. There were further intimations of export business but no sales were confirmed.

Rye specialists claim there has been buying of that grain against sales of wheat for several weeks. The spread narrowed to 12⅝c at the close Friday, against 12⅝c on Thursday, with the finish on rye ¼@⅜c lower; May being 36c and July 35⅛c. Oats were ⅛c lower, with May 17¼@17⅜c and July 17⅝@17¾c. Barley lost ⅛c for the day, with May closing at 28⅛c.

sale department of the business and was elected first vice president of Marshall Field & Co. in 1906. He retained this office until 1918. He gave up this job after he returned from France, where he had served as director of all purchasing, warehousing and transportation for the American Red Cross.

He has been prominent in civic affairs. His name has been associated with many charitable projects. His other activities include the Field museum, of which he has been a director since 1906 and president since 1908.

Several Other Promotions.

In addition to Mr. Field's election several promotions were made yesterday by the Continental directors. Reuben G. Danielson, cashier, was elected vice president and cashier in the commercial department; Monroe F. Cockrell and Joseph L. Overlock, second vice presidents, were raised to full vice presidents; Hiram R. Castles, William H. Gilkes and Carl L. Johnson, assistant cashiers, were made second vice presidents, and John F. Manion was made an assistant cashier.

In the trust department the following promotions were made: Charles H. Binney and F. E. Musgrove, second vice presidents, were made full vice presidents, and W. R. Bennett, formerly second vice president of the Continental Illinois company, was elected to a similar position with the bank.

Other Bank Elections.

Three new members were elected to the board of the Main State bank at the annual meeting of stockholders yesterday. They are Joseph Pearl, Dr. M. Larkin, and Daniel Wolff. They fill vacancies created by resignations.

Three directors were elected to fill vacancies at the annual meeting of the Prairie State bank of Oak Park. They were Fred J. Spring, Guy E. Tulpin, and Fred E. Hoge. S. P. Tonaso was elected assistant cashier. With the exception of a president, who will be chosen later, other officers were reëlected.

All directors and officers of the Pioneer Trust and Savings bank were reëlected last night.

WHEAT GROWERS OF ARGENTINA GET ONLY COST

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Argentine wheat farmers, who produce wheat more cheaply than any nation except Russia, now receive bare production costs for the first time since 1928. Land values fell faster than wheat prices.

The 1933 acreage, however, probably will show a slight increase unless the world economic conference agrees to a limitation. That was regarded as improbable.

Minister of Agriculture De Tomaso was willing that Argentina discuss limitation. The government, however, will not make overtures to other nations beyond suggesting that the preparatory committee of the economic conference put crop limitation on the agenda.

With 145,000,000 to 165,000,000 bushels estimated available for export in 1933, compared to 130,000,000 in 1932, Argentine wheat was finding a fair demand in the British isles and continental Europe through its chief port of clearance, Antwerp.

Bulgaria May Prohibit Exportation of Wheat

The Bulgarian government proposes to prohibit the further exportation of wheat, according to a cable to Broomhall. The crop this year approximates only 50,400,000 bu, which is nearly 11,000,000 bu smaller than a year ago. Exports from Bulgaria during the period from Aug. 1 to Nov. 30, 1932, aggregated 1,418,000 bu, compared with 4,473,000 a year before.

John E. May Goes with Abbott, Hoppin & Co.

John E. May, formerly resident partner of F. B. Keech & Co., and William J. Burghart, formerly with Halle & Stieglitz, have become associated with Abbott, Hoppin & Co. here, Lewis Seaverns, resident partner, announced. Reinhardt, Daly & Co. will make their offices with Abbott, Hoppin & Co. at 208 South La Salle street and will clear their transactions through the firm.

HEDGE SALES IN LARD CARRY PRICES LOWER

Buying of lard futures was insufficient to take care of the hedging sales by packers and with weakness in grains and cotton prices yielded and closed around the lowest of the day Net losses were 17½@20c, the latter on May.

Cash lard was weaker and there is said to be an increase in production with demand lower. Regular lard was $4.15, with loose and leaf $3.50. Liverpool lard was 6@9d lower, the latter on spots. Export clearance was 2,722,136 lbs lard and 7,000 lbs bacon

Bellies were unchanged for futures with deliveries of 150,000 lbs. Cash bellies were $3.87½; dry salted meat trade was fair. Prices follow:

GASOLINE AND OILS

Improved demand for linseed oil and paints has advanced prices for linseed to 60c, up 3c, and turpentine is also up 3c. Jobbers, manufacturers and retailers of paints are urging consumers of paints, especially those who have houses and are out of work, to utilize their time in making improvements, particularly in painting. This movement has brought an enlarged demand for paints and as the season for painting advances they are looking for a steady gain in sales.

OFFICE OF Constructing Quartermaster, Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill. Sealed proposals will be received at this office until 2:00 P. M., January 17, 1933, and then opened, for construction of eight double sets of Non-Commissioned Officers' Quarters. Plans and specifications may be obtained from Constructing Quartermaster, Chanute Field, Rantoul, Illinois, after deposit of certified check for Twenty-five dollars—payable to Treasurer of United States.

NOTICE OF CLOSE OF DEPOSITS

The Wordsworth, New York City, January 28, 1933

45 Fifth Avenue Apartments, New York City, February 14, 1933

After those dates bonds of those issues will not be accepted for deposit by the depositaries, except in compliance with Section 4 of Article I of the Deposit Agreement which authorizes the Committee, among other things, to extend or reopen the period of deposits upon such terms and conditions as the Committee may direct. The depositaries are: Chicago Title and Trust Company, 69 West Washington Street, Chicago, Illinois, City Bank Farmers Trust Company, 22 William Street, New York, New York (Successor to Bank of America, N A); Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company, 100 Franklin Street, Boston, Massachusetts (Successor Depositary to The Atlantic National Bank of Boston).

Plans of reorganization on the above properties have been adopted by the Committee and can be obtained from any of the depositaries or from the Secretary, G. L. WIRE, 111 West Monroe Street, Chicago, Illinois.

Depositors who desire to dissent to the plans of reorganization must have in the hands of the depositaries with whom their bonds are deposited (1) a letter of dissent, (2) a remittance for Committee expenses, and (3) the certificate of deposit duly endorsed (the genuineness of the endorsement must be guaranteed by a bank) prior to the close of business on the respective dates appearing after the respective issues, otherwise depositors will be deemed to have assented to the plan of reorganization:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 13.—Heaviness, originating in the United States government list, characterized the bond market today.

Long term treasury issues were lower by about half a point, while short term treasury numbers gave up substantial fractions, together with Liberty issues.

The lower trend in the government section reflected nervousness among dealers, following the disclosure late yesterday that the reserve system had let its government holdings run off by about $38,000,000.

Some Profit Taking.

Although the open market committee of the reserve system has announced that it intends to maintain a substantial volume of excess member bank reserves, many holders of governments were disposed to take some of the handsome profits which have accrued to them during recent months on steadily rising prices. Holders of short term treasuries have no wish to overstay the market.

Weakness in governments was shared by other divisions of the bond market, putting a curb to the broad advance which has been under way for some weeks. Speculative rail and utility bonds were moderately lower and even the high grade list was easy in spots.

Foreign List Reacts.

The same reactionary movement gained ground in the foreign list, with German government and South American bonds inclining to lower levels.

United Drug 5s had another erratic session today, dropping sharply about 6 points on reports that the Boots Drug deal is being held in abeyance by the British government. The issue recovered substantially in later trades.

NEW ISSUE.

Public offering was made yesterday by Halsey, Stuart & Co. of an issue of $200,000 Essex county, New York, 3½ per cent bonds, due Jan. 15, 1935-38, inclusive.

L. A. Young Spring and Wire.

May I please have a report on the L. A. Young Spring and Wire company? Thanks.—Miss K. A.

L. A. Young Spring and Wire corporation was originally established more than 30 years ago. It is one of the leading manufacturers of spring wire products. Most of its output is sold to the automobile trade, General Motors and Ford being two of its principal customers. It also deals with manufacturers of mattresses, and manufactures industrial coil springs, wire garment hangers, etc.

Earnings tend to fluctuate with the degree of activity of automobile manufacturers. Net income of $61,000 in the first half of 1932 was not sufficient to offset a loss of $139,000 in the third quarter, and loss for the first nine months was $78,000. Net income for the first nine months of 1931 was $618,000, or $1.59 per share.

Net income in 1931 was $522,000, or $1.34 per share, against net of $1,295,000, or $3.34 per share, for 1930. Net for 1929 was $2,213,000, against $1,876,000 for 1928 and $927,000 for 1927.

On June 30, 1932, current assets were $2,766,000 and current liabilities were $358,000. Cash and government securities alone were more than $1,300,000. Working capital was $2,408,000, against $2,384,000 on Dec. 31, 1931, and $2,584,000 on Dec. 31, 1930.

Funded debt totals $223,000. There are outstanding 412,500 shares of no par capital stock. The stock pays 25 cents a quarter. It is speculative.

Carolina Power and Light.

I would like your opinion of Carolina Power and Light first and refunding 5s, due 1956.—L. W. W.

Carolina Power and Light company, a subsidiary of National Power and Light company, furnishes electricity to Raleigh, Asheville, and 234 other North Carolina and South Carolina communities, with estimated population of about 430,000. It also supplies transportation service to Raleigh and Asheville. About 96 per cent of gross revenues is from sale of electricity.

Margin by which fixed charges have been covered has shown a downward trend since 1927. Operating revenues for the twelve months to Aug. 31, 1932, were $9,093,000, and charges were earned 1.44 times. For the preceding twelve months gross was $9,618,000 and charges were earned 1.65 times. Gross revenues for 1931 were $9,919,000, against $9,703,000 for 1930, $10,295,000 for 1929, and $9,687,000 for 1928. Fixed charges were earned 1.55 times in 1931, 1.83 times in 1930, 2.07 times in 1929, 2.17 times in 1928, and 2.64 times in 1927.

On Dec. 31, 1931, current assets were $4,069,000, and current liabilities were $2,209,000.

COTTON MARKET ERRATIC; SMALL LOSSES AT CLOSE

Developments in the cotton market were not such as to inspire increased trading by interests on either side. At the high point prices were up 3@5 points, while the extreme range for the day was slightly less than 10 points. Although there was an advance early due to Liverpool being slightly higher, buying in the market was insufficient to sustain values and closing trades were only slightly above the day's inside prices.

Chicago's futures were 3 points net lower to 2 points higher, and other markets unchanged to 3 points lower. Spots were unchanged, New York being 6.25c; New Orleans, 6.20c; Galveston, 6.15c, and Houston, 6.10c.

Chairman John Barton Payne of the Red Cross organization says cotton given that organization by the government has met only about 20 per cent of the demand of the needy. Worth street reported a moderate business. Sentiment was moderately bullish on breaks. Prices follow:

LEGAL NOTICES.

RECEIVER'S SALE OF BOOK STORE and STATIONERY BUSINESS on January 28th, 1933.

The undersigned Receiver hereby offers for sale, as a going concern, all of the property and business, exclusive of cash, of the Indiana Corporation commonly known as the W. K. Stewart Company of Indianapolis, Indiana, in the Receiver's possession on January 28th, 1933, including a large stock of books, stationery, supplies, furniture, fixtures, Company and Receiver's bills and accounts receivable, contracts, good will, corporate name, 99-year leasehold and other assets. Said Company has been engaged in the book and stationery business in said City of Indianapolis for more than thirty years, and now has an established business which has been carried on by the undersigned Receiver at a profit since August 15th, 1932. Said property is offered for sale as of January 28th, 1933, free of all liens and claims except state and municipal taxes payable in 1933 and subsequent years to the highest cash bidder at not less than the appraised value thereof, as shown by inventory and appraisal on file both with the Court and the Receiver [which is open to inspection at any time during business hours] pursuant and subject to the provisions of the order made January 6th, 1933, by Superior Court Room 1 of Marion County, Indiana, in receivership Cause No. A-68481; and the successful bidder will be required to assume and pay for Receiver's orders, if any, for books and other property not delivered prior to January 28th, 1933, and not included in said inventory, in addition to the amount bid for said assets in the possession of the Receiver.

Sealed bids may be delivered to the undersigned Receiver at any time, but same must be accompanied by bidder's certified check or draft payable to the Receiver for an amount equal to 10% of the bid, which amount will be retained by the undersigned Receiver as liquidated damages, to cover expenses and loss resulting from bidder's failure to complete purchase if bid is accepted and bidder fails to pay balance of bid upon demand.

All bids will be opened in the court room of said court at eleven o'clock in the forenoon on Saturday, January 28th, 1933, for acceptance or rejection by said court.

Any information desired will be furnished upon request by the undersigned Receiver or by its attorney.

STUDEBAKER

For the greatest savings—for the biggest selection of cars—for the fairest term policy—for 5 days' driving trial.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN, '31 Dictator 8. Free wheeling. Wire wheels, side mounts, etc. Was owned by an official of this company and checked over every day by our head mechanic. $585.

REO ROADSTER, '30. Wire wheels, side mounts, rumble seat, etc. It certainly looks and runs like a brand new Reo. $295.

HUDSON SEDAN, '29. Side mounts. This Hudson really must be seen to be appreciated. It never left the Chicago blvds. A real Hudson bargain at $295.

HUPMOBILE SEDAN, 1931 custom Century 8 with wire wheels, side mounts, and many costly extras. This Hupp was driven very little and will give new car satisfaction today. $585.

CHRYSLER 77 SEDAN, 1930, with wire wheels, side mounts, etc. Finish glistens like a new dollar. Interior is immaculate. Spirited performance. $485.

FRANKLIN SEDAN, 1929 air-cooled de luxe model on the long wheelbase. Has wire wheels, side mounts, etc. In actual service only slightly more than a year. $485.

STUDEBAKER SIX SEDAN, 1931 Free wheeling model. Smart appearance. Dandy performance. Very fully equipped. $425.

NASH CONVERTIBLE COUPE, 1931 big 8 with rumble seat, wire wheels, side mounts, etc. Has low slung lines and a world of power and pep. $745.

CHEVROLET SPORT COUPE, 1931, with roomy rumble seat. We recommend this as the most outstanding Chev. value in Chicago. It really looks and runs like a brand new car. $285.

FORD COACH, 1931. It's the last word for beautiful appearance and sparkling performance. $225.

LINCOLN SEDAN, 1926. It was chauffeur driven and given the best of attention. Will give the satisfaction of a $500 car. Today, $185.
